

Spectrum (Scarborough College)

LE
3
T7917
S65
v.2

Spectrum

Volume 2, No.1/September 15, 1982

- 14/ APRIL 25, 1982 -

Breton scholar visits College

The ties between celtic countries — Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Cornwall and Brittany — in antiquity and the Middle Ages will be explored by Professor Léon Fleuriot of France in a series of lectures to be given at Scarborough College September 22 to 24. Professor Fleuriot's visit to the College is courtesy of a bequest by the F.B. Snider family.

Professor Fleuriot will speak in French on "Grande Bretagne et Bretagne jusqu'au douzième siècle" at 2 p.m. Wednesday, September 22 in the Council Chamber. On Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Campbell Lounge he will talk on "Brittany in the Middle Ages: Sailors, Monks and Minstrels".

As well, Professor Fleuriot will address two French classes to which anyone interested is invited to attend. He will talk on Celtic influences in French at noon Thursday, September 23 in H-402, and on France and Brittany at noon Friday, September 24 in H-402.

An eminent scholar of Breton history and language, Professor Fleuriot is on the faculty of the Université de Haute Bretagne at Rennes and the Ecole Pratique des Hautes Etudes in Paris. He was recently awarded the Prix Gobert and Prix Charles Petiet by the French Academy for his book "Les Origines de la Bretagne" (Paris, 1980). Two earlier works, his "Dictionnaire des gloses en Vieux Breton" and "Le Vieux Breton, Eléments d'une grammaire" (Paris, 1964), are considered to be landmarks in the study of the Breton language.

Council to consider essential issues

Several issues essential to the functioning of the College will be considered by College Council this year.

The first meeting this fall will be held on Monday, September 20. Other meeting dates for the first semester are October 19, November 17 and December 9. All meetings begin at 4 p.m. and are held in the Council Chamber (S403).

I would like to remind all faculty members and librarians at the College that they are voting members of Council. The membership of council also includes representatives of undergraduate and graduate students, teaching assistants, alumni and members of the administrative and support staff.

John Bassili,
Chairman, College Council

Plan now for Open House '82

Term has just begun but already planning is underway for a sensational, scintillating shindig which will sample from scientific and "social" studies to show Scarborough (et al.) our school.

Three areas of college life have been identified for advancing: aspects of teaching, research, and public service; facilities and services which support teaching and research; and student activities associated with teaching or research.

The dates of November 6 and 7 have been chosen so as to involve many students, not conflict with term tests, and not conflict with major civic events. On each of the dates the Open House will run from noon to 5 p.m.

While members of the College have organized Open House events in the past, this one is expected to involve more displays, performances, and participation from outside the Physical and Life Sciences. For the last three years an Open House on a "mini" scale has been part of the Orientation Brunch which was not held this year. The family of each first year student will receive an invitation to the Open House instead.

November is also a good time to make contact with prospective students who normally visit university campuses at about that time. High School

Spectrum fall schedule

This fall, Spectrum will be published every second Wednesday on the following dates: September 15, September 29, October 13, October 27, November 10, November 24 and December 8. Deadline for submission of editorial material is the Wednesday of the week before each issue.

Continued on page . . . 4

Williams appointed to PACIS committee

Professor R. G. Williams, Chairman of the Division of Life Sciences, has been named a member of the Presidential Advisory Committee on Institutional Strategy (PACIS) which was established by U of T President James Ham in July.

The purpose of PACIS, as outlined in a statement issued by the President, is "to serve as a committee of reference for recommendations for strategic directions brought to it by the provost. The committee will be asked to advise on issues that such recommendations should address and advise on the substance of recommendations . . . When the structure of the proposed budget for 1983-84 has been established, PACIS will be asked to advise on the coherence of the budget with the recommendations for strategic direction that have been put before it.

"The combination of close strategic consultations with the divisions, the review of recommendations for strategic direction with PACIS and the presentation of confirmed presidential recommendations to the Governing Council, which is widely representative of all estates of the University, will I trust provide a sound procedure for validating the strategic change that must take place if the University of Toronto is to sustain and to strengthen its integrity as Ontario's and Canada's leading institution of higher learning in these difficult times."

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:
Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Deadlines near for research grants

Killam Awards

The Killam Awards, administered by the Canada Council and made possible through a bequest of the late Mrs. Dorothy J. Killam, are intended to support scholars of exceptional ability engaged in research projects of broad significance and widespread interest. Two categories are offered: the Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Prize, and research fellowships.

October 15 is the deadline for applications for the research fellowships and nominations for the memorial prize. For further information contact the Killam Program, Canada Council, P.O. Box 1047, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5V8, or telephone toll free 1(800) 267-8282.

Steacie Prize

The Steacie Prize in the Natural Sciences is awarded annually to a person under 40 years of age for outstanding scientific work in a Canadian context.

Named in memory of E.W.R. Steacie, former president of the National Research Council of Canada, the prize this year consists of a cash award of $5000.

Nominations should be sent by October 4 to The Secretary, E.W.R. Steacie Memorial Fund c/o National Research Council of Canada, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0R6.

Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan

Under the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan, up to five visiting fellowships are to be awarded by Canada for the 1983-84 academic year. As well, up to three research fellowships are to be awarded for the 1984-85 academic year.

Nominations for both types of fellowship must be submitted no later than October 31, 1982, to the Canadian Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Committee, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5N1. Nomination forms are available in the Principal's Office.

SSHRC Grants

October 1 is the deadline for applications for a number of fellowships and grants offered by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council. These include:

— The Jules and Gabrielle Leger Fellowship, awarded annually for research and writing on the history, role and functions of the Crown and Governor General in a parliamentary democracy; $20,000 plus $5,000 for research and travel costs.

— Leave Fellowships, for university scholars who will be engaged in some form of creative research while on leave of absence; up to $10,000 plus research and travel allowances.

Information about these and other programs offered by the SSHRC is available from the Principal's Office or the Office of Research Administration. Liaison officer for the SSHRC fellowships programs at U of T is Dr. E. A. McCulloch.

NSERC Grants

The U of T Botany Department has set a departmental deadline of September 30 for completion of NSERC grant request forms. Any Scarborough College faculty members to whom this deadline might apply should contact Doreen Jones at 978-6516 for more information.

Atkinson grant aids cancer research

Professor R.A. McClelland, Chemistry, has received a $16,000 grant from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation to enable him to continue his research into the use of chemicals in the radiation treatment of cancer.

Working in collaboration with the Princess Margaret Hospital, Professor McClelland is concentrating his studies on certain radiosensitizer drugs. These drugs can be used to replace the oxygen in the hypoxic (oxygen-depleted) cells of a tumor, greatly increasing the effectiveness of radiation treatment. The overall goal of Professor McClelland's research is to understand how these radiosensitizers function, and to identify and overcome their side reactions.

Faculty activities

Professor Russell Brown, English, is co-editor, with Donna Bennett, of An Anthology of Canadian Literature, Volume I, which has just been released by the Oxford University Press. Volume I consists of works by authors born before 1915, and includes biographical material on each author, as well as selections of their writings. Only those authors whose works are considered of particular significance and/or quality are included. Professor Brown and his wife are presently working on Volume II, to cover Canadian authors born since 1915.

Professor John Alan Lee, Sociology, was the guest speaker at this year's annual conference of the Ontario Hospital Association on nursing training, at Don Mills on June 21. He spoke on the changing concerns and attitudes of post-secondary students. Professor Lee was also a luncheon speaker at the congress of the American Psychiatric Association which was held this year in Toronto in May. His topic was the relationship of moral change to medical practice.

Dr. Grace Charran from the University of the West Indies spent part of the summer in Professor G.F. Israelstam's laboratory working on a joint project on the effect of various plant hormones on membrane integrity.

Six receive tenure

Congratulations to the following faculty members who were named associate professors with tenure as of July 1, 1982:

Division of Humanities

D.J. McAuliffe (Italian)

Division of Social Sciences

A.G. Price (Geography)

M. F. Hammond (Sociology)

Division of Life Sciences

R. Boonstra (Zoology)

D.D. Williams (Zoology)

Division of Physical Sciences

M. J. Evans (Mathematics)

Information co-op plans workshops

Scarborough College has become an affiliate of the Cooperative on Information Technology, a joint venture formed earlier this year by the Universities of Toronto and Waterloo. Purpose of the Cooperative is to serve as a catalyst and a supportive mechanism for research and study in information technology and its relationship to society.

Representing Scarborough College on the Cooperative is Professor Alberto Mendelzon of Computer Science.

Professor Mendelzon joined the faculty at Scarborough College last fall following a year with the U of T's Department of Computer Science. He is a member of the computer systems research group and teaches a graduate course on the downtown campus, as well as three half courses at Scarborough. A former Fulbright Scholar, he did his graduate work in computer science at Princeton University, receiving his Ph.D. in computer science in 1979.

In outlining the aims of the Cooperative on Information Technology, Professor Mendelzon emphasizes its broad scope and in particular its concern for the social implications of new information technology. He invites faculty members from any discipline who are using computer technology in research or teaching, or are curious about it, to contact him.

David Harford

Prof. A.O. Mendelzon

The Cooperative is presenting six full-day workshops this fall on Research Challenges in Information Technology. The first three will be held at the University of Waterloo on Monday, October 4. Session topics are New Opportunities for Computer-assisted Learning, Technology and the Culture Industry, and Social and Intellectual Implications of Communications in the Home. The next three workshops, to be held on Tuesday, October 5 at the University of Toronto, are Artificial Intelligence, Computers and the Humanities, and Social Implications of Office Technology.

Anyone interested in attending these workshops is asked to get in touch with Professor Mendelzon, Room R4223, telephone 3194.

Retiring physicist given award

A new honour was added to the already impressive list of achievements of Herbert C. Corben, who retired last spring as professor of Physics.

On Convocation Day, June 9, Professor Corben received the Scarborough College Teaching Award. The award, based on recommendations by students and faculty alike, was established by the College, the Alumni and the Students' Council to recognize excellence in teaching.

Professor Corben's academic career spans more than 40 years and includes association with no less than 14 universities. A world-renowned physicist, he came to Scarborough College in 1972 as Chairman of the Physical Sciences Division and professor of Physics. His wife, Beverly, who joined the College staff in 1973 as Director of the Writing Laboratory, has also given a helping hand to many students in pursuit of a university degree. The Corbens, who had been living in Pickering, returned to California this past summer.

Chinese art comes to The Gallery

Boyle Huang, artist, author and consultant on Chinese art, has devoted much of his energy and talent over the past quarter century to preserving the great cultural traditions of China in architecture, painting and the art of seal engraving.

Some 50 of his works, including watercolours, seal engravings and calligraphy, will be on display in the Art Gallery at Scarborough College from September 27 to October 15. Many of his works faithfully follow the style of the Sung Dynasty (approx. 960 to 1279), the Tang Dynasty (618 to 907), and even earlier periods dating as far back as hundreds of years B.C.

Mr. Huang, who now lives in Toronto, has also received wide recognition as a professor of architecture in Taiwan. He was chairman of the Chung Yuan University's Department of Architecture for more than 10 years. One of his most outstanding achievements was the design of Taipei's National Palace Museum, which houses an extensive collection of Chinese art.

Open house . . . from page 1

Liaison Officer Sue Martin will be seeking to ensure that high school students are well aware of our event.

The Open House will be a success if we generate attendance. Someone observed that if every member of the College committed herself or himself to influencing one person to attend there would be more than 5000 visitors. Already the Alumni have agreed to advertise the Open House at their phone-a-thon from Nov. 1-4.

As well, enthusiasm for the Open House is notably high among faculty and students. Their mood is similar to that during the Library campaign and look what we accomplished then!

Charlotte Caton

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO SEPT. 24, The Gallery. Summer Student Show.

FRI. SEPT. 17, 3.30 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club beginning-of-term get-together for new and returning members. Refreshments will be served.

MON. SEPT. 20, 4.10 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council Meeting.

WED. SEPT. 22, 2 p.m., Council Chamber. Professor Léon Fleuriot, Snider visiting professor, will speak in French on "Grande Bretagne et Bretagne jusqu'au douzième siècle".

THURS. SEPT. 23, 4 p.m., Campbell Lounge. Professor Léon Fleuriot, Snider visiting professor, will speak on "Brittany in the Middle Ages: Sailors, Monks and Minstrels".

SEPT. 27 - OCT. 15, The Gallery. Exhibit by Boyle Huang (paintings).

SCARBOROUGH COLLEGE BRIDGE CLUB

Duplicate bridge is played the last Thursday of the month in the Faculty Lounge at 7.15 p.m. ($1 per person, 25c for students; includes coffee and cookies). If you are an interested player, please give your name, telephone number and address to Gerry Israelstam, Room S.526, telephone 3213. If you have a partner, please provide partner's name, telephone number and address as well.

Reminders of the game will be sent out one week in advance and will include a list of players having no partners, to enable those of you without partners to "find one".

New routes to parking on the way

A number of changes have been implemented during the summer in an attempt to improve the efficiency of the College parking operation. The major changes involve a revised traffic flow pattern and provision of short-term parking.

A number of complaints had been received from local residents and the Borough about traffic delays on Military Trail caused by line-ups of cars waiting to enter the College grounds. Our response, approved by the College Council, is to alter the direction of the traffic flow.

All vehicles will enter only by the main gate and proceed past the front of the Recreation Centre to the car park entrance. An attendant's booth will be installed in such a way as to facilitate checking of permits on two lines of incoming cars, to issue tickets for short-term parking and to monitor lot R, which is planned for short term use, as described below.

It is proposed that the 56 spaces in parking lot R be used only for short term parking from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday. Time-stamped tickets will be issued to drivers upon entry and payment will be made upon departure. Rates are .40c for each half hour. After 4 p.m., the standard flat rate charge of $1 will apply. The purpose of this proposal, awaiting Council's formal approval, is to accommodate those using the Library, the Recreation Centre and the bank for limited periods.

In addition to the foregoing, a portion of lot E, north of Ellesmere Road is being paved.

*J.F. Brook,
Director of Administration*

Spectrum

Volume 2, No. 2/September 29, 1982

Personal donations can benefit College

Recently many members of the College have received letters inviting them to make a donation to the University of Toronto. Now that the Library Building Campaign has ended, several have asked how best to insure that a donation benefits Scarborough College. You may wish to designate the money simply to Scarborough College, this money is held in a Principal's discretionary fund, or to designate the money to Scarborough College Library Acquisitions.

In anticipation of your continuing interest in helping the University of Toronto and Scarborough College through a private donation, I thank you.

J.E. Foley, Principal

College Council briefs

At its meeting on September 20, College Council

- received a report from the Registrar showing a decrease of 5.4% in the total number of students who had registered at the College by the first day of classes as compared with this time last year. These preliminary figures show a decrease of 20.5% in Year I full-time enrolment, partially offset by a 15.3% increase in the number of Year II full-time students.
- referred back to the Academic Affairs Committee proposals concerning the introduction of achievement tests for admission to the College, as the issue of who will bear the cost of the tests had not been resolved. A majority at the Council meeting was unwilling to consider the introduction of the tests until resolution of the cost issue.

Principal Joan E. Foley addressed the first College Council meeting of the term on September 20, bringing up a number of matters of general concern. A letter from the Principal covering these matters has been circulated to all faculty and staff. The following excerpts are of those which relate directly to the College and which have not already been reported in the University of Toronto Bulletin.

Reduction in the number of academic positions: "To date the College has suffered little direct adverse effect from this decision . . . I am very pleased to report that, despite the general freeze . . . our long-standing request for conversion of a CLTA position in (Philosophy) to the tenure stream was approved."

- approved a proposal that 56 spaces be reserved in total for short term parking between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday to Friday, at the rate of 40¢ per half hour. Short term parkers will receive a time-stamped ticket on entry into the College and will make payment on exit. After 4 p.m. a flat rate of $1 will apply.

Non-academic staff reductions:

"Scarborough College has been instructed to reduce its non-academic complement by five by the end of the calendar year. I am very conscious both of the hardship that this will entail for the individuals affected and of the potential impact on the operations of the College."

Prospects for 1983/84: "We are told to expect further complement reductions, probably affecting academic positions to a much greater extent than currently."

External advice about our internal organization: "I have authorized . . . Thorne, Stevenson & Kellogg, a firm of management consultants, to undertake a review which may lead to further, more detailed studies. The objective is to increase our understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of the way in which we now provide various services and to clarify the advantages and disadvantages of other options for organizing our work."

Three-Campus Planning for Arts & Sciences Programmes, a document prepared jointly by Scarborough and Erindale Colleges: "The paper identified nine significant issues requiring resolution, discussed them in order to show why they have so far been difficult to address, and proposed where responsibility for their resolution lies. The list included the future overall size of arts and science in the University, the balance of this activity among the

Principal . . . continued on page 4

Council, committee election dates

Friday, 1 October 1982 — call for nominations for election to Council and its committees.

Monday, 11 October 1982 — last day for filing of nominations

Wednesday & Thursday, 13 & 14 October — elections, if necessary, to Council of student representatives

Thursday, 14 October — elections, if necessary, to Council of graduate students and administrative and support staff representatives

Thursday, 21 October — last day for receipt by the Secretary of mail ballots for representatives to committees.

Elections to fill the following vacancies will be held during October:

Scarborough College Council

Full-time students:

Humanities — 6 vacancies

Sciences — 7 vacancies

Social Sciences — 3 vacancies

Part-time students: 6 vacancies from any division

Graduate Students, Teaching

Assistants, Part-time Demonstrators:

Humanities — 3 vacancies

Sciences — 3 vacancies

Social Sciences — 3 vacancies

Administrative & Support staff:
— 3 vacancies

Academic Affairs Committee

Faculty representatives:

Social Sciences — 1 vacancy

Life Sciences — 1 vacancy

Full-time students:

Life Sciences — 1 vacancy

Part-time students:

1 vacancy from any division
Graduate Students, Teaching Assistants,

Part-time Demonstrators:

1 vacancy from any division

General Policy Committee

Full-time students:

Life Sciences — 1 vacancy

Physical Sciences — 1 vacancy

Part-time students:

1 vacancy from any division

Graduate students, Teaching Assistants,

Part-time Demonstrators:

1 vacancy from any division

Nomination forms are available from the Registrar's Office, Student Services and Student Council Office. For further information, please contact Mrs. Linda Pearson, Assistant Secretary of Council, room S-415, 284-3300.

Faculty Club chooses new executive

Members of the Faculty Club took time out from the major business of their first Friday afternoon social occasion to elect a new executive.

New president for the year is Charles Dyer. John Mayo becomes past president, Doreen Marks is treasurer, Eric Moore Social convenor and Michele Wiederkehr coffee convenor.

Representatives on the executive are Pat Vicari, Humanities; Andrew Stawinoga, Social Sciences; Helen Rosenthal: Physical Sciences; Cathy Pickett, Life Sciences; Helen Pressey, administration and other.

In his financial report, Charles Dyer mentioned that the $10 increase in membership fees this year should be sufficient to take care of the operating cost of the club. Last year's net operating loss of approximately $1500 had to be covered by a surplus from preceding years.

Any members of the faculty or staff who have not already done so are urged to join the Faculty Club now. Plan B membership at a cost of only $20.16 for a full year may be the only bargain left on campus. Cutoff date for membership is October 31.

Manzer serves on Governing Council

Professor Ronald A. Manzer of the Social Sciences Division is a member of the 1982/83 Governing Council of the University of Toronto.

Other members of the Scarborough College community who are serving on committees of Governing Council are as follows:

Academic Affairs Committee

Co-opted member

Professor W.J. Kirkness

Subcommittee on Admissions & Awards

Professor Horst Witmann

Subcommittee on Curriculum & Standards

Professor W.J. Kirkness (Chairman)

Mr. George Pereira (part-time undergraduate student)

Business Affairs Committee

Professor Ronald A. Manzer

Committee on Campus and Community Affairs

Co-opted member

Professor John Corbett

Committee for Honorary Degrees

Principal Joan Foley

Planning & Resources Committee

Professor Ronald A. Manzer

Planning Subcommittee

Professor Ronald A. Manzer

Ensemble to open new music season

A musical treat is in store for members of Scarborough College.

The Westminster Chamber Ensemble is coming to the campus on Thursday, October 7. The ensemble's performance at 12 noon in H-305 will begin the season's series of musical events sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Combining the distinctive qualities of piano, flute and cello, the Westminster Chamber Ensemble performs music from the baroque, romantic, classical and modern periods. Members of the trio are pianist Robert Linzon, flutist Douglas Nadler, and cellist Paul Widner.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Scarborough alumni cheer for their team

Saturday was a winning day for Scarborough College alumni celebrating the Fall Homecoming Weekend.

Not only did the U of T Varsity Blues triumph over the University of Windsor Lancers, but alumni who were at the football game had seven Varsity Blues team members from Scarborough College to cheer for, including Joel Trickey, one of the Blues' newly-elected captains.

Trickey, a six-foot three, 235 pound giant from Ottawa in his third year of studies at the College, is defensive tackle No. 75 on the Blues line.

This is the first time that a U of T student from the Scarborough campus has been elected a Varsity Blues captain.

Other Scarborough College students contributing to the strength of this year's team include Adam Crawford, offensive tackle who made the starting lineup, line backer Will Harris, defensive lineman Grant O'Donnell, and three newcomers who just gained their CIAU eligibility this year: Ron Dominico, Duncan Garrow and Rob Harris.

Howell named SGS associate dean

Professor Nancy Howell, a member of the Social Sciences Division at Scarborough College since 1972, has been appointed associate dean, Division II, of the School of Graduate Studies. Her three-year term became effective July 1, 1982.

Prof. Howell's main research and teaching interests are in demographics — the statistics of births, deaths, marriages, and other population processes in a society. Much of her work has focused on a group of hunter-gatherers inhabiting the northwestern fringes of the Kalahari Desert, along the Botswana-Namibia border. Because this group — known as the !Kung (the exclamation mark signifies a click sound) — live much as our ancestors did 10,000 years ago, Prof. Howell's demographic data offers insights into human evolution. Her experimental method is micro-simulation — the use of a computer to project the demographics of a population over time.

A fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Prof. Howell received her BA from Brandeis in 1963, her PhD from Harvard in 1968, and a post-doctoral certificate from Princeton in 1970. After teaching at Harvard, Wellesley, and Princeton, she came to Scarborough College as an associate professor in 1972. She was made a full professor in 1979, served as acting chairman of the sociology department on the St. George Campus, (1979-80), and, with 10 others, received a Connaught research development grant in structural analysis (1979-82).

College administrator sings tenor with choir

The opening of Toronto's glittering new Roy Thompson Hall has meant a hectic schedule for Scarborough College's Jack Brook.

Many evenings in September, after coping with the daily responsibilities of his position as Director of Administration at the College, Jack has changed to his role of tenor with the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir and become a part of the very busy rehearsal and performance schedule for the Hall's opening weeks.

Culmination of the weeks of preparation was the choir's major part in the gala opening night Monday, September 13, which was televised across Canada. A "hard hat" performance was given the day before for everyone who had worked on the building, and the same concert was repeated later that week.

Jack Brook has been singing with the choir for 17 years, was its president for three, and is still on its executive committee and board of directors.

REWARD

Two large framed prints by artist David Blackwood are missing from the corridor of the 4th floor S wing near the Principal's office. Their titles are: "Cape Islanders waiting for the Lost People's Return" and "Captain Edward Bishop with Officers on the Bridge of the S.S. Eagle". A reward is offered for information leading to their recovery. Please contact Doreen Marks, Room S-407A, telephone 3243.

With dignity and concentration appropriate for the occasion, the team representing Scarborough College performs the intricate skiing maneuvers which helped it to capture 16th place (out of 27) in the Scarborough Business Association Pentathlon September 13. Team members are (front to rear) John Youson, Pat Sargent, Michael Bunce and Ann Froebel, Captain.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO OCT. 15, The Gallery. Exhibit by Boyle Huang (paintings).

SEPT. 30 – OCT. 2, 8 p.m., TV Studio 1. Drama production: "No Exit" (Sartre).

THURS. SEPT. 30, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. General Policy Committee Meeting.

THURS. SEPT. 30, 4 p.m., Room S-128. Career Information Session: Education; Prof. Gerald Whyte, Faculty of Education, U of T.

MON. OCT. 4, 12 noon, Room S-403. Career Information Session; Social Work; Ms. Cathy Davin, Faculty of Social Work, U of T.

TUES. OCT. 5, 9 a.m., Council Chamber. Academic Affairs Committee Meeting.

TUES. OCT. 5, 4 p.m. Room S-403. Career Information Session: Business Administration (M.B.A.); Ms. Donna Crossan, Faculty of Management Studies, U of T.

THURS. OCT. 7, 12–2 p.m., Room H-305. Concert by the Westminster Ensemble (trio).

THURS. OCT. 7, 12 noon Room S-403. Career Information Session: Physical and Occupational Therapy; Professor R. Bradshaw, Director of Physical Therapy, Professor T. Cardwell, Director of Occupational Therapy, U. of T.

Principal . . . . from page 1

three campuses, the balance of activity among disciplines, the distinctiveness or otherwise of programming on the different campuses, the priorities of each campus and their compatibility, University policy regarding CLTA and tenure-stream appointments, and inter-campus mobility of academic staff."

Collaboration with Ryerson Polytechnic Institute: "It is not at all clear what, if any, opportunities exist for programs developing between the two institutions."

These three men will have much more than the latest issue of Spectrum to consider as they chair the College's most important committees. College Council Chairman John Bassili, seated center, is flanked by Professor Georges Trembley, new Chairman of the General Policy Committee, and Professor John A. Lee, new Chairman of Academic Affairs.

Whither Scarborough College?

Scarborough College began its existence mainly as an overflow for the flood of students to universities in the Sixties. But after two decades we have developed important loyalties, an academic community, and intellectual purposes. This college has a significant role to play in the University, the province, and our various disciplines.

Times change, and raison d'être change with them. What are our goals, beyond merely doing what we have been, and getting paid for it? Where do we want to go, as an academic community, during the next decade? How do we propose to find, or hold on to, the resources to fulfill our goals?

Whatever the future of this college, we must assure that planning involves input from many of us, not merely from those responsible for finances or efficient use of plant.

At its first meeting this term, Academic Affairs Committee held a discussion about planning the academic future of the College. There was a general consensus of concern, but differences of opinion about approach. Should there be a commission, or task force, or "study" of our alternative futures? Should it be organized by Academic Affairs alone, or in concert with General Policy?

Most important: what should be the terms of reference for such a study? Some concerns are obviously germane: teaching programs to attract various student constituencies, such as older people; choices between instrumental education and knowledge for its own sake. Other issues are more touchy. Should teaching loads be considered, or the "two classes" of instructors (tenured and contract-limited)?

Your first contribution to this discussion is needed now. What is your opinion about the form which such an inquiry should take? What topics should be included in the terms of reference? Please send your thoughts now to Prof. John Alan Lee, Chairman of Academic Affairs Committee, who has been charged with preparation of a specific proposal for a forthcoming meeting. Make sure our concerns for the academic future of the College include YOUR concerns!

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 3/October 13, 1982

Work in progress on air system

Every effort is being made to have the R-wing air system returned to satisfactory standards.

Since construction of the Vincent W. Bladen Library was completed, 28 dampers have been added to the system, and the balancing of the air system in the library area by mechanical contractors was scheduled for completion last Friday. As the library building project and the necessary revisions to the R-wing were directed by the Physical Plant Department on the St. George Campus, Scarborough's Physical Services Manager Robin Bryan is working with U of T Physical Plant Director R.I. Crouse to see that the situation is corrected promptly. Both President James Ham and Vice President A. C. Pathy are aware of the problem.

In the interim period, fans have been installed in the lecture rooms most affected, and classes have been rescheduled into other areas of the College such as the Council Chamber and Campbell Lounge.

Parking lot changes effective Oct. 22

Effective 3 p.m. Friday October 22, all traffic using the inner parking lots on campus will enter by way of the main college entrance and through the new control gate by the Gymnasium. Departures from the lots adjacent to Military Trail may be either through the new entrance gate or via "B" Lot. As in the past, exit from "B" Lot is only permitted via the Ring Road.

This will provide for both left turn and right turn exit lanes to Military Trail from the Ring Road. It will also allow any lineups that may occur to take place on College property.

Short term pay parking will be available between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the 56 spaces in "R" Lot next to the Gymnasium. The charge of 40c per half hour will be controlled by the attendant in the adjacent kiosk. Those using the pay parking will receive a time/dated stub on entry which must be submitted with payment on departure. Bank users may use the lot for one half hour free by having their parking stubs stamped by the Bank.

Honourary degree nominations sought

Members of Scarborough College who are serving on the advisory committee on honorary degree nominations are Principal Joan E. Foley, Ms. Charlotte Caton, and Professors L.E. Doucette, Harvey Babiak and P.P. Kronberg.

Anyone wishing to put forward names of possible nominees for an honorary degree should submit the necessary information to the Principal's Office before November 2. Documentation should include biographical material such as would be found in Who's Who or a similar biographical compendium, along with a full statement of reasons for nomination. For further information, please telephone Charlotte Caton, 3232.

Open House '82 Exhibits planned, books needed

More than 40 displays and exhibits are being planned for Open House '82 November 6 and 7, making this the largest open house ever undertaken on the Scarborough campus.

Special tours will be available in several languages other than English, including French, Greek, Italian and Chinese. Two slide shows will be on view: one an introduction to the College for high school students, and the other a look at some of the research projects taking place at Scarborough.

The Open House will also feature a sale of library and other books donated by faculty, staff, and students. Here's your opportunity to clear out your shelves of any books which may no longer be of use to you but may be just what someone else is looking for! All types of used books will be welcome: technical, fiction, texts or what have you. Please bring your donations to Room S-407.

All proceeds from the sale will go to the Library acquisition fund.

Names needed for Watts, Snider guests

Any member of the faculty who would like to propose names of persons who could be considered as Snider or Watts guest lecturers is asked to contact Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky, Room S-406, telephone 3124.

O'Toole named editor of sociological journal

Professor Roger O'Toole of the Division of Social Sciences has been appointed editor-in-chief of Sociological Analysis for a three year term.

Subtitled A Journal in the Sociology of Religion, Sociological Analysis is the only journal published in English which is devoted exclusively to the publication of research in the sociology of religion. Now in its forty-third year, the quarterly journal is a publication of the Association for the Sociology of Religion.

The editorial offices of Sociological Analysis will be housed at the U of T's Center for Religious Studies during Professor O'Toole's term as editor.

Humanities Division

Warden promoted to professor

John Warden is a classical scholar of recognized merit, and a force for wisdom and enlightenment. He is both scholar and poet, one in whom both dynamisms work in tension that is also harmony. This is what gives his mind its force and originality.

The disciplined, analytical skills of the scholar are raised to a higher power by the awareness of the poet, by his ability to move from one conceptual world to another, and by his mastery of language.

His witty and felicitous translation of Propertius, one of the less accessible Roman poets, enables us all to apprehend the poet's world. His recent book on Propertius, Fallax Opus, is a distinguished world of classical scholarship and literary criticism.

John Warden has an exceptionally versatile mind, disciplined by integrity, so that his judgments are never shallow, and his vision never loses its coherence.

He has made an outstanding contribution to interdisciplinary studies. Most striking is his work, with colleagues, on Orpheus: Metamorphoses of a Myth.

John Warden's classes are never humdrum. He has an unusual ability to impart ideas and inspiration, without descending to the commonplace or to trite simplification.

He has done the College notable administrative services, most recently as Dean. Those who know and value John Warden, and they are many, will rejoice at his promotion.

Ann Boddington

Grants aid groundwater research

An $81,000 equipment combined with a Connaught research award of close to $20,000 will enable Professor Ken Howard of Geology to carry out groundwater research to the north and east of Metropolitan Toronto.

The equipment grant, which comes from the Ontario government's new BILD (Board of Industrial Leadership and Development) program and must be spent by the end of next March, is being used to buy borehole logging apparatus originally designed for oil exploration. The equipment includes probes capable of going to a depth of 1000 meters. These probes can measure both the electrical and radioactive properties of rocks, as well as the salinity and temperature of the groundwater. The equipment can also take water samples to a depth of 1000 meters.

Professor Howard's work could indirectly benefit the future use of groundwater resources both in the local area and in other areas with similar geological and hydrogeological characteristics. The studies are particularly pertinent to the location of sites suitable for waste disposal and to the problems of erosion along the Scarborough Bluffs shoreline.

Professor Howard, who has been a faculty member at Scarborough since last October, has also taken on major responsibilities in connection with the College's new Terrain and Environmental Earth Sciences Program (TEES). The TEES program combines the disciplines of geology, physical geography, geotechnical engineering, and the basic sciences, and draws upon courses offered on the St. George Campus as well as those at Scarborough.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Health and safety committee named

Members of the College's Health and Safety Committee are Professor G.F. Israelstam, Division of Life Sciences, Chairman; Professor R.C. Beals, Social Sciences/Humanities; Mrs. J. Benson, Health Services; Mr. R.G.I. Bryan, Mr. G. Czerniak and Mr. H. Haratsidis, Physical Services; Mr. H. Gladney, Physical Plant Department, Chief Fire Marshall; Mrs. K. Henderson, Physical Sciences; Mr. T. Howard, Personnel Department, Chief Safety Officer; Ms. P. Laycock, Humanities; Professor J. Silver and Mrs. C. Ghyczy, Life Sciences; Mrs. B. Hill, Physical Services, Secretary.

Promotions to professor in Physical Sciences

Wayne Enright holds a B.Sc. in Mathematics from the University of British Columbia, an M.Sc. (also in Mathematics) from Toronto, and obtained his Ph.D. in Computer Science from this University in 1972. He was immediately hired for Scarborough College by Pat O'Donnell who was Acting Chairman of the Physical Sciences Group here at that time.

His field of research is numerical analysis, the use of numerical methods to achieve the solution of ordinary differential equations. He has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Association for Computing Machinery's special interest group on numerical mathematics, as well as an editor of the Journal of Numerical Analysis, for some years. Professor

Enright was a Visiting Professor in the Department of Aerospace Engineering at the University of Texas, and also a Visiting Scientist in the Applied Mathematics Group at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory while on leave in 1978-79.

He has been active in implementing the College's programs in Computer Science during the last few years, but this has not deterred him from making vigorous use of the College squash courts.

INVIGILATORS URGENTLY NEEDED

for

mid-term examinations

Contact Mrs. J. Norman, Physical Sciences Division, Room S635C

Eric Mendelsohn, although born in Toronto, received both his B.Sc. and M.Sc. from the University of Manitoba, and obtained his Ph.D. at McGill in 1968. He spent the two succeeding years in Montreal, arriving at the College in 1970.

His field of research is combinatorics, in which he has written extensively. He has also been a Consulting Mathematician with Thomas Wharton Associates for some years, and has presented a course on Data Security and Cryptanalysis in the School of Continuing Studies for the past two years. He is one of the few Mathematicians in the Division who has his own computer.

In addition to pursuing Mathematics both within and outside of the University, Professor Mendelsohn has been active in the affairs of the Jewish Community in Toronto.

Krashinsky speaks to university women's club

Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky will be the guest speaker at the October 18 meeting of the University Women's Club of Scarborough.

The club holds monthly meetings during the fall and winter, usually on a Monday, at 8.15 p.m. in the Bendale Library. For further information about its programs and activities, contact Sonya Carter at 499-1836.

John Friedlander did his undergraduate work at this University, but obtained his M.Sc. from Waterloo, and his Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State in 1972. He then spent two years at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, a year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a year in Italy at the Scuola Normale Superiore, Pisa, before returning to Toronto and arriving at the College on a temporary appointment. He received a permanent appointment in 1980.

His area of specialization is number theory, in which he is well known. Among his collaborators on research papers have been Steven Halperin and John Wilker; the paper by Friedlander and Wilker (Math. Mag. 53, 282, 1980) deals with conservation for the calculus student and leads one to wonder if students in Professor Friedlander's MATA55Y course have since been subjected to it.

It appears that Professor Friedlander is not as dedicated to fitness as some other members of the Physical Sciences Division; in fact, he is known to have once driven his car on a journey some 300 metres in length.

*Robert Roeder,
Chairman, Physical Sciences*

Two gain OISE degrees

Congratulations to Anne Frost, Director of the Teaching/Learning Unit, and Rita Goldenberg, Tutor in Psychology, both of whom received M.Ed. degrees in Adult Education from O.I.S.E. at the June Convocation.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO OCT. 15, The Gallery. Exhibit by Boyle Huang (paintings).

FRI. OCT. 15, 3.30 p.m. Faculty Club October party. All members and potential members welcome.

MON. OCT. 18, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Professor J. Weiser, Chairperson, Department of Applied Psychology, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education will speak on Counselling & Applied Psychology.

MON. OCT. 18, 7-9 p.m., R-3228. Poetry Reading by Pat Lane.

MON. OCT. 18-NOV. 5, The Gallery. Exhibit by Tonie Leshyk (mixed media).

TUES. OCT. 19, 9 a.m., Council Chamber. Academic Affairs Committee meeting.

TUES. OCT. 19, 4.10 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council meeting.

MON. OCT. 25, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Professor R. Volpe, University of Toronto will speak on Institute of Child Study.

WED. OCT. 27, 4 p.m., S-403. Career Information Seminar: Ms. M. Huxter, Assistant Dean, Faculty of Law, University of Toronto will speak on Law.

WED.-SAT. OCT. 27-30, TV Studio 1. Drama productions: "Riders to the Sea"; "Therese's Creed"; Head, Guts & Soundbone Dance".

THURS. OCT. 28, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Mr. J.K. Morrison, Registrar, Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College will speak on Chiropractic.

OHIP reps on campus

Representatives from OHIP will be in the Meeting Place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, October 20 and Thursday, October 21. If you have any questions pertaining to the Ontario Health Insurance Plan please consult them.

Felt, string, chain and lead are the materials used by artist Tonie Leshyk to form the sculpture "Heart Felt House", one of five on exhibit in The Gallery from October 18 to November 5. The show opening will be held Monday, Oct. 18 at 8 p.m.

Rouge Valley Ride-a-thon

The fourth annual Rouge Valley Ride-a-thon is being held at the Equerry Stables, 67 Finch Ave. at the Pickering Town Line, on Saturday October 16, with horses leaving at 10 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The event is in aid of the conservation work of "Save the Rouge Valley System", a volunteer citizens' group dedicated to the preservation and enhancement of the Rouge Valley. Sponsor sheets are available at the stables, at Meadowvale Public School, or by phoning 284-6409. Sponsors pledge for the 12 kilometer ride in the Valley for either a horse or a rider.

Don't delay . . .

Join the

SCARBOROUGH COLLEGE FACULTY CLUB

ONLY $20.16 for a full year's membership (Plan B) Also includes use of the Recreation Centre facilities. ACT NOW! Membership closes the end of October.

Sign now for first aid course

Are your first aid skills in need of refreshing? The Health and Safety Committee is sponsoring a third course scheduled to run later this year for eight consecutive workdays.

If you would like to register first discuss with your supervisor whether arrangements can be made for you to attend the course. Should this prove possible, complete the registration form and return it not later than October 22 to Barbara Hill, Health and Safety Committee, S-303A. Please note that holders of currently valid St. John Ambulance Certificates (obtained within the past 24 months) are not eligible for the present course.

There must be at least 20 registrants for the course to be offered. You will be notified as soon as the enrolment minimum is reached.

*G.F. Israelstam, Chairman
Health and Safety Committee*

Fire prevention methods demonstrated on campus

Fire Prevention Officer R.A. McConnell from the Fire Prevention and Hazardous Chemical Control Section, St. George Campus, will be at Scarborough College Tuesday, Oct. 26 (rain date Oct. 27) to demonstrate the correct handling procedures for Fire Extinguishers.

Mr. McConnell will be able to take 10 people per session. The Sessions begin at 10 a.m., 10.45 a.m., 1 p.m. and 1.45 p.m. and last approximately half an hour.

Each group will be met at the Reception Desk by Mr. McConnell for each session. Please call Mrs. Barbara Hill at 3269 to arrange times.

Vacancy on Press board

There is a vacancy on the Scarborough College Student Press (publishers of the Underground) Board of Directors, for either a faculty member or an alumni member. Applications should be in to the Underground office by October 20 and will be decided on by the Board at their first meeting. Nomination forms, copies of the Constitution, and any other information is available from The Underground office, Room H-213C.

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 4/October 27, 1982

Red carpet to welcome Open House '82 visitors

A ceremonial rolling out of the red carpet at noon Saturday, November 6 will signal the start of the College's sensational two-day Open House. On hand at the main entrance for the ceremony will be Principal Joan E. Foley, Students' Council President David Fulford, provincial and civic officials and representatives from the University of Toronto, St. George Campus.

Some 30 special displays and demonstrations are being prepared to show the wide variety of programs and research going on at the College.

Multilingual tours of the facilities, including the computing centre, astronomy dome, art studio, greenhouse, and more, will be another feature of the Open House. Students will guide visitors through the buildings in Greek, Chinese, Italian and French as well as in English.

Some of the highlights of the Open House include:

- A neurosciences demonstration which shows how the brain waves of small animals are recorded and used in research of brain functions.
- Regular presentations of the College's two slide shows, "This is Scarborough College" and the just produced "The Inquiring Mind".
- An hourly chemistry "magic" show illustrating some of the fascinating things that can be done with chemistry.
- Special demonstrations of Karate and Jazz instruction will be given both days at the Recreation Centre in addition to the gym's regular program.
- Print-making demonstrations in the Art Studio. The corridors of the R-wing building will also be lined with student paintings and prints.

College Council briefs

The following issues were considered at the October 19 meeting of Council:

- A change in the regulations regarding placement on academic probation was approved. The academic standing of students will now be assessed after at least two and one-half courses. A cumulative G.P.A. of 1.50 will continue to be the cut-off for avoiding probation.
- The first of two votes necessary to revise the by-laws to allow for the addition of a residences sub-committee received more than the required two-thirds majority support. The business of the residences sub-committee will be all matters of policy concerning the residences. It is not intended that the sub-committee take over matters such as house rules or quiet hours, which are presently the Student Village's concern. The second vote on the creation of this sub-committee will be taken at the next College Council meeting November 17.

- Council was informed of a motion passed by the General Policy Committee recognizing ventilation problems in the R-wing and urging Robin Bryan, Manager of Physical Services, to intensify his efforts to alleviate the situation. Mr. Bryan informed Council of the repairs being made to the ventilation system and of the October 20 visit to the campus of the university's industrial hygienist to conduct tests for CO<sub>2</sub> and air flow in the R-wing.

Convocation date set

Scarborough College's Fall Convocation will be held Thursday, November 25 at 8.15 p.m. in Convocation Hall. All faculty members are encouraged to attend and take part in the academic procession.

BOOKS NEEDED

A sale of library and other used books will be held during the Open House, with all proceeds going to the library acquisition fund. Donations of used books are needed to make this sale a success. Anyone wishing to contribute books may bring them to Room S-407 any time up to Thursday, November 4.

Take advantage of this opportunity to clear out your book-cases of books no longer needed. All types of books, both paperback and hard cover, will be welcome.

For those still considering

The United Way campaign ends on November 15.

If you would like your donation to go to a particular organization in United Way, write this on your pledge card and your wish will be respected.

Payroll deductions of less than $12 a year will not be made by our payroll department but small cash donations are welcome (to Mr. Jack Cober, Purchasing Office).

Please make as large a donation as you can: we are anxious that Scarborough College should pull its proper weight in this community effort.

John Margeson

Council election results

The following were elected members of College Council and its committees during the October special elections:
COLLEGE COUNCIL

Full time students

Humanities: Eva Villanyi

Sciences: John I Alexiou
Paul Ramses
G. Vaday

Social: Mati Holland

Sciences: Richard J. Stacey

Administrative and Support Staff

Marie Gerrard

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Faculty representatives

Sciences: Professor B. Forrin Social

Sciences: Professor M. Latta

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Faculty collaboration leads to book

by Peter Mehren, Editor, The Villager (reprinted with permission)

The unusual and admirable academic atmosphere of Scarborough College has facilitated the production of a multi-disciplinary work, Orpheus: the Metamorphosis of a Myth. At the College, faculty offices are not arranged by department, but apparently at random. Thus, faculty members from all of the disciplines see each other as they walk the halls. This reduces the isolation which is the case when each academic department has its own little area.

So, John Warden, Professor of Classics, drew together works related to the theme noted in the book's title, by himself, six Scarborough College colleagues, and two other scholars.

In fact, the book grew, over several years, out of a course on this subject taught by Warden. He had asked several professors from several courses in the Humanities to lecture to his class on facets of the Orpheus myth which relate to their own areas of scholarship. This approach proved so successful that the resultant book seemed an obvious project.

Research news

Some of the agencies offering research grants for which application must be made in November or December are:
National Cancer Institute of Canada

A Research grant application for a career award should be submitted by November 15.

Canadian National Sportsmen's Fund

The fund awards grants in aid of outstanding research related to the understanding or management of the living natural resources of Canada. Application deadline is November 30.

The Lady Davis Fellowship Trust

Both fellowships and visiting professorships are available at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology in Haifa. Deadline date for submission is December 1.

For more information on these and other grants, contact the Office of Research Administration at 978-2163.

Contributing to the book, in addition to Warden, were English professor E. P. Vicari, Fine Art professor G. Scavizzi, Music professor T.J. McGee, Spanish professor Pedro León, Classics professor M.S. Irwin, all from Scarborough College; and Classics professor Emmett I. Robbins, from the University of Toronto's St. George Campus, and William Anderson, of the University of Texas.

(John Warden was also the first Editor of the Villager.)

The book has just been released by the University of Toronto Press.

Remembrance Day service planned

A brief Remembrance Day service will be held at the College on Thursday, November 11, in the Campbell Lounge (R-3103) beginning at 10.50 a.m. The Principal, Joan E. Foley, will say a few words, to be followed by two minutes of silence at 11 a.m. There will be a presentation of wreaths and two readings will be given.

Classes which begin at 10 a.m. will end at 10.45 to enable any members of the College community who wish to do so to attend. Classes which normally begin at 11.10 will be delayed until 11.20 a.m.

CSBs on sale now

The new series of Canada Savings Bonds is again being offered through payroll deduction. All bonds bought this way have compound interest, with the rate for the first year set at 12%. This year, the service charge for payroll deduction is 6.2%.

Application forms are available in the personnel office, but must be completed and returned no later than 9 a.m. on Friday, October 29 (in time for the morning courier service).

For further information contact Maggy Stepanian in the personnel office, Room S-411B, telephone 3138.

Chairman of Associates chosen

One of the Scarborough community's most highly regarded members has been named Chairman of the Associates of Scarborough College. He is A. Z. Pengelly, Director, Corporate Marketing and Community Services, Warner-Lambert Canada Inc.

The Associates was formed four years ago to help provide liaison between the community and the College. Mr. Pengelly, who has been an Associate since the group's formation and participated actively with other members in the College's Library Building Fund Campaign, sees the group as being able to contribute vital support and guidance at a time when the future role of universities is under scrutiny.

Mr. Pengelly has been actively involved over the past 16 years with a number of social service and educational groups within the Borough. While perhaps best known for his work directing canvassers and programs for the United Way, he has also devoted much time to the young people in Scarborough. He was involved with the Scouting movement for more than a decade, serving both as Cub Master and District Cub Master. As well, he was a founding board member and past president of the West Scarborough Boys' and Girls' Club. His efforts received special recognition just a week ago when he was presented with the Bronze Keystone Award by the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Canada for his long and devoted service to youth.

His other community activities include working with The Emily Stowe Shelter for Women, Inc. which will open an emergency shelter for assaulted women in the near future; acting as advisor to the Cedar Ridge Studio Gallery in its formative stages and working with senior citizens, high school and community college groups.

Mr. Pengelly's entire business career has been associated with the field of advertising. He is a past chairman of the board of directors of both the Association of Canadian Advertisers and the Canadian Advertising Advisory Board. His many contributions were formally recognized in 1975 when the Association of Canadian Advertisers presented him with the Gold Medal Award for unique services to the advertising industry.

English language test failure rate drops

There was a significant drop in the failure rate of students taking the English Language Proficiency test this fall.

Results show that 145 students or 13% out of a total of 1113 who took the test failed, compared with 21% last year. Figures from the U of T's Faculty of Arts and Science show a similar drop of eight percentage points from 1981 to 1982.

Adele Fisher, Director of the English Proficiency Program, lists the following reasons as the main factors in the drop: Grade 13 English is now required for entrance to Scarborough College; high schools are better preparing their students; the number of Visa students entering the College is down.

Join the SCARBOROUGH COLLEGE
FACULTY CLUB
Today!!

Only $20.16 for a full year's membership (Plan B)

Membership closes
Friday, Oct. 29

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO NOV. 5, The Gallery. Exhibit by Tonie Leshyk (mixed media).

WED.—SAT. OCT. 27—30, 8 p.m. TV Studio 1. Drama productions: Riders to the Sea; Therese's Creed; Head, Guts & Soundbone Dance.

THURS. OCT. 28, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Mr. J. K. Morrison, Registrar, Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College will speak on Chiropractic.

THURS. OCT. 28, 4 p.m., Room S-128. Biology Seminar: Homeotic Genes: Temperature, Nutrition and Development Mechanisms — Professor E.W. Rapport, Department of Zoology, University of Toronto.

TUES. NOV. 2, 9 a.m., Council Chamber (unless otherwise notified). Academic Affairs Committee meeting.

THURS. NOV. 4, 12 noon, H-305. Concert performance by Ed Bickert Jazz trio.

THURS. NOV. 4, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Ms. R. Muia, Admissions Officer, Faculty of Dentistry, University of Toronto, will speak on Dentistry.

SAT. & SUN. NOV. 6, 7, noon to 5 p.m. Scarborough College Open House '82.

MON. NOV. 8, 12 noon, S-403. Career Information Seminar: Ms. P. Staton, Registrar, Faculty of Library Science and Ms. C. Smith, Director of Placement, Faculty of Library Science, University of Toronto, will speak on Library Science.

TUES. NOV. 9, 7:30 p.m., Lecture Room, McLaughlin Planetarium, second annual Veronika Gervers Memorial Lecture, given by Mr. K.G. Ponting: "Felt and Felt-making in Western Europe."

TUES., WED. NOV. 9, 10, 10 a.m. — 4 p.m. Meeting Place. Red Cross Blood Clinic.

THURS. NOV. 11, 7 p.m., H-310. Poetry Reading by Sharon Nelson.

Reception honours Scarborough's top scholars

Scarborough College's top academic achievers were honoured at a reception and banquet given by Principal Joan E. Foley at the College on October 23.

Students who have been named to the 1981-82 honours list were presented with certificates. In order to achieve a place on the list, a student must have earned a grade point average of 3.70 or better in their most recent year of full-time study (or equivalent amount of part-time study). Winners of in-course scholarships and college prizes were also recognized.

Following the dinner, J. Dennis

Duffy, Principal of Innis College and Professor of English at Trinity College, spoke to the group. Professor Duffy received his Ph.D. from the University of Toronto in 1964 and has been a member of the faculty since that time.

HONOURS LIST 1981-82

First year students

Linda Susan Abrams
Harvey Blankenstein
Kin Wah Chan
Yuet Hing Chan
Richard Finkelstein
Douglas J. Friesen
Lynette Allison Garratt
Mark Larry Goldstein
Eden Jane Hallewick
Sherry Shamen Hosein
Sandra Lynn Isaac
Lynda Anne Joyce
Raymond Keith Kadziorski
Arnon M. Katz
Thomas Klein
Michael Lloyd Kreidstein
Patrick Yan Chee Lamp
Stephen Douglas Little
Irwin Meisels
Helen Ostro
Eva E. Rosenthal
Susan Belle Rosenthal
Sharon R. Rubin
Michael Vincent Sardine
Mira Naomi Sussman

Second year students

Salwa Azer
Judy Anne Baldwin
Brad Earl Bowins
Martin D. Brown
Yim Lin Chow
Vahe Robert Dayian
Arlene Michele Eisler
Sameh Farag
Valerie Lynn Fersht
Norman Frank Findlay
Barbara May Ginn
Eric Goldstein
James Robert Haebe
Maryellen W. Heath
Marlon Hershkop
Reid Bruce Hiscock
Mark Wilfred Hoult

Reide Lawrence Erlin Kaiser
Katherine Barbara Kiraly
Neil Vernon Leibovitz
Randy Jay Leifer
Edward Dat Hang Lin
Lawrence David Luftspring
Jeff Machat
Drue Hartley Mandel
Vivien Mann
Mary Philomena Marum
Mary-Kaye McEachen
Elaine Eva McKinnon
Glyn Reginald Morgan
Barbara Neil
Carol Patricia Nichols
Cynthia Lynne Phillips
Michael William Ricer
Barbara Ann Robinson
Sandra Anne Seigel
Patricia Pearl Tuddenham
Rita Lisa Turunen
Mary Alexandra Watt
Katherine Dale Williams
Nancy Lorene Williamson
Todd Eugene Zator

Third year students

Evelyn M. Baigrie
Neil E. Bloom
Theresa A. Bourke
Linda Grace Brankston
Kathleen Irene Davey

Edward Chris Easton
Kyriacos C. Elles
Anne Elizabeth Fullerton
Paulette Susan Gerber
Amanda Kay Green
Iris Rebecca Green
John Francis Harper
Lawrence Edward Harvey
Laura Jones
Paul Raymond Legzdins
Sharon Irene McGowan
Jack Duane Meeks
Oi Ling Christina Mintz
Howard Michael Plant
Paul Lindsay Posner
Wai Shan Rosaline Sinn
Christine Elizabeth Squires
Richard John Stacey
Joanne Tracy Tremayne-Pengelly
Sophie Tryphonas

Fourth year students

Steven Perry Azmier
Brian Kent Banks
Leo F. Benko
Avedis Hagop Avo Boudakian
Mary Elizabeth Bouskill
Thomas Richard Copeland
Barbara Janet Dilworth
Delphine Roberta Dolson
Jordan Alan Griesman
Timothy Hofmann
David Glenn Borden Ibsen
Michael P. Jansen
David Stanley Karram
Genevieve Mary Le Moine
Timothy Yeung Fai Lo
Ashok Kumar Mathur
Bonita Marlene Muir
Teresa Pagliaro
Wendi Gail Rockert
Brian Hisashi Toda
Julie Kathryn Towers
Margaret Rose Ujhegyi
Helene Westreich

CANADA'S ENERGY IS MINDPOWER

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 5/November 8, 1982

Lens wearers take care      Library attracting more users

All wearers of contact lenses should be aware of problems that may arise when handling volatile solvents. Continuous contact has been known to affect the eye. Persons handling chemicals should wear approved eye protection.

*G.F. Israelstam, Chairman
Health and Safety Committee*

A recently released report shows a dramatic increase in the use of library facilities at Scarborough College.

In a comparison of the first six full months of operation in the new Vincent W. Bladen Memorial Library (April to September, 1982) with the same period of the previous year in the old area, the number of people entering the library increased by 90 per cent, while the total circulation showed a 17 per cent increase.

Acting head librarian Pat Yamamoto attributes the large gate tally increase to the much better physical facilities of the new library. The R-wing library building has a total of 500 study carrels, providing an additional 350 study spaces compared with the previous library, as well as more extensive reading areas.

A 14 per cent increase in general circulation, combined with a 19 per cent drop in book deliveries, would indicate that users are now more able to find what they need here at Scarborough College, rather than having to look elsewhere.

The number of queries handled by the information desk in the first six months of operation was more than double the number the staff dealt with in the same period of 1981. The information services are much more available now with the central location of the desk and its proximity to the index files.

Tennis anyone?

Sundays, 12 noon to 2 p.m. tennis play period in the gymnasium has been reserved for the use of our faculty and staff. So far the turnout has been very high in quality, but seriously lacking in quantity.

To justify the continued gymnasium reservation a more reasonable attendance figure is essential. Thus, we hope that all those interested in playing tennis throughout the winter months will start coming out now.

Visitors to Scarborough College's Open House last Saturday and Sunday were able to see the university in action as they toured the wide range of exhibits and research displays, watched drama productions, slide shows, musical performances, and the especially exciting "chemistry magic" show. The chemistry lab, above with student Laiwah Lee, was one of the areas on view.

Tangled in red tape?

You've probably noticed that Scarborough College has a lot of rules. They are for the best of intentions — to deal with thousands of students as equitably as possible.

But sometimes well-intentioned rules lead to pointless red tape and Catch-22s.

Take the example of a student who arrived on the last day to enrol in a course. First she had to pay her fee. She offered the Fees desk $200 cash, but was told only certified cheques are accepted. (It's a rule with a reason but we won't go into that here). By the time she got back to her bank, twenty miles away, it would have closed for the day. Tomorrow would be too late to enrol in the course, unless she petitioned.

The number of student petitions increases each year. We live in a litigious age. Each petition costs the college over $30 for counselling and paperhandling alone, not including time of staff and faculty on the the petition committee.

Help us put a more human face on college rules, reduce red tape frustration and Catch 22s, and save dwindling college funds. Tell us your experience with what seemed a pointless college rule. Perhaps it could be changed.

Your story can be anonymous if you wish. Just send it to the Academic Affairs Committee, c/o Prof. J.A. Lee, Chairman. (There's a college postbox, free, just off the Meeting Place).

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Lives dominated by the sea

By Peter Mehren, Associate of Scarborough College

What an outstanding resource is the Scarborough College Drama Department! A University is more than a trade school that merely imparts techniques to its students: a university aims to enrich its people — students, staff, and faculty — by exposing them to a range of ideas and experiences.

And, drama being a means whereby an artist can transmit the emotions and intellectual aspects of his or her view of some facet of the world, of human behaviour, to strangers, the participants in the College's theatre group give us the chance to see well-produced, well-performed, thought-provoking gems.

Seascapes, three one-act plays selected by Director Leigha L. Browne and presented in TV Studio 1 on the evenings of October 27–30, did not send the scores of audience members home cheered up, although most left pleased and impressed with the high quality of the productions.

Each play dealt with fisherfolk, island people whose lives are set into one of two patterns from the moment of their births. The males will be dominated — and many terminated early — by the sea. Females will marry early, produce children, live in fear, bury their men and boys, and die widows. A simple mythology eases some of the pain caused by thinking and feeling, giving their lives artificial rules and reasons.

People at Scarborough College, from so many disparate backgrounds, have broken the patterns suggested in the plays. It's good to be reminded of how so many of the world's people must live, in apparently unbreakable cycles.

Seascapes used a simple set, modified for each play, which was highly evocative, helping to create the mood of each play and to show us some of the priorities and limitations of the characters. High commendations to designer John Wylie and his staff.

In addition to the words and movements of the performers, other resources stimulated the audience.

Folk music preceded each play. A representation of a peat fire glowed in the room for Synge's Riders to the Sea.

The excellent one-woman performance by Marie Pringle as Therese in Cook's Therese's Creed — a monologue nearly an hour long but never dragging — included the washing of several loads of laundry.

And in Cook's The Head, Guts and Soundbone Dance, the sounds of the sea and its birds played constantly, just at the level of perceptibility most of the time. A functioning trap door in the floor made the set into a house on a dock. And the stench of real fish guts and boiled fish affected the audiences.

In addition to Pringle's rich performance, John W. Browne was impressive as the old man so mad with pride as to believe that by ordering his life he could overpower the huge forces of the sea and life, in The Head, Guts and Soundbone Dance. Ted Atherton did well as the simple son to Browne's "Skipper Pete," evidently made crazy by his futile attempts to elicit love from a megalomaniac.

As the performers include many who do not seriously dream of becoming professional actors, there is a range of abilities among the casts; but all were well directed by Leigha L. Browne, and each helped transmit the thoughts of the playwrights to the audiences.

High tech weapons rarely miss

Most of the shots fired in bygone wars missed their targets, but not any more. Modern technology, science, and universities have facilitated the invention of incredible weapons — the electronic battlefield. We witnessed a trial run in the Falklands use of Exocet missiles: "fire and forget."

Bulls Eye Target is a CBC television production crammed with stunning demonstrations of the new electronic warfare. It will be shown (by videotape) in the Council Chamber at noon on Remembrance Day (November 11).

Life Sciences

Dion, Govind named full professor

Karen Dion took her B.A. at Wellesley and her Ph.D. at Minnesota. She was appointed to the Division of Life Sciences at Scarborough College in 1970. Her colleagues and friends were delighted by the news of her promotion to Professor earlier this year.

Professor Dion is a social psychologist who has written extensively on Romantic Love but not for Harlequin Romances, rather in less lucrative but more prestigious publications such as the Journal of Experimental Social Psychology or the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology.

Throughout the 70's she made major contributions to our understanding of attractiveness in heterosexual relationships. More recently, she has turned her attention to the psychological interactions involved not only in male/female relationships but also in minority group responses to prejudice and discrimination.

Being a social psychologist presumably does not necessarily imply being a sociable psychologist but in Karen's case the latter is also true. A popular colleague, she was Psychology Discipline Representative 1976-77 and Associate Chairman, 1978-80. Fair-minded but resolutely persuasive she has had an important influence on the development of Psychology on this campus.

Pay phones on campus for hearing impaired

Two payphones on the Scarborough campus have been equipped with amplification adjustable handsets for use by persons who are hearing-impaired. With these phones the sound in the receiver can be amplified by using a light touch rocker bar.

The payphones are both located on the second level; one outside the cafeteria and one in an alcove next to the Meeting Place. They are identified by a sign over each phone which shows the international symbol of hearing accessibility.

C.K. Govind received his B.Sc. and M.Sc. from the University of Natal and for four years in the mid-1960s was on the faculty of that university. In 1969 he moved to the University of Manitoba where he took his Ph.D., followed by a year of post-doctoral study with Professor Harold Atwood.

C.K. is a marathon runner but his progress through academia has been more like a sprint. By 1972 he was an Assistant Professor here at Scarborough. The rules of the game held his career progress to the statutory five years to tenure, but after his promotion to Associate Professor it took him only four years to his latest promotion to Professor for which the Division and the College are most happy to congratulate him.

From 1970 to 1981 he published some 50 papers, almost all in the field of the development of the neuromuscular system of crustacea, an area in which he is now an acknowledged leader. The crustacea of Highland Creek being but puny creatures, C.K. migrates every summer to the internationally renowned Marine Biological Laboratories at Woods Hole where the lobster are plentiful and he can pursue his research on factors affecting the size of lobster claws.

It is not true that this research is financed by Gourmets International! It is true that it is well supported by the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada who are concerned with a debilitating and fatal disease, the origins of which may well be in a disturbance of the interaction between innervation and muscular growth about which C.K.'s studies are teaching us so much.

When he is not running, dissecting lobsters, or teaching the popular BIOB17, C.K. is busy organizing the Division of Life Sciences Christmas Party — it should be an especially celebratory one this year!

G.R. Williams, Chairman Life Sciences Division

Faculty activities

Professor Rorke Bryan, Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences, has been appointed to a committee of the International Association of Scientific Hydrology Commission on Continental Erosion, with Professor A. Yair, of the Hebrew University, Jerusalem, and Dr. R. Lal, International Institute for Tropical Agriculture, Ibadan. The committee will co-ordinate the Commission's research on soil erodibility and will prepare procedures, manuals and training courses for soil conservation and hydrology in developing countries.

Professor Bryan has also been appointed chairman of a task force on recent research on surface wash organized by the International Geographical Union Commission on Field Experimentation in Geomorphology.

Faculty invited to alumni 'Jock reunion'

On Saturday, November 27, our second alumni "Jock" reunion will be held in the Recreation Centre. The event is planned so that the College's alumni can enjoy an informal day of sports, games, relays and pub activities.

Those who participated last year declared the day a great opportunity to have fun and meet with old friends, but many suggested that they would look forward to renewing acquaintances with members of the faculty as well.

Therefore, an open invitation is extended to all Scarborough College faculty to take part this year — either for a full day, or just to drop by for a few minutes.

10 a.m.	Coffee
11 a.m. — 2 p.m.	Games
Noon — 7 p.m.	Pub
2 p.m.	Lunch

Full day participants should pre-register in the Physical Education Office.

*T. Pallandi,
Director of Physical Education*

New York art trip great success

By Terry Nicholson

After several months of planning, the Fourth Annual Scarborough College Fine Art trip to New York City pulled out of Toronto at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, October 27. The last frantic days of organizing were over for Lora Carney and me and the many calls to our travel agent, New York galleries and the participants were finally behind us. From 8 a.m. we really were able to sit back and enjoy this trip. This year there were 46 people on the bus and 14 more made their own way by plane.

The New York trip has evolved from a specific class project for Lora Carney's course "New York in the 20th Century" (FAR B54F) into a more general trip that exposes students to art ranging from Medieval to Post-Modern. After four years the trip is now a well-oiled machine that enthusiastically invades New York for five days and returns exhausted.

There were so many great things about the trip that I can only mention the highlights. On Thursday morning Lora Carney gave a tour of the John Marin show on 57th Street and the students then explored the many other galleries in the area. On the same day Robert Siebelhoff and Giuseppe Scavizzi took students through the massive collection of the Metropolitan Museum. On Friday a former Scarborough student, Lou Grachos, kindly organized a tour of the major Milton Avery exhibition at the Whitney Museum where he now works. Afterwards some went to explore the Frick collection, others went to the Guggenheim.

On Saturday morning Michael Gervers took a large group to visit the Cloisters (the Met's Medieval collection) which was followed by a charming picnic with Michael's parents in Tryon Park. The afternoon included a splendid visit to the studio of sculptor Joe Silva that was arranged by two former students, Marg Jackson and Bernice Bradt. The day was rounded out by a tour of the vibrant Soho gallery district, including the opening of the Frank Stella show at Castelli's.

By Sunday morning at 9 a.m. only one student, Jeff Wittmann, found the energy to join Lora and me for a five mile run in Central Park. After brunch we went to the Museum of Modern Art.

These are the scholarly highlights, but I have to add that it was not all work. Every night when I returned to the hotel to sleep, members of our group were just heading off to the Village for entertainment. Sleep, apparently, was not a top priority.

This year's trip was gratifying in many ways. More faculty members than ever before came along, giving the students expert guidance to the monumental scope of the art in Manhattan. Lora and I also feel it is very important to expose students to an environment where people live and breathe the arts. New York enthusiasm is contagious. We all had such a wonderful time that there is going to be a post trip party on November 20.

Medical faculty admits 15 from College

Fifteen students from Scarborough College were admitted to the University's Faculty of Medicine this fall. One other student, Randy Jay Leifer, was offered admission but chose to reregister at the College.

Those now studying medicine at U of T are

George Mathew Arnold
Salwa Azer
Susie Bensaquen
Avedis H.A. Boudakian
James R. Haebe
Marlon Hershkop
David G.B. Ibsen
Neil V. Leibovitz
Lawrence David Luftspring
Jeff Machat
Drue H. Mandel
Paul L. Posner
Michael W. Ricer
Sandra A. Seigel
Helene Westreich

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO NOV. 26, The Gallery. Exhibit by Lyn Carter (fabric art).

WED. — FRI. NOV. 10–12, 12 noon and 1 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: Amnesia.

THURS. NOV. 11, 10:55 a.m., Campbell Lounge, Remembrance Day Service.

THURS. NOV. 11, 12 noon, Council Chamber. CBC television production: "Bulls Eye Target".

THURS. NOV. 11, 7 p.m., H-310. Poetry reading by Sharon Nelson.

FRI. NOV. 12, 3:30 p.m., Faculty Lounge, Faculty Club Party.

MON. NOV. 15, 7–9 p.m., R-3228. Poetry reading by Robert Bringham.

WED. NOV. 17, 4 p.m., Council Chamber. Scarborough College Council meeting.

THURS. NOV. 18, 4 p.m., S-128. Biology Seminar: Biology, ecology and insect-control potential of entomophthoraceous fungi — Dr. D. Tyrrell, Forest Pest Management Institute, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

THURS. NOV. 25, 4 p.m., S-128. Biology Seminar: Hybridization of birds in the great plains of North America — Prof. J.D. Rising, Department of Zoology, University of Toronto.

THURS. NOV. 25, 7 p.m., The Gallery. Video presentation by Lisa Steele.

THURS.—SAT. NOV. 25–27, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: The Hand That Cradles The Rock.

Workshop on touch

Authorities from Ottawa, Queen's University, Rochester, and the State University of New York, as well as the CNIB, will take part in a Workshop on Touch, Friday, November 19 at Scarborough College. For more information contact Professor John Kennedy of Psychology, who has been making the arrangements and will be one of the speakers.

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 6/November 24, 1982

Honours grad in '81 wins new award

Scarborough College's top prize winner in the social sciences in the graduating class of 1981 has won a new honour.

Richard Knabl, who went on to graduate studies in economics on the U of T downtown campus, has been awarded the Toronto Association of Business Economists prize as the most outstanding graduating student in the M.A. (economics) program. The award consists of $500 plus a one-year membership in the association.

Richard is now working as a research assistant until Christmas with Professor Leonard Waverman of the Institute for Policy Analysis. As yet he does not have a permanent job lined up, but is hopeful he will find one in the new year. He received his M.A. at Convocation this fall.

Spectrum

One more issue in '82

The last issue of Spectrum for 1982 will be published on Wednesday, December 8, so be sure to get your requests for announcement of Christmas season events in early! Deadline for this issue will be December 1. Spectrum will resume publication early in the New Year with the first issue scheduled for January 12, 1983. Deadline will be the preceding Wednesday, January 5.

Research space policy questioned

A policy document on research space at the College which had previously received approval from the general policy committee generated considerable discussion at the November 17 meeting of College Council.

The document had been prepared in response to a need for a clearer understanding of the principles applied in research space allocation. A survey of all users of research space had been conducted last year as a preliminary step to the development of the policy.

The preamble to the principles proposed in the policy affirms that "the active participation of its faculty in research is among (Scarborough College's) major objectives. In addition to the contribution thereby made to the expansion of knowledge and to graduate training, this activity enhances the academic reputation of the College and enriches the experience of undergraduates."

A number of questions were raised concerning the wording and interpretation of subsequent paragraphs. Professor Ian Campbell of Life Sciences voiced objections on the grounds that the statements are too loose. "I feel that for the Divisional Chairmen to decide on the interdivisional allotment of research space could put them in a conflict of interest position," he said when contacted following the meeting.

No one can ever define excellence, he added, so why use it as a term in the document? He also felt that more weight should be given to the number of undergraduate students using laboratories as required for senior year course work.

An amendment to refer the research space policy document back to the general policy committee was later passed at the Council meeting. It included instructions to consider the possibility of creating a sub-committee on research space, with particular attention being given to whether the sub-committee should be of the general policy committee or one to advise the principal.

Christmas reminder

For those making plans for the Christmas holidays, a reminder concerning closing dates:

The College will be open as usual until the end of the working day Friday, December 24. Offices will be closed between Christmas and New Year's, but will reopen on Monday, January 3, 1983 at the beginning of the working day.

CJS has soothing music

A vote of thanks goes to Scarborough College's Radio Station CJS for its programming of classical music on Thursday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. It's worth an extra walk past the speakers in the Meeting Place and elsewhere for the soothing charms which the music hath.

A distinctive future for SC?

In these times of restraints and cut-backs, it is important that our College be known for a significant and distinctive contribution to the university system in Ontario.

But distinctive in what way(s)?

After considering many suggestions, the Academic Affairs committee has selected six major themes of possible distinctiveness. These themes by no means cover the waterfront, and none is easily separable from the others. However, we have to start somewhere, so here are the themes:

1. Admissions policy (a tough policy demanding excellence, or an open policy, tapping many potential students?)
2. Academic programs: is the present system working well, or should there be less restriction — or more? For example, compulsory courses, or distribution of courses?
3. Education and jobs: should we aim to prepare students for jobs, or to "think" (liberal arts education)? Would more co-op programs be desirable — and could we find the jobs?
4. Part-time students: Should we try to attract and serve more part-time students?
5. Demographic change: an older faculty; a higher average age among Canadians; other shifts, brought about by energy crises, population movements. How should we respond?

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

6. Local community support: we do a fair bit already . . . Is there more we can do to serve the Scarborough community?

Your ideas are wanted — and needed.

You can help carve out a distinctive role for Scarborough College in the years ahead.

You are invited to prepare a brief discussion paper on any of the above items. (Maximum of 2000 words). Please send it to the chairman, Prof. John Alan Lee, R 5008, by December 31, 1982.

Ombudsman available for consultation

Liz Hoffman, who was appointed Ombudsman by the University last spring, anticipates a heavy workload over the next few years.

With the difficulties the University is currently facing, and the growing pressures on the service areas of all three campuses, there could be a number of problems brought to the attention of the ombudsman.

The position was created in the fall of 1975 to enable any member of the University — student, faculty, or administrative staff — to air a grievance or complaint against the institution. The ombudsman also provides information to members of the University community about their rights and methods of maintaining them.

While the ombudsman's office is a final resort for matters after all other available policies and procedures have been attempted, Hoffman may also be informally involved in the earlier stages, for example by directing individuals to the appropriate appeal processes.

Hoffman is available to come to Scarborough College to meet with anyone who may wish to consult with her here, or can be reached at her office at 16 Hart House Circle, telephone 978-4874.

BILD grants allows maintenance catchup

A $73,000 BILD grant from the provincial government has enabled Scarborough College to catch up on some much-needed maintenance projects.

The Board of Industrial Leadership and Development (BILD) grant was made to the Physical Services Department last June as part of the province's job-creation program. Conditions of the grant were that the money be applied to labour-intensive, construction-related work that would not normally be funded and that it be spent prior to the end of the calendar year.

Although the late notice meant a late start, a number of projects have already been completed. These include maintenance of main steam distribution valves, exterior concrete repairs, exterior caulking of the R and S wings, caulking of R-wing windows, wall and floor painting, asphalt paving repairs, and storm drain catch basin repairs.

The final project which will be starting in mid-November is the long-overdue re-roofing of three roof pods on the H-wing. There may be some inconvenience during this two-week project, but physical services manager Robin Bryan assures that everything possible will be done to keep any discomfort to minimum.

New UTSA reps for Scarborough College

Helen Pressey of the Career Counseling and Placement Service and Anne Frost of the Teaching/Learning Unit were recently elected to the staff association's board of representatives for a two-year term.

Any staff members who have matters they wish to discuss with their UTSA reps are invited to contact either Helen Pressey by telephoning 3292, or Anne Frost at 3379.

Search committee for new chairman

As this is the final year of Professor G.R. Williams' term as Chairman of the Division of Life Sciences, Principal Joan E. Foley has appointed a search committee to recommend a successor whose term will begin 1 July, 1983.

The membership of the committee is as follows:

J.E. Foley, (Chairman)

Wilfred Laurier seeks academic vice president

Wilfred Laurier University, Waterloo, Ont., invites nominations and applications for the position of Vice President: Academic. The appointment will commence August 1, 1983, or at a mutually agreeable time. Candidates preferably should have an earned doctorate, teaching experience, and an appropriate background in administration and scholarship.

Wilfred Laurier University is a public university with an enrolment of approximately 4100 full-time students and 6100 part-time students in its faculties of Arts and Science, Business and Economics, Music, Social Work and Graduate Studies.

Applications, accompanied by a resume of qualifications and the names of three referees, should be submitted on or before November 30, 1982 to Dr. John A. Weir, Chairman, Search Committee for Vice President: Academic, Wilfred Laurier University, Waterloo, Ont. N2L 3C5. All communications will be received in confidence.

Faculty activities

Professor Russell Brown, English, is co-editor with Karen Mulhallen and Donna Bennett of Tasks of Passion: Dennis Lee at Mid-Career, which has just been published by Descant Editions. The book, an assessment of Dennis Lee's career and a major new long poem by him, was launched at a special Harbourfront reading November 16, in which a number of Canada's most widely-known authors took part.

J.L. Freedman, Chairman, Department of Psychology
C.K. Govind, Biology
J.W. Gurd, Biology
R.C. Roeder, Chairman, Division of Physical Sciences
M.C. Smith, Psychology
J.E. Till, Associate Dean, Division IV, School of Graduate Studies

The committee will begin its work immediately and will welcome nominations and comments through its Chairman or any of its members.

What can I do with a batchelor's degree in..?

The second "CAREERTALK" series for this year is being planned for the end of January.

This week-long series is designed to inform students about career opportunities for undergraduates, or "What can I do with a Bachelor's Degree in . . .?"

Faculty, alumni and students are invited to suggest topics, ideas or potential speakers. Please contact Helen Pressey, Coordinator of Career Counselling and Placement, Room S302F, or telephone 3292.

U of T has 'visual ear'

The University of Toronto has installed a 'Visual Ear' in the office of Mrs. Eileen Barbeau, the Co-ordinator of Services to Disabled Persons at 140 St. George St. Room 623. This enables hearing-impaired persons who cannot use the telephone to make calls using regular telephone lines. The message travels across the lines to an electronic readout display.

Any member of the university community needing to use the 'Visual Ear' may do so. Eileen Barbeau can be reached at 978-3011 (voice) and 978-3337 ('Visual Ear').

FOR SALE

1976 Hornet Hatchback, automatic transmission, 64,000 miles, 4.25 litre engine, one owner, excellent condition. Telephone 284-9799 evenings.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO NOV. 26, The Gallery. Exhibit by Lyn Carter (fabric art). THURS. NOV. 25, 12-1 p.m., R-3230. Canadian Association for the Advancement of Netherlandic Studies (CAANS): Guest Lecturer, Louise Nelson-Van Hee will speak on "Are there still Belgians? The Vexations of a Bilingual Country."

THURS. NOV. 25, 4 p.m., S-128. Biology Seminar: Hybridization of birds in the great plains of North America — Prof. J.D. Rising, Department of Zoology, University of Toronto.

THURS. NOV. 25, 7 p.m., The Gallery. Video presentation by Lisa Steele.

THURS.—SAT. NOV. 25-27, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: The Hand That Cradles The Rock.

NOV. 29-DEC. 17, The Gallery. Exhibit by Mark Critoph (prints).

MON. NOV. 29, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. General Policy Committee meeting.

TUES. NOV. 30, 9 a.m., Council Chamber. Academic Affairs Committee meeting.

WED. DEC. 1, 12 noon, H-305. Music by student instrumental ensembles & Scarborough College Chorus.

THURS. DEC. 2, 4 p.m., S-128. Biology Seminar: Temperature effects on sex determination in reptiles — Prof. N. Mrosovsky, Department of Zoology, University of Toronto.

FRI. DEC. 3, 3 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club Party.

THURS. & FRI. DEC. 9, 10, 12 noon. T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: The Land of Oz.

MON. DEC. 6, 12 noon, Campbell Lounge (R-3103). Annual Carol singing led by the Scarborough College Chorus. Everyone is welcome to join in the singing.

Open House '82

Scarborough College visitors find many attractions

Some 1200 visitors to Scarborough College's Open House '82 November 6 and 7 found many fascinating areas to explore. Following the official opening ceremonies, U of T President James Ham (in photo top right) together with Scarborough Mayor Gus Harris, Principal Joan E. Foley, Students' Council President David Fulford, and Social Sciences Chairman Rorke Bryan visited a geology exhibit which graphically illustrated the effects of soil erosion on the Scarborough Bluffs.

Especially exciting for the younger visitors was a "chemistry magic" show where, by shouting the magic word "clycohexane", they were able to watch all sorts of wonderful happenings. In the photo at right, Shawn O'Dell and Adam Scott, members of a troupe of Beavers from Pickering, give chemical magician Chris Ambidge a helping hand at creating his special effects.

Below, left: two young school students are intrigued by one of the dissections on display in a biology lab. The Computing Centre, below right, also proved to be a magnet for many youngsters. Daniel Pace, a student from Highland Creek Public School, tries his hand at one of the programs set up for the Open House.

Photography by Steve Behal, Jim Guillet.

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 7/December 8, 1982

Council to consider lecture series proposal

A proposal to offer a free lecture series to the unemployed, as well as the opportunity to audit regular courses, was approved by the Academic Affairs Committee and will be brought up at the meeting of College Council Thursday, December 9 at 4 p.m.

Professor John Lee, who initiated the proposal and has volunteered to teach a series in sociology, believes the project would tangibly demonstrate our concern for the unemployed in our community, add to the reputation of the College, and possibly attract future part-time enrolment.

The other proposed lectures in philosophy would be conducted by Professors Andre Gombay and Bill Graham, who have also offered their services without payment.

Library announces holiday schedule

The library will continue its regular hours of operation, 8.45 a.m. to 10.30 p.m., through Tuesday, December 22.

After that date, the following schedule will be in effect:

December 23, 24	8.45a.m.—5p.m.
December 25—28	Closed
December 29, 30	1p.m.—5p.m.
December 31 —	Closed
January 2

Regular Library hours will resume on Monday, January 3, 1983.

Survey points to further studies

In a memo circulated to all members of the College concerning the recently released consultants' preliminary survey of the administrative operations of the College, Principal Joan E. Foley has stated that all members have a role to play in responding to the report.

"It is important that you come forward to express your ideas on how we could be more effective and reduce costs," she said. "The objective is to preserve what is most essential."

Four from Scarborough win APUS awards

Four Scarborough students were among those honoured at the Association of Part-time Undergraduate Students (APUS) annual awards dinner held at Hart House November 12.

Three Scarborough students won the APUS Scholastic Award. In order to qualify for this award, you must have taken at least 10 courses, with at least four in one subject area and maintain a B+ average.

The Scarborough winners were Rachael Boles (Drama), Tryntje Evans (English) and Vivien Mann (Psychology). The award consists of a certificate and $200.

Louise Campbell, who served as the part-time vice-president with the Scarborough College Students' Council for more than two years (the SCSC-APUS liaison) was given a pen and pencil holder for her service to APUS.

The report, which is available to any members of the College through the chairman of College Council and its committees, discipline representatives, senior college administrators, and others, identifies four areas for study which could provide useful information on possible cost reductions: support staff, potential sources of revenue, computer services and library services. These areas will either be examined internally by the Principal with the assistance of the Divisional Chairmen and other senior administrators in consultation with staff, or, in the case of the computer and library services, will be referred by the Principal to the appropriate committees.

The consultants' report recognizes the challenges faced by the College, both as a constituent college of the University of Toronto and because of its place as an undergraduate college within the University. It points out that there are no 'easy cuts', and "did not find areas where surplus resources could be withdrawn with little impact on the College."

On the Council agenda

Among the matters to be considered at the next meeting of College Council on Thursday, December 9 is a proposal to install speed bumps along the entrance to the inner parking lots and in other areas of merging traffic. This is one of a number of measures for the control of traffic flow to be considered.

Faculty activities

Professor Wayne Dowler, Chairman of the Division of Humanities, has recently published a book entitled Dostoevsky, Grigor'ev, and Native Soil Conservatism (University of Toronto Press). Professor Dowler presents a detailed study of Native Soil conservatism from about 1850 to 1880 — its various intellectual facets, its leading thinkers, and its growth and gradual disintegration.

Professor Sev Isajiw, Division of Social Sciences, presented a lecture on the "Political Sociology of Viacheslav Lypynsky" at Harvard University, October 23, 1982. Though little known in the West, Lypynsky was an important thinker in the Eastern European context. His thought can be placed somewhere between the early sociological theories of conflict and the political philosophy of monarchism of the British type.

On November 6, Professor Isajiw also presented a paper on "Learning and Use of Ethnic Language at Home and School: Sociological Issues and Findings" at a conference on language education at the University of Alberta.

Gary Heighington, Senior Tutor in Psychology, was reelected to the Peel Regional Board of Education in the recent civic elections.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Future dentists come from College

Seventeen students from Scarborough College entered the Faculty of Dentistry and are continuing their studies there this fall.

A total of 77 students already registered at the University of Toronto were admitted to the Faculty of Dentistry for the 1982-83 academic session. Scarborough and New College had 17 each, the highest number, with the remaining 43 students coming from the U of T's six other Arts and Sciences colleges and the Faculty of Pharmacy.

The students from Scarborough College are:

Ronen Barzilay
Amit Benyovits
Neil Bloom
Steven Bongard
David Brill
Martin Brown
William Dayan
Daniel Fedder
Arthur Fisch
David Gorendar
Grigorous Iatropoulos
Dennis K. Marangos
David Michaels
Frank Parker
Eva Rosenthal
Neil Silverstein
Gary Stenzler

Principal responds to APUS president

Principal Joan E. Foley has sent the following letter to Christine Vercoe, President, Association of Part-Time Undergraduate Students, in response to an article by Ms. Vercoe in the U of T Bulletin entitled "Integration crucial for part-time students".

Dear Ms. Vercoe:

I was more than a little puzzled to read your Forum article in the November 22 issue of the University of Toronto Bulletin in which you allege that much of the teaching of winter evening courses on the Scarborough campus is paid for on an overtime basis with undesirable consequences.

Wherever you obtained your information, it was not from me. The facts are that in 1981-82 62.5 F.C.E.s were offered in the Winter Evening Session and 59.0 in the current session. Of these, overload stipends were paid in respect of only 6.5 F.C.E. in 1981-82 and 8.0 in the current session. I fail to see how these facts support the very strong statements made in your article.

I would be very pleased to meet you at any time to discuss the services available to part-time students at Scarborough. Given your exhortation at the end of the article I am surprised that you would not have done so before publishing it. As it is I am not sure whether your article is, in your own terms, "programmed rhetoric" or "innovative, original thought". Surely, with goodwill on both sides, we can do better than this.

Yours sincerely,
J.E. Foley,
Principal

Rec Centre plays host to high school teams

Scarborough College will host two invitational tournaments for high school teams over the Christmas holiday season.

The tenth annual high school invitational basketball tournament will be held in the Recreation Centre on December 27 and 28. Schools in Toronto, Scarborough, Pickering, Durham, North York and other suburbs have been invited to send teams, and the first eight to submit entries will be chosen.

High schools have also been invited to send teams to the fourth annual volleyball tournament which is taking place on Wednesday, December 29 in the Rec Centre. Up to eight teams can be accommodated. Last year's winner was the team from Cedarbrae Collegiate.

Spectators are most welcome at both these tournaments. Judging from the calibre of last year's teams, they deserve the support of an enthusiastic cheering section.

Summer intern projects sought

The summer internship program, designed to give selected Scarborough high school students an opportunity to spend six weeks involved in research projects at Scarborough College, will be held again next summer.

Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky is circulating applications amongst faculty members. Any who wish to submit appropriate projects are asked to have their applications returned to his office by January 10.

The objective of the program is to provide research opportunities for highly motivated students at the grade 12 level with the hope that they will be encouraged to go on to further study.

Past projects have ranged from a biology study involving the social system of field mice to the historical researching of medieval English land deeds.

Entrance examinations for the College?

Academic Affairs committee will hold a special meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday January 18, with a single agenda item — the proposal to introduce entrance examinations (by achievement tests) for the College in the 1985–86 year.

There will be no motions or votes at this meeting, but all members of the College who are interested in this question are welcome and urged to make their views known at this meeting.

Preparation of views in advance, in the form of a position paper for distribution to regular members of the committee would assist the committee in more informed discussion of your views.

Principal Fox to visit

Principal Paul Fox of Erindale College has been invited by the Teaching/Learning Unit to come to Scarborough College. Well known as an outstanding lecturer, Principal Fox will give a presentation on teaching large introductory classes. The seminar will be held in the library's INCO Room from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, January 12, 1983.

Tenth Scarborough Fair is coming

The tenth anniversary edition of Scarborough Fair will be making its appearance early next spring.

Co-editors of Scarborough Fair X, Alexandra Mahabir and Margaret Henderson, both fourth year students in the Specialists' Program in English, are optimistic about Scarborough Fair X, in spite of budget difficulties.

What they need now is material to publish. Submissions in the form of poetry, prose, short drama, photography, and artwork are invited.

Apply now for parliamentary posts

Graduating students in the social sciences and humanities, particularly those completing programs in political science, history, or economics, who have an interest in and knowledge of the legislative process, are invited to apply for parliamentary internships.

The internship program, sponsored by the Canadian Political Science Association in collaboration with the Speaker of the House of Commons and the House Leaders, is open to men and women 21 to 35 years of age who are Canadian citizens and recent graduates of a Canadian university. Each intern receives a stipend of approximately $9,000 for a 10-month period beginning September, 1983.

The program is designed to provide backbench Members of Parliament with highly qualified assistants, while at the same time give university graduates an opportunity to supplement their theoretical knowledge of Parliament with a practical experience of the day-to-day work of the Members. In the long term, the graduates of the program should be better able to make a significant contribution to Canadian public life.

Seminars and the preparation of a paper analyzing an aspect of parliamentary government in Canada complete the program.

Information concerning the application procedure is available in the Student Services Office (S302). Applications must be received no later than January 7, 1983.

For the unenlightened, Scarborough Fair is your College's yearly anthology of the arts. Students, faculty and staff members are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to contribute to the College's cultural spirit.

Deadline for all submissions is February 1, 1983. Submissions should go to the Students' Council office, Room R-3042. If submitting written material, please include six copies of your work.

All those whose works are accepted by the five-member selection committee will not only gain recognition from their peers, but will also receive a special invitation to Scarborough Fair's renowned wine and cheese launching celebration.

University College seeks Registrar

Applications or nominations are invited to fill the position of Registrar of University College, as the term of the present Registrar, Professor Robert MacKay, ends June 30, 1983. Candidates should have a deep interest in undergraduate education and in the welfare of undergraduate Arts and Science students, and will likely be tenured or in the tenure-stream, with some administrative experience.

University College registers about 2800 students, almost all of whom are Ontario scholars. The student body is about 40% science, 40% humanities and social sciences, and 20% commerce students. The faculty numbers about 100 from 22 departments in Arts and Science and four other faculties.

The term is for three to five years and is renewable at the agreement of both parties. The position is expected to take from 60% to 75% of the Registrar's time, for which his/her department would be reimbursed from the College's budget.

Please send applications or nominations (preferably with a curriculum vitae) or address enquiries by January 7, 1983 to Professor G.P. Richardson, Principal, University College.

Bladen prize essay topics invited

Students specializing in economics or commerce are invited to submit entry proposals for the Bladen Prize Competition.

The prize was established in the College in 1976 to honour the services of the late Professor Vincent Bladen to this College and to the University. It is awarded each year to the student submitting the best essay of not more than 5000 words on any subject covered by B and C level courses in economics. Value of the prize is $150.

Last year's winner was Margaret Ujhegyi, a 1982 honours graduate from the College who is now enrolled in the U of T's graduate program in economics. The title of her prize-winning essay was "The Development of Canadian Merger Policy".

Students wishing to enter this year's competition must submit a proposed essay title to Professor Albert Berry, assistant chairman of the Social Sciences Division for economics, before January 11, 1983. Students may change their essay titles after that date, but completed essays must be entered no later than February 22, 1983.

Caution is needed

There has been a number of instances in the past few weeks of credit cards, identification, money, bank passbooks, etc., being stolen from handbags which have been left only momentarily unattended in the library and other areas throughout the College. In several cases, students have later found that substantial sums of money have been withdrawn from their bank accounts by persons using stolen information and I.D.

People are advised to be extremely careful about leaving their belongings unattended even for a moment. Anyone noticing any items missing from bags or purses should immediately report the loss to the College security officers, and notify any other relevant authorities, institutions or agencies such as banks and other credit card issuers.

Rec centre posts holiday period hours

Although the gymnasium and teaching studio will be closed for exams from Thursday Dec. 9 to Friday Dec. 17, the rest of the Recreation Centre will be open as usual during this period of time.

During the holiday period, the Recreation Centre will be open as follows:

December 19	8 a.m. — 6.30 p.m.
December 20—23	Noon — 8.30 p.m.
December 24	9 a.m. — 2.45 p.m.
December 25	Closed
December 26	8 a.m. — 6.30 p.m.
December 27—30	Noon — 8.30 p.m.
December 31	9 a.m. — 2.45 p.m.
January 1, 1983	Closed
January 2	8 a.m. — 6.30 p.m.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO DEC. 17, The Gallery. Exhibit by Mark Critoph (prints).

THURS. & FRI. DEC. 9, 10, 12 noon, T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: The Land of Oz.

THURS. DEC. 9, 4 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council Meeting.

SAT. DEC. 18, 10:30 a.m. — 1 p.m., Recreation Centre. Christmas play day. All members of the College and their children are invited.

JAN. 3—22, The Gallery. Exhibit by Janis Hoogstraten (drawings)

Fun for all at Christmas play day

Christmas Play Day at the Recreation Centre Gym means fun for all ages. The event will be held this year on Saturday, December 18 from 10.30 a.m. to 1 p.m. All members of the College and their children are invited.

Among the activities lined up for the day are trampolining, relays, races of skill and luck, and games of basketball, volleyball and badminton.

Please advise the Phys. Ed. Office (R-2255) by noon Friday, December 17 if you are planning to come. Include name, telephone number, and number and ages of children. There is a charge of $2 per person.

Our apologies . . .

— to the Division of Social Sciences for not recognizing that the display showing the effects of soil erosion on the Scarborough Bluffs prepared for Open House and pictured in the last issue of Spectrum was a geography exhibit.

— to medical student Edward Dat Hang Lin, whose name was inadvertently left off the list of students from Scarborough College who were admitted to the university's Faculty of Medicine this fall.

— and our thanks to our alert readers who quickly spotted an errant letter 't' which should not have found its way into the word bachelor in the headline "What can I do with a bachelor's degree in . . .?"

Measures to improve office security

I believe it is generally known that certain offices in the College have been subjected to thefts of cash and equipment during the past several months. Once again I would remind the College community of the importance of cultivating and observing alert security measures with regard to the safekeeping of valuables.

With a view to reducing the incidence of thefts, improved safekeeping facilities are being provided. At the same time it is essential that those people directly responsible for the protection of cash and other valuables take their responsibilities seriously. The following procedures should prove helpful:

1. Reduce your petty cash fund to a workable minimum.
2. Balance your petty cash daily.
3. Report any loss to the security desk immediately.
4. Restrict safe combinations and keys to not more than two persons.
5. Change safe combinations frequently.
6. Never leave the office unattended with the door unlocked.

Your co-operation in this regard is earnestly requested.

J.F. Brook
Director of Administration

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 8/January 12, 1983

Careerthink '83 to help plan future

Experts in fields ranging from marketing and administration to scientific research will be on the Scarborough campus the week of January 17-21 to take part in Careerthink 83.

Some 36 speakers, primarily from business and industry, will participate in 12 career sessions, each focussing on particular career possibilities for future arts and science graduates.

This is the first time career talks on campus have been packaged in a one-week series to provide information on career options. According to Helen Pressey, coordinator of career counselling and placement at the College, the week has been planned to assist not only students in their final year of study to prepare for the job market, but also those in their first and second years who may want to adjust their programs to broaden their future employment prospects.

Among the list of speakers are 13 graduates of Scarborough College, who will contribute their expertise on careers in administration, small business, social services, publishing, arts administration, computer science, advertising, marketing, and laboratory-related positions.

Also taking part as panel chairmen are members of the Associates of Scarborough College. All sessions during the week-long series will be held in the Campbell Lounge, Room R-3103.

Unemployed offered free lectures

The first opportunities for free university instruction for Ontario's unemployed will be offered by Scarborough College beginning in February.

Unemployed persons without the usual academic qualifications will be able to attend two series of special lectures, in Philosophy and Sociology, to be held Friday afternoons at Cedarbrae Public Library. Professors from the College have volunteered to conduct the series without payment.

Unemployed persons with some academic background will also be welcome to sit in on regular lectures in a variety of subjects at the College, wherever extra seating is available. They will not write essays or exams, or receive academic credit.

"We can't help the unemployed much with jobs," said Professor John Alan Lee, Chairman of Academic Affairs Committee, "but we can help reduce the mental stagnation caused by long periods of unemployment. We are also trying to get involved personally. Even the cost of publicity and registration for these programs will be raised by contributions within the College."

"Members of the university community are concerned about the current unemployment situation and the human suffering it causes," said Principal Joan E. Foley. "We see this new program as one way in which the College can help try to alleviate some of the stresses associated with unemployment."

Applications sought for Moss scholarships

Two John H. Moss Scholarships, each with a value of $6500, will be awarded to students graduating in 1983. Applications for the scholarships must be submitted by February 11, 1983, to the Chairman, Scholarship Committee, University of Toronto Alumni Association, 47 Willcocks Street, Toronto.

The Moss Scholarships are awarded annually to the best all-round men and women graduating from the third or fourth year of a U of T program in Arts and Science, and are administered by the U of T Alumni Association. Two graduates of Scarborough College have been past winners: Richard Clive Turnock in 1977 and Carolyn Helen Kay in 1980.

Each application must include the names of three persons who will submit written recommendations by January 29. The scholarships are to be used in either a full time graduate or a full time second degree program recognized by the U of T.

New deadline for summer intern proposals

The deadline for faculty members to submit proposals for summer intern projects has been extended to January 14. Application forms may be obtained from the Associate Dean's Office, S-406.

Teaching award candidates sought

Each year OCUFA recognizes outstanding teachers in Ontario universities through awards based on activities in the preceding calendar year.

Teaching, in the context of the awards, embraces virtually all levels of instruction — graduate and undergraduate teaching, continuing education and faculty development. Similarly, proficiency in teaching may extend well beyond the classroom, the laboratory or the faculty member's office. Activities such as course design, curriculum development, organization of teaching programs and other significant forms of leadership are often important contributions to the instructional process.

Nominations are invited from individuals, informal groups and such organizations as local faculty associations, College Council, committees concerned with teaching and learning, students' council, alumni, etc. Deadline for receipt of nominations is March 1, 1983.

A guideline to assist in organizing a nomination is available from the Principal's Office or the Provincial Office of OCUFA. Nominations should be sent to OCUFA Committee on Teaching Awards, 40 Sussex Avenue, Toronto M5S 1J7. Telephone 979-2117 for further information.

Government to fund Ont./Que. exchanges

The Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities will again fund exchange projects at the university level with Quebec by students, faculty and staff. In the case of faculty members, funding assistance will be given to exchanges for teaching, joint research projects, studying methods of second language teaching, or other types of professional development.

Applications for 1983-84 will be accepted by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities up to January 31. Forms are available from the Principal's Office.

Applications should be sent directly to the Ministry's University Relations Branch, 9th floor, Mowat Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ont. M7A 1L2.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks
Production Assistant:
Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Nominations open for Governing Council seats

Nominations are now open for 13 positions on the University's Governing Council, and will remain open until 12 noon January 21. Members of Scarborough College are eligible for five of these positions: one administrative staff seat, for a three-year term; two full-time undergraduate student seats and two part-time undergraduate student seats, all for a one-year term. Nomination forms are available at the Registrar's Office.

Royal Bank award for major achievement

The Royal Bank Award to an outstanding Canadian or a resident of Canada who has made a major contribution to human welfare and the common good will again be offered in 1983. The award, which has been offered annually since 1967, consists of $100,000 and a gold medal. The Right Reverend Georges-Henri Levesque, founder and first Dean of the Social Sciences Faculty at Laval University, was the 1982 recipient.

Under the terms of the award, the recipient may use the proceeds in any way he or she sees fit. If two or more persons have shared in an achievement which warrants an award, then it may be given jointly. The range of activity considered is extremely broad and may embrace the natural and social sciences, and arts and humanities, or the business and industrial worlds.

Inquiries and nominations should be submitted to The Secretary, Selection Committee, Royal Bank Award, P.O. Box 1102, Montreal, P.Q. H3C 2X9. Nominations should be submitted by February 28, 1983.

Bank gets reprieve

Following a reassessment of an earlier decision, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce has decided to keep open its branch on the Scarborough campus, at least for the time being. The banking hours will not be reduced, as had been proposed, but will remain the same as they are now.

Lakehead seeks new Dean of Arts

Lakehead University is seeking applications and nominations for the position of Dean of Arts. The position becomes available July 1, 1983.

The Faculty of Arts is composed of 12 departments in the humanities and social sciences. It offers programs leading to majors and honours degrees and to Master's degrees in selected disciplines.

Applications, from Canadian citizens and permanent residents, including curriculum vitae and the names of three referees, should be received no later than March 1, 1983. Send to Mrs. G.S. Service, Secretary to the Search Committee for the Deanship of Arts, Lakehead University, Thunder Bay, Ont. P7B 5E1.

HELP NEEDED IN GERMAN

Graduate Zoology student requires the help of someone knowledgeable in the written German of the 1920s to help in the translation of scientific articles. Please contact Mark at 284-3215 (daytime) or 281-9419 (evenings).

Reflections on Governance at the College

by John Bassili
Chairman, College Council

I was recently hoisted by one of my own administrative petards. The event, as is perhaps too often the case in the history of the College Council, had to do with parking. It had come to my attention that the College Services Sub-committee was presenting for information only to the General Policy Committee the fact that speed bumps were to be installed in the parking lots of the College.

Armed with my conviction that the University of Toronto Act as well as the College Constitution provide Council with vast powers to oversee the work of its administrators, and judging that this was a matter of general concern to the College Community, I requested that the initiative be placed through Council's normal channels of approval. There was little objection to this, and the Chairman of the Services Sub-committee graciously obliged.

My judgement of the general interest that speed bumps may hold at the College was confirmed by the lengthy discussion that the issue engendered at the meeting of the General Policy Committee.

Unfortunately, an embarrassing irony was subsequently pointed out to me by one of my colleagues. At the same meeting, reports on ancillary budgets as well as the report of the management consulting firm hired by the College were also presented, but neither of these generated any discussion. Is this the order of priorities in Council and its committees asked my colleague derisively?

My immediate reaction was naturally very defensive. With a little reflection, however, I came to see that the remark was quite insightful. Anyone who has attended meetings of Council in the past several years will probably have been struck by the intensity with which matters such as parking, the shuttle service or starting dates for classes get discussed, by contrast to the more moderate interest given to the curriculum, the budget and most academic regulations. It is as if the interest which motivates involvement in Council's affairs is stimulated by matters that touch on the physical aspect of life at the College, while matters having to do with the academic directions taken by the College and the priorities implied in our budgets do not engage us as easily.

This trend has been taking shape for quite a while now, and despite the regular presence of some die-hard members, attendance and participation at Council meetings has become lackadaisical and reflective of a serious lack of involvement in the affairs of the College. In the rest of this article I present some thoughts on this problem and suggest ways in which Council could be made to play a more effective role in decision making at the College.

Any attempt to explain the lack of involvement in governance at the College would miss the target if it failed to take into account the fact that we are all generally very busy. The faculty has to teach and engage in research, students have to study and the support staff has to insure that the academic business of the College takes place efficiently. This is all important business and there are few among us who do not find these activities very demanding of our time at the College. In order to compete with such demands, involvement in governance should hold the promise of time well spent.

Unfortunately, this is not the case. Instead, a majority of members seem to feel that most matters considered at Council and its committees are pedantic and, to make things worse, that deliberations have as much to do with the realm of comedy as that of reflective debate. I believe that they are partially right on both counts and will even admit to my mischievous appreciation of the quite remarkable comical talents of some among us.

The main reason that parking, the shuttle bus or starting dates are so involving is probably that these issues are immediately understandable and that we have strong visceral reactions to motivate the presentation of our opinions in Council. Curricular proposals, academic regulations and the budget are more complex matters and close acquaintance with their intricacies often requires substantial study. Over the years, Council seems to have adapted to having to deal with such complex issues by ritualizing their presentation so as to preserve, at best, a minimal opportunity for democratic scrutiny of College affairs. Thus, regulations would be presented in piecemeal fashion and often in ways that do not even identify the documents being amended, let alone present an integrated picture of their functions. Budgets would be presented without detailed explanation of the choices and priorities they encompass or the long term directions they commit the College to.

Under such circumstances, Council can only exercise limited judgement and react to superficial aspects of proposals. More importantly, this ritualization has created an insidiously destructive appearance, namely that Council can only deal with trivial issues or that when it deals with serious issues it does so in trivial ways.

To solve this problem we must begin by looking at the interplay between those presenting complex issues for consideration by Council and those who are there to evaluate the issues. The most striking aspect of the ritualization discussed above is that members of Council and of its committees have often been willing to vote on issues that they have not been properly briefed on. I have often been surprised by our docility in tolerating this most unacademic approach to the consideration of issues. Surely a professor would not allow it in the case of the inadequately presented work of a student, nor would a student tolerate it in the work of the professor.

A crucial first step in bolstering the usefulness of Council is to insure that its business is always presented in such a way as to insure its informed and reflective consideration. This may be quite a challenge and those more suspicious than I may feel that administrators resist attempts to divulge their game lest their power and freedom to maneuver be restricted. I do not share these suspicions. My experience, especially in this period of financial crisis, is that administrators at the College welcome the constructive involvement of the College community, especially since this involvement provides them with guidance on how to meet the challenges that face the College. In fact, I have witnessed sufficient openness since assuming the Chair of Council this year that I feel that the ball is now clearly in the court of Council and its committees. The fear that we may fail to be up to the task, is the main reason for this article.

continued on page 4

College Governance

. . . continued from page 3

The poor record of attendance and participation at Council does not, however, stem simply from procedural aberrations which, with a little effort, can be corrected to yield a more effective body. Some among us have a more general cynicism towards the workability of our type of democracy. Their argument is usually based on the inefficiency of groups and the futility of their efforts to reach consensus on anything but the simplest and least controversial issues.

I do not share this pessimism. Flawed as our form of democracy occasionally is, I believe that it can, and often has, functioned very fruitfully. To appreciate this, it is important to distinguish between two functions which can be served by a system of governance. One is reactive and the other creative. I have often been heartened by a process which, I believe, illustrates well the reactive function. In such cases, the debate takes place between two small groups at a meeting which involves a large number of participants. As the arguments fly between the discussants, one is tempted to assume that those who remain silent have no interest in the issue and would probably be better off somewhere else. The pattern of voting on amendments and ultimately on the issue proper, however, reveals that this is clearly not the case. Instead, the silent component of the audience is carefully evaluating the arguments presented by each group, and the group that "wins" is the one that succeeds in demonstrating the superiority of its arguments. In a way, the "silent majority" is serving the function of a jury and, appropriately, usually does so without prior commitment and, therefore, without prejudice.

The structure of Council suits it particularly well to serve a reactive function at the College. Our membership is sufficiently large so that every meeting can bring together enough people, committed and otherwise, to insure the scrutiny and wise resolution of questions.

Council's involvement in reactive evaluation does not disqualify it from participation in creative aspects of governance. Although large groups are not very well suited to thinking up and drafting policy in meetings (anyone who has observed a committee fumble with the wording of an amendment will easily appreciate this point), creative input can be solicited from sources better suited to the task. The current effort by the Academic Affairs Committee to explore the academic future of the College is a good case in point.

More typically, the proposal of policy options is undertaken by administrators who are intimately involved with the affairs to which the policies apply. It is primarily in this capacity that the Principal, Associate Dean, Registrar, Librarian, Business Director and Manager of Physical Services interact with Council and its committees. The fruitful interplay between administrators and the Council is a critical determinant of the success with which the College functions. There is a lot of room in this interplay for misunderstanding, suspicion and conflict. For this reason, the forum offered by Council and its committees should be exploited to insure the open flow of information throughout the College community and the consensual resolution of contentious issues.

Several important questions that face the College and that would benefit from discussion in this forum have already been identified by various groups this year. A planning document called "Three-Campus Planning for Arts and Science Programmes" was drafted by senior administrators at Erindale and Scarborough. It identifies several issues that have to do with Arts and Science on the three campuses. The Academic Affairs Committee has publicized widely a number of issues on which it is soliciting input.

Other issues are the subject of countless informal discussions among members of the College. I have borrowed from these sources in arriving at a list of topics that will probably be the object of discussion in the near future.

— Should the College be seeking to cultivate a clearly distinctive image within the University and, if so, what should the image be?

— Should budgetary shortfalls at the College be met by changing the distribution of activity among the disciplines or should all disciplines be expected to sacrifice equally? If the former approach is preferred, what should the priorities be?

— Given that the University has already dictated a level of complement reduction which affects the College and that it gives every indication of continuing to do so in coming years, what policy should guide the unfortunate selection process within the College?

— What posture should the College take with respect to the University's move to reduce enrolments? Is the "leaner and tougher" approach a prescription for starvation at the College?

— Can the College develop stronger ties in the community and engage in more intensive fund raising activities?

Some of these issues are already on the agenda of Council for later this term. In other cases, matters that bear directly on them will be considered. For example, the budget presented by the Principal will reflect choices and priorities that the General Policy Committee and Council will want to examine. Enrolment targets for next year will also be presented and should provide an opportunity to explore the issue of size and the implications of the options open to us.

In concluding, I would like to touch on a matter that I have avoided

continued on page 5

Author to spend week at College

Sheila Watson, influential writer from Western Canada and author of the novel The Double Hook, will be at Scarborough College from January 17 to 21 as writer-in-residence on the campus.

As well as being available to students in Room H-514 to discuss their writings, she will give three separate talks which are open to the public. The first will be on Creative Writing on Monday, January 17 at 7 p.m. in Room R-3228. On Wednesday, January 19 at 3 p.m. she will give a reading of her works in the College Council Chamber, and will give an open seminar on West Coast Canadian writers in the Council Chamber at 1 p.m. Friday, January 21.

Watson began her career in the 1930s as a teacher in small communities in British Columbia, including a tiny settlement in the Cariboo region, where she spent two years. Her novel, The Double Hook, which she finished in Calgary in the fifties, grew out of her experiences in the Cariboo.

She studied for a time under Marshall McLuhan while doing graduate work at the University of Toronto, but returned to Alberta in 1961 to become a member of the University of Alberta's English Department. She taught there until her retirement in 1975 as full professor. She now lives in British Columbia.

While her output, consisting of one novel and five pieces of short fiction, has been small, she is considered to have a large influence on the contemporary Canadian novel.

College Governance

. . . continued from page 4

so far. It has to do with the powers of the College Council, especially as they relate to the powers of the senior administration at the College. Perhaps some of my suggestions, especially as they relate to the scrutiny of the budget and of complement reductions, will have appeared bold. They shouldn't have since, while the University of Toronto Act and the College constitution are vague with respect to the relative powers of senior administrators and Council, it is clear that the powers ascribed to the Council are considerable and certainly no cause for timidity.

While Council can be confident of its power, it should also realize that, to be effective, administrators need room to maneuver. But they also need, and usually welcome, guidance. The exercise of power in Council does not inherently set it on a path of confrontation with the administration. On the contrary, Council and its committees provide an ideal forum for the resolution of conflict.

The challenges that face the College in this period of financial uncertainty are considerable. In many ways we are now in a period of transition which may result in a College that bears a substantially new face. Many choices will have to be made during this period, and these choices should reflect the will of the entire community at the College. We can either take the destiny of the College in our hands or leave it in the hands of a restricted few. The price of involvement is low. Four meetings, each about two hours long, are scheduled for Council this term. The dates are January 19, February 24, March 28 and May 3.

Rec Centre offers family memberships

Spouses of Scarborough College members, and dependent children 17 and older are eligible for membership in the Recreation Centre.

If the College person is a member of the joint membership plan (either Plan A or B), the cost for each additional family member is $21 for membership until the end of June. For those who are not in the joint membership plan, the cost is $13.50 for the present term, which expires in April. Contact the Physical Education Department, R-2255 or telephone 3393, for more information.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO JANUARY 22, The Gallery. Exhibit by Janis Hoogstraten (drawings).

MON. JAN. 17, 7 p.m., R-3228. Talk on Creative Writing by Sheila Watson, writer-in-residence.

MON.—FRI. JAN. 17—21, 10 a.m., R-3103. Career Information Series.

TUES. JAN. 18, 3—4 p.m., Council Chamber. Snider Visiting Professor, Dr. M. Franda will speak on "Population pressures and the problem of Political Development in South Asia".

WED. JAN 19, 4.10 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council Meeting.

WED. JAN. 19, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Sheila Watson will give a reading of her works.

THURS. JAN. 20, 12 noon, Meeting Place. U of T Jazz Band.

THURS.—SAT. JAN. 20—22, 8 p.m. TV Studio 1. Drama productions: Duck Variations and Impromptu.

FRI. JAN. 21, 1 p.m., Council Chamber. Sheila Watson will give an open seminar on West Coast Canadian writers.

FRI. JAN. 21, 3 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club Party.

JAN. 24 — FEB. 12, The Gallery. Exhibition of Medieval art from the Lillian Malcove Collection.

TUES. JAN. 25, 4.10 p.m., S-319. Pasolini's feature film "The Decameron".

WED. — FRI. JAN. 26 — 28, Council Chamber. Medieval Colloquium.

THURS. JAN. 27, 8 p.m., Meeting Place. Play of Daniel by the Pocu! Ludique Societas of the U of T.

Open meeting postponed

The special open meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee which was to have been held on January 18 to consider the question of achievement testing has been postponed indefinitely.

Medieval Pleasures

SIXTH INTERNATIONAL COLLOQUIUM ON MEDIEVAL CIVILIZATION

26-28 JANUARY 1983, IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER

TUESDAY, 25 JANUARY

4:10 p.m. (Room S319)

Screening of Pasolini's feature film The Decameron, with introductory remarks by G. Scavizzi

WEDNESDAY, 26 JANUARY

10:15 a.m. (the Gallery)

Exhibition opening of medieval art from the Lillian Malcove Collection with S. Campbell, curator

11:00 a.m. Opening remarks

11:10 – 12:00 noon

T. SCULLY (Romance Languages, Wilfrid Laurier University)

"The Medieval French entremets"

12:10 – 1:00 p.m.

S. BUTLER (Dictionary of Old English, University of Toronto)

"The Pleasure of a Chaucerian Feast: Techniques and Ingredients in English Medieval Cookery"

1:00 – 2:30 p.m.: Lunch break

2:30 – 3:00 Film: Regensburg (compliments of the Goethe Institute)

3:10 – 4:00 p.m.

A. Y. HASSAN (University College, London)

"From Automata to Gunpowder"

4:10 – 5:00 p.m.

L. W. MACKIE (Textiles, Royal Ontario Museum)

"'I am for Pleasure, Welcome for Pleasure am I':
In Praise of Medieval Islamic Textiles"

THURSDAY, 27 JANUARY

11:10 – 12:00 noon

H. RICHTER (German, McGill University)

"King Arthur and the Courtly Romance"

12:10 – 1:00 p.m.

S. CHRISTOPH (Humanities, University of Wisconsin – Parkside)

"Falconry in Middle High German Courtly Literature"

1:00 – 3:00 p.m.: Lunch break

3:10 – 4:00 p.m.

M.A. SCHNEIDER (Art History, Columbia University)

"The North Gallery of the Cloister at St. Trophime at Arles: the Orderliness of the Iconography"

4:10 – 4:30 p.m.

G.D. SAWA (Middle Eastern and Islamic Studies, University of Toronto)

"Musical Humour in 9th-century Baghdad"

4:30 – 5:00 p.m.

S. MITTLER (Humanities, Scarborough College, University of Toronto)

"Greek folk poetry: Pleasure and Plaint of Byzantine and Frankish Origin"

5:00 – 6:00 p.m. (Faculty Lounge)

Reception sponsored by Scarborough College History Association

8:00 p.m. (Meeting Place)

Thirteenth-Century Play of Daniel by the *Poculi
Ludique Societas* of the University of Toronto

FRIDAY, 28 JANUARY

11:10 – 12:00 noon

P.B.R. DOOB (English, Glendon College, York University) "Mery Daunsyng So Swete"

12:10 – 1:00 p.m.

J.D. McAULIFFE (Middle Eastern and Islamic Studies, University of Toronto)

"The Wines of Earth and Paradise: Qur'anic Proscriptions and Promises"

1:10 – 2:00 p.m. (Room H305)

Traditional Arab Music under the direction of G.Sawa and "Dance Orientale" by Dahlia Obadia

2:00 – 3:00 p.m.: Lunch break

3:10 – 4:00 p.m.

M.B. DICK (History, Atkinson College, York University) "Roswitha of Gandersheim and the Pleasures of the Intellect: some comments on the cultural environment of Ottonian Germany"; with a dramatic reading of the play Callimachus by the P.L.S.

4:10 – 5:00 p.m.

W. SAYERS (Council of Ontario Universities)

"Entertainment and Intimidation: Martial Feats and Rhetoric in the Old Irish Ulster Cycle"

5:00 p.m.

Round Table Discussion

6:30 p.m. (Principal's Residence)

Reception, Medieval Banquet and Entertainment
(tickets available from Mrs. B. Gover at 284-3314)

Spectrum

Vol. II No. 9/January 26, 1983

Donald Forster named new U of T President

Yes, the next president of the University of Toronto will be Donald Forster. The official announcement came at last Thursday's meeting of Governing Council.

Forster, currently President of the University of Guelph and a former Provost and Vice President of the U of T, will assume his new position next September 1.

Strangway to address SC future

What lies ahead for Scarborough College?

Following the urging of Professor John Westgate at the January 19 College Council meeting, Vice President and Provost D.W. Strangway will be invited to address a special Council meeting 3 p.m. February 9 to discuss the future of the College.

Professor Westgate suggested that dramatic steps must be taken if demographic projections by the Provost indicating possible serious difficulties for the College within the next few years are to be reversed. It was pointed out by Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky that the projections to which the Provost was referring have already been revised upwards by Assistant Vice President D.W. Lang based on more recent information, but that a decline in our present pool of applicants is still expected.

The efforts of faculty and students must be harnessed, Professor Westgate said, to promote the College and better project its image to the community. Students' Council President David Fulford agreed with the need for a much more aggressive attitude in recruitment, and suggested it should include students going out to high schools and meeting with students, guidance counsellors and staff.

Ross Kenton, a disabled student and member of the Students' Council pointed out the future of Scarborough College is vital to handicapped students because of the difficulties the downtown U of T campus poses in terms of accessibility.

Safety improved following assault

Measures to improve safety at the College have already been taken and more will be put into effect this week, following the rape of a female student. The attack took place on the evening of Tuesday, January 11 at the inner parking lot behind the H-wing.

David Fulford, President of Students' Council, brought forth a motion at the January 19 meeting of College Council urging the administration to improve lighting and patrols by campus police in all the College parking facilities, promote an awareness campaign on the issue of sexual assault, and approve the establishment of an SCSC-sponsored patrol escort service.

A number of these proposals are already being implemented, advised Robin Bryan, Manager of Physical Services. Floodlights are being installed this week at the corner of the H-wing overlooking the parking lot, and the timing of rounds by College security police and has been altered to provide more surveillance around the "high risk" time of 8 p.m. Guards will also give lifts to the persons needing to get to their cars at this time in the evening. As well, students can gather in groups in the H-wing by the cafeteria to accompany one another to the inner lots.

Pamphlets will be on the College newsstands with maps of the parking lots showing locations of telephones, and pamphlets will be distributed suggesting actions women can take with regard to sexual assault.

Both Principal Joan E. Foley and Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky expressed their deep concern about the assault and President James Ham has called the Principal to express his personal concerns.

More help needed

Many more dollars are needed to help cover the costs of organizing the series of lectures for the unemployed. Send your contributions to Professor Gerry Israelstam, Room S-526. Or if you would spare a few hours to help with mailings, etc., contact Anne Frost, Room S-303H, telephone 3379.

Names sought for Campbell Award

Nominations for the D.R. Campbell Merit Award are being received by the Committee prior to March 1, 1983. The award was established by the Students' Council in order to provide recognition for individuals who make a significant contribution to the improvement of the quality of life at Scarborough College.

The award is presented for "outstanding contribution" which is deemed to mean:

- dedicated service to the College; beyond the person's normal role.
- instigation and development of a new College programme, facility, event or publication beyond the person's normal role.

Any member of the College community is eligible to receive the award subject to the following criteria:

Student

- he/she is registered at Scarborough College in two or more courses.
- he/she has a cumulative average of 60% or better.

Faculty

- he/she has been employed at the College for two years or more.
- the reason for consideration for the award is not related to research, academic publications or course work.

Non-academic Staff

- he/she has been employed at the College for two years or more.

The award may not be given to the President of the Students' Council or the Principal of the College in the same year that the person involved is serving in office.

Selection is made by a three-person committee which consists of a member of the faculty, a representative of the student body and the Assistant to the Principal.

Nominations

Nominations should be forwarded in writing to: D.R. Campbell Merit Award, Room S-407, Scarborough College. Deadline is March 1, 1983.

Alumni seek to honour outstanding professor

Nominations have been called by the University of Toronto Alumni Association for the eighth Alumni Faculty Award to a professor who has served the university and the community with distinction. The award will be presented at a dinner in Hart House on April 27. The recipient will be asked to address the dinner and a spring convocation.

Deadline for nominations is March 4. Each nomination should consist of a resumé documenting the qualifications of the nominee in the areas of academic excellence, service to the University, and contribution or service to the community. These should be sent to The Chairman, Faculty Award Committee, Alumni House, 47 Willcocks St., Toronto M5S 1A1.

Previous recipients of the award include Dr. Louis Siminovitch, Professors John Polanyi, Donald Chant, Stefan Dupre, and F. Kenneth Hare.

HOUSE FOR RENT

From end of June, 1983, for one year: 3 bedroom, furnished house with finished basement, on half-acre, with pool, 15 minute drive to Scarborough College, 5 minute drive to Go-train to downtown. $450 per month plus utilities. Call Prof. D.D. Williams, 284-3221 or 839-6196.

Teaching Award nominations are called

The deadline for submission of nominations for the Scarborough College Teaching Award is Monday, March 7. The winner of the Award will be selected by the following Committee:

Peter Crippen	}	alumni
Jim Higgins
Michelle Dadd	}	students
Kelvin Sealey
Bert Forrin	}	faculty
Susan Howson

Dennis Duffy, Principal, Innis College and Chairman of the University's Advisory Committee on Educational Development

Joan Foley, Principal, Chairman of the Committee.

The award, which was established by the College, the Scarborough College Alumni Association, and the Scarborough College Students' Council to recognize excellence in teaching, has a value of $1,000.

Individuals whose principal appointment is at Scarborough College and who hold the ranks of Professor, Associate Professor, Assistant Professor, Lecturer, Senior Tutor, Tutor, and full-time Instructor are eligible for nomination.

Nominators should obtain a full statement of the terms of the award and guidelines for nominations from the Principal's Office or from any Divisional Chairman.

ACU fellowships offered to administrators

The University has recently received announcements from the Association of Commonwealth Universities concerning two fellowships: a senior travelling fellowship for academic administrators, and an administrative travelling fellowship for career administrative staff.

Further information about both these fellowships is available from the Office of the Principal, Room S-409. Applications must be received at the Office of the Vice President and Provost by February 14.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Student is host on MTV series

Watch Channel 47 MTV (cable 4) next Sunday evening between 10 and 11 and you will see Scarborough College student Kelvin Sealey. In February on the same series, if all goes well, you too could be on MTV talking back to Kelvin Sealey.

Sealey is taking part in a program called Black World, designed primarily for second generation black Canadians but which should appeal to everyone interested in people.

He has already appeared in several segments on the series. On the January 30 program he expects to interview another Scarborough student who has written a book on cycling. In February he plans to have a session called "talk back to Kelvin Sealey" where viewers can go to the studio and talk with him on camera. This talk-back series will hopefully continue until May.

The seven-minute segments which feature Sealey in front of the camera are also planned and organized by this enterprising third year economics student. He comes up with the ideas, books crews, contacts subjects — all on his own initiative and, for his part, on a totally volunteer basis.

Sounds like Sealey could have a great career in TV ahead of him. But this talented young man has other plans. When he graduates from Scarborough College in the spring, he hopes to go into investment banking on New York City's famous Wall Street.

Fourth year student wins Beatty scholarship

Sophie Tryphonas, a fourth year student in mathematics at the College, has been awarded a Samuel Beatty in-course scholarship.

The Samuel Beatty awards are given to specialists in mathematics and physics at the University of Toronto. Tryphonas, who also has a College in-course scholarship, is one of the 15 recipients at the university.

A graduate of West Hill Collegiate Institute, she plans to go on to graduate work in mathematics at the U of T following graduation, and hopes for a future career in teaching and research.

Faculty activities

Professor Ian R. Brown, Division of Life Sciences, was the invited speaker from North America at the annual meeting of the European Society for Neurochemistry which was held in Sicily in September 1982. Invited symposium addresses on the molecular biology of the mammalian brain were also delivered at the Cold Spring Harbor Meeting on 'Induction of Heat Shock Proteins' in May and at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies in Edmonton in June. Co-authors were postdoctoral fellow James Cosgrove and graduate student Bruce Clark.

Rita Goldenberg, Tutor in Psychology, was the co-producer of a TV program on careers and career change entitled "The Mid-career Switch", which was seen Thursday evening, January 6 on Channel 19 as part of TVOntario's Speaking Out series.

Professor A.J. Kresge, Chemistry, was in Europe during part of October and November as Guest Professor at the Technical University of Denmark in Lyngby near Copenhagen. While there, Professor Kresge travelled extensively and gave lectures in Poland, at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, the University of Wroclaw, and the Hugon Kallataj Academy of Agriculture in Cracow, in France at the University of Science and Technology of Languedoc in Montpellier, and in Germany at the University of Bielefeld. Upon his return, Professor Kresge was Mobay Lecturer at the University of New Hampshire in Durham, New Hampshire.

Postmistress wins again

Postmistress Pauline Richardson was elected by acclamation in December to serve a third term as member of the French Language Advisory Committee of the Scarborough Board of Education. Her term of office is for three years.

Scarborough College graduate Shelley Brunt, now working on her Master's degree in Professor Julie Silver's lab, receives an award for obtaining high standing in a C-level Biology course prior to entering graduate studies in Biology. Professor G. F. Israelstam presented the award, which was donated by Jack Morrison, one of his former students.

College Calendar

JAN. 26—FEB. 12, The Gallery, Exhibition of medieval art from the Lillian Malcove Collection.

WED.—FRI. JAN. 26—28, beginning at 11 a.m., Council Chamber: Medieval Pleasures, Sixth International Colloquium on Medieval Civilization.

THURS. JAN. 27, 8 p.m., Meeting Place. Thirteenth-Century Play of Daniel by the Poculi Ludique Societas of the University of Toronto. Admission $2 adults, $1 students and seniors.

FRI. JAN. 28, 1.10 p.m., H-305. Traditional Arab Music under the direction of G. Sawa and Dance Orientale by Dahlia Obadia.

FRI. JAN. 28, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: B. Russell by Professor J. Slater, University of Toronto.

THURS. FEB. 3, 12 noon, H-305. Jane Fair Quartet Jazz Group.

THURS. FEB. 3, 1 p.m., R-4031. Special Meeting of the Cultural Affairs Committee.

THURS. FEB. 3, 8.30 p.m., Medical Sciences Main Auditorium, 1 King's College Circle. 4th Lecture in the Wiegand Foundation Lecture series on: Irrationality in Western Society, given by Allan Bloom, Professor of Political Philosophy, University of Chicago.

FRI. FEB. 4, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: G.E. Moore by Professor T. Baldwin, University of York, England.

WED. FEB. 9, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Special Meeting of Scarborough College Council.

THURS. FEB. 10, time and place to be announced. Snider Visiting Lecturer, Professor Kenneth E. Boulding, Emeritus Professor of Economics, University of Colorado at Boulder will talk on: The Theory & Practice of Human Betterment: Riches and Peace.

THURS.—SAT. FEB. 10—12, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio I. Drama Production:

Play of Daniel in Meeting Place

The Play of Daniel, one of the most popular of all medieval dramas in modern performance, will be presented in The Meeting Place at Scarborough College 8 p.m. January 27.

This production features an entirely new transcription of the music from the medieval manuscript by Timothy McGee, Professor of Music at Scarborough College. The performance will be given by the U of T's Poculi Ludique Societas in association with the Jubilate Singers and the Early Music Ensemble.

The Play of Daniel is unique among early plays for its visual spectacle and musical richness, and is considered one of the most exciting theatrical and musical achievements of the high Middle Ages. Written in the thirteenth century at the cathedral school of Beauvais in northern France, it weaves together the stories of Belshazzar's Feast and Daniel in the Lion's Den. It was rediscovered by modern audiences in New York in the late 1950s, and has been produced a number of times since then and featured on several sound recordings.

Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students and seniors. For ticket reservations telephone 284-3126.

Scarborough student enters medicine

Another future doctor, medical student Glyn R. Morgan, first began his university studies at Scarborough College.

Morgan gained admittance to the University of Toronto's Faculty of Medicine last fall following two years as an undergraduate at Scarborough College. His name was inadvertently omitted from the previous list.

One Night Stand by Carol Bolt, Canadian playwright.

FRI. FEB. 11, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: N. Chomsky by Professor R. Binnick, University of Toronto.

Cell biologists to hold workshop at College

Some 22 speakers from prominent laboratories in Eastern Canada have been invited to take part in the Canadian Society for Cell Biology's eastern winter workshop at Scarborough College February 18 and 19.

The workshop, which has as its topic "Current Applications of Recombinant DNA Technology" is being organized by Professor Ian Brown, Associate Chairman of the Life Sciences Division. It will consist of five sessions focussing on systems ranging from viral, bacterial, fungal, plant and animal.

Registration fee for the two-day workshop is $35 ($15 for graduate students and postdocs) and includes dinner Friday evening. This should be paid in advance to Professor Brown. January 30 is the fee deadline.

Medieval art display in College Gallery

An outstanding exhibit of medieval art is now on display in The Gallery.

Close to 30 items are being exhibited from the Lillian Malcove Collection recently willed to the University of Toronto. This marks the first time these items have been shown in Canada.

The complete collection was gathered by Dr. Lillian Malcove Ormos, one of New York City's first female Freudian psychoanalysts, during her many travels to Europe, the Orient and the Middle East. It consists of some 500 pieces ranging from pre-historic to modern, with special emphasis on medieval Christian art.

Dr. Malcove, who was born in Russia but spent her adolescence in Manitoba, chose the University of Toronto to receive the collection upon her death because of the outstanding reputation of the university's faculty in the area of medieval studies.

The items on display at the College include statuary, furniture, illuminated pages from several manuscripts, and other items dating from the 11th to 17th centuries.

Spectrum

Volume II No. 10/February 9, 1983

Donation in memory of geography professor

The Scarborough College People Interested in Geography Society has donated funds to Bladen Library to purchase a book in honour of Professor Geiza Szeicz (University of Toronto 1974 to 1982) who taught at Scarborough College from July 1979 until his death on April 14, 1982.

The book chosen for the collection is The earth's climate: past and future by M.I. Budyko. It is now available in the Library (call number: QC 981.8 C5 B8313).

Noted economist to speak on peace

Is peace researchable?

This question was posed by American Professor Kenneth E. Boulding to a large audience at the University of Toronto in 1962.

The widely-acclaimed social scientist and author returns to the U of T this week to visit the Scarborough campus, and give a public lecture on The Theory and Practice of Human Betterment: Riches and Peace at 4 p.m. Thursday, February 10.

Professor Boulding has committed his long and distinguished career to advancing the cause of peace and developing the economic principles necessary to "give peace a chance". He has written many books and articles, including The Meaning of the 20th Century, The Impact of the Social Sciences, The Appraisal of Change (in Japanese), Ecodynamics, and Beasts, Ballads, and Bouldingisms.

Boulding, a member of the Society of Friends, is Distinguished Professor Emeritus at the University of Colorado (Boulder). In addition to his academic appointments, he served at one time as an economist with the League of Nations.

Procedures to be taken when weather forces cancellation of classes

Faculty and staff should be aware of the procedures which will be followed should it become necessary to cancel classes due to weather conditions.

The decision to cancel classes at Scarborough is the responsibility of the Principal and will be taken only under the most severe conditions. In the event that such a decision is taken overnight, this will be communicated to the University community through the radio stations.

When classes are cancelled the University remains officially open and certain categories of staff are required to remain at work or to report for essential or important functions.

Joan E. Foley,
Principal

And what happens to the cake? Come and find out at the Drama Club's production of One Night Stand, running from Thursday to Saturday at 8 p.m. in T.V. Studio I. Stars are students Dawn Marie Perpete and Robert Hunt.

Magazines feature work with blind College donations to United Way increases

Cover art for the latest edition of American Scientist shows a man running.

But this drawing is not the usual kind. It was made by a congenitally blind 12-year-old boy who took part in Psychology Professor John Kennedy's research on the blind.

An eight-page article by Professor Kennedy is also featured in this issue. The magazine, a bi-monthly publication of Sigma Xi, The Scientific Research Society, has a circulation of 125,000.

Summer study offered in Britain

Here's an opportunity to spend six weeks studying in Britain next summer.

British universities summer schools are offering five different programs. The first two will be held from July 4 to August 12 at the universities in Oxford and Birmingham. Three more are scheduled for July 11 to August 19 at universities in London, Bristol and Edinburgh.

These courses are designed for graduates, including teachers in universities and schools, and for undergraduates who will have completed the penultimate year of a degree course by June, 1983.

For application forms or more information, contact Professor J.P.B. Kenyon in H-523 (284-3141). Closing date for applications is March 31, 1983.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

In his article, Professor Kennedy writes that studies of ancient cave and rock art, of a contemporary society devoid of pictures, and of drawings made by blind children contribute to our understanding of tactile perception, the perception of shape by the blind, and the general human capacity to use pictures. . .

His article is illustrated with drawings by the blind, as well as a photo taken by Archaeology Professor Marti Latta of ancient outline drawings from a rock face near Peterborough.

The American Scientist is not the only periodical to feature Professor Kennedy's work. The lead article in the latest issue of Visual Arts Research is also by Professor Kennedy.

Essay prize nominations open

Following the Watts Lecture given by The Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker in 1977, it was announced that at Mr. Diefenbaker's request there would be an essay contest on the theme "Canada". The best essays would receive a monetary prize for which Mr. Diefenbaker donated his honorarium.

In December, 1981, Gordon Gilchrist, M.P. for Scarborough East, donated $1000 to enable the College to continue with the awarding of the prize each spring.

Calling all people interested in radio

Scarborough College Radio is looking for faculty and staff members who would be interested in getting involved with the radio station, either in a behind-the-scenes or on-air capacity.

Some areas in which input would be welcomed are news, features, music, and commentaries. Suggestions or ideas are also invited.

Please contact Stephen Hastings, Manager, or Mike Tortorici, Program Director, by calling 3356, or drop by the station office, Room S-203, in the corridor off the Meeting Place leading to the R-wing.

The final report of the 1982 United Way Campaign for the University of Toronto has now been published and the results for Scarborough College show an increase to $4,107 from $2,289 in 1981.

On behalf of the University Committee, may I thank all who contributed, and special thanks to Mr. Jack Cober for his work in collecting and forwarding pledges to the Central Office. There were 30 donors from the College, as well as others who contributed separately to specific charities. The grand total for the University in mid-January was $239,500.

John Margeson

Campus Campaign Chairman

Essays to be nominated for this year should be received by the Associate Dean, M. Krashinsky, by May 13. The prize is worth $100.

The rules established by the Canadian Studies Committee stipulate that essays may be on any topic within the general field of Canadian Studies, and will normally be part of the term work of a course having Canada as its primary, principal or exclusive focus.

A complete list of the regulations governing the award is available from the Associate Dean's Office.

University Women's Club plans book sale

The University Women's Club of Scarborough will be holding a used book sale on Saturday, April 16 at Bridlewood Mall to raise funds for awards for Scarborough high school students who are going on to university.

Donations of books of any kind and magazines such as Harrowsmith and Scientific American are welcome. Telephone 261-0182, 291-6510, or 298-4946 to arrange for pickup of material.

The new Nicaragua

By John H. Corbett,
Professor of Classics

Last December I had the privilege of taking part in a group trip to Nicaragua, sponsored by the NDP. The purpose of the trip was twofold: to express support for the new government of Nicaragua and to study its problems and successes at first hand. Let me share with you some of our experiences and what we learned about the recent revolution in Nicaragua.

A hundred years of bitter conflict within the ruling elite and of increasingly brutal intervention on the part of American governments had, by the late 1920's, given birth to the ideal of an independent democratic Nicaragua, an ideal embodied in the successful movement led by Augusto Sandino. But American intervention had also laid the foundations for the National Guard in Nicaragua and for the dictatorship of Anastasio Somoza and his family. After assassinating Sandino, Somoza seized power with American backing. The brutality and increasing incompetence of the Somoza family contributed to a revival of Sandino's ideal in the period after World War II. A prominent role in the foundation of the Sandinista front (FSLN) was played by Carlos Fonseca who was subsequently killed in the guerilla war of the mid 1970's. By this time circumstances allowed the armed struggle to become a full scale war — the final War of Liberation which concluded when the FSLN entered Managua the capital, on July 19, 1979.

The first project of the new government was the Literacy Crusade of 1980. It had been widely recognized that a popularly based, democratic and pluralist government could only exist if people were informed and able to participate actively in the governing process; this, in turn, required a literate population. But most of the Nicaraguan people could neither read nor write at the beginning of 1980. Basing themselves on the well-known work of Paulo Freire who emphasized the importance of "consciousness-raising" (awareness of oneself and of one's social context) in social change — and, indeed, in literacy, a group of specialists set about designing and producing special teaching materials. Deborah Barndt, one of our group leaders (and a specialist in adult education at OISE) played a distinguished role in this process of curriculum development.

But the most amazing aspect of the Literacy Crusade was the involvement of the youthful brigadistas, high-school and college students who gave up their own studies for six months, to live with the country people, sharing their hardships and their daily work, while teaching them to read and write in the evenings. The young people of Nicaragua were equal to this challenge; and their efforts have produced a remarkable on-going commitment to adult education. At this moment our other group leader, Cathy Gander (who has an M.A. in Political Science from the U of Toronto), is working with the Ministry of Education in Nicaragua on the adult education programme.

A remarkable aspect of the political situation in the new Nicaragua is the scarcity of the political rhetoric and ideology which we might associate with revolution. Most Nicaraguans have never heard of Marxism — or any other "ism" for that matter. What is more the people of Nicaragua reject on principle imported ideological systems, as our group was explicitly told by Fernando Cardenal, the priest who directed the Literacy Crusade and now heads the Sandinista youth organization.

On the other hand the Gospel and the Christian faith have a force and a significance — often a revolutionary significance — which is difficult for North Americans to comprehend. The ordinary people of Nicaragua are profoundly Christian; they believe that their faith should lead to social action, even to revolution should the circumstances require. The famous Solentiname Christian community, under the leadership of Ernesto Cardenal, priest and poet (now Minister of Culture), collectively decided to take up arms during the War of Liberation — and saw the death of many of its sons and daughters.

Another remarkable aspect of the Nicaraguan revolution is the role of women in bringing the new Nicaragua to birth. Women were involved in the fighting, as soldiers and generals, not simply in supporting roles. The women of Nicaragua are committed to the ongoing process of social reform which is building a new social order. Our group had a long meeting with Gladys Baez who led the armed struggle in the city of Leon and now leads the FSLN there. We also spoke at length with Dora Maria Tellez, a former medical student who, at age 26, is now Vice President of the Council of State and head of the FSLN in Managua. These women, and many others like them, impressed us profoundly with their talent and dedication.

No less impressive were many other women who make up the Nicaraguan women's movement (AMLAE), those for instance who were running a new centre for infants and preschoolers. We also learned of their efforts over a six month period to see that the new family law was drafted and passed. This new law aims to regulate every aspect of family life (relations between spouses, sharing of domestic duties, responsibilities for children etc.). This family law reform project aptly represents the scope and significance of social change in the new Nicaragua. The traditional male dominated culture has been effectively eliminated (overtly at least). Women continue to work on many fronts for a better society.

The struggle continues in Nicaragua, against poverty and the ravages of war or natural disaster. But Nicaragua is a rich country (coffee, bananas, cotton, beef), not overpopulated in relation to her resources; and her people are determined and hardworking. More serious than inherited problems are the continuing attacks from without, from ex-National Guardsmen based in Honduras and financed by the U.S. government, who raid across the northern frontier to kidnap children, murder

Continued on page 4

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO FEB. 12, The Gallery. Exhibition of medieval art from the Lillian Malcove Collection.

WED. FEB. 9, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Special Meeting of Scarborough College Council.

THURS. FEB. 10, 4 p.m., H-216. Snider Visiting Lecturer, Professor Kenneth E. Boulding, Emeritus Professor of Economics, University of Colorado at Boulder will talk on: The Theory & Practice of Human Betterment: Riches and Peace.

THURS. — SAT. FEB. 10–12, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama Production: One Night Stand by Carol Bolt, Canadian playwright.

Nicaragua . . . continued from page 3

peasants in the fields and terrorize the civilian population. The American government is also attempting to establish an economic boycott of Nicaragua, choking off international trade and development assistance. This situation would be very serious if it were not for the countervailing support of the Socialist International which has articulated the efforts of some 53 social democratic parties in Europe, Latin America and elsewhere (as well as the NDP) to maintain a policy of non-intervention in Central America. Mexico and Venezuela have played a major part in supporting the new Nicaragua, protecting it from intervention and integrating it into international trade. Canada has just recently lent its support to the policy articulated by Mexico and Venezuela.

Many Canadians in various walks of life are committed to helping build the new Nicaragua, including many members of our own university community. Plans are now being developed for co-operation on teaching and research projects. We hope that these will lead to closer relationships between the university and college community in Toronto and our colleagues in Nicaragua. Those who wish to participate — or simply to find out more about Nicaragua are encouraged to contact me.

FRI. FEB. 11, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: N. Chomsky by Professor R. Binnick, Scarborough College, University of Toronto.

FRI. FEB. 11, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. General Policy Committee Meeting.

FRI. FEB. 11, 3.30 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club Party.

TUES. FEB. 22, 11 a.m., R-3232. Literary Reading by Rudy Wiebe.

FEB. 22–MAR. 11, The Gallery. Exhibit by Anne Leon (ceramics) and Marlene Moore (prints).

THURS. FEB. 24, 4 p.m., Council Chamber. Scarborough College Council Meeting.

FRI. FEB. 25, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: C.S. Peirce by Professor J. Brunning, University of Toronto.

Whose doors are those anyway?

The doors of corporate power are majestically depicted on the first of a series of posters to appear around Scarborough College.

Sponsored by the Alumni Association, the media campaign promotes an awareness of the organization's existence amongst its future membership. The message is that alumni are a network of people who have something in common, namely Scarborough College, and who have remained interested in the College and its members.

The need to increase awareness among students prior to the time they become eligible for alumni status was given high priority by the Alumni Association Executive following a survey last March. Among first year students only 28% indicated they knew of the existence of the Scarborough College Alumni Association. (Technically any student who discontinues his or her studies after completion of five courses is able to enjoy alumni privileges and may expect to be solicited for a donation to the Varsity Fund.)

College art students gain recognition

Two students at Scarborough College are gaining increasing recognition in the field of fine art.

Clint Champion, who is studying print-making with Don Holman, received the award for the best print in the recent Arts Scarborough Second Juried Members' Art Show. The award was presented by the architectural firm of Moriyama & Teshima for his print entitled "It Feels so Strong".

Sandy Brand, a fourth-year student, currently has paintings on display at the Pauline McGibbon Cultural Centre. She is one of 15 artists invited to take part in the exhibit, called "New Artist Directions '83."

Opera tickets for sale

Mezzanine, O'Keefe Centre, two tickets for "The Coronation of Poppea" April 22; two for "La Fanciulla del West" April 8 (opening night). Price: $61 for two, $100 for four. Contact C. Sparling, 284-3218, Room S551.

Prominent among those involved with the campaign is John Wright. Credit for the design of the campaign logo belongs to Scott Richardson. In addition to the posters, buttons bearing the new logo were distributed during Orientation to first year students and T-shirts are available.

Alumni President Jim Higgins believes a student at U.C. or St. Mikes becomes aware very quickly of the role alumni play in maintaining those bastions of history and tradition. Scarborough College Students need to know of the interest many alumni have in their college, too. "Given that the Association has become increasingly active since 1978, we now have the people resources to help with College activities such as Orientation and CareerThink. Slowly, we'll achieve the kind of profile where we won't need a direct advertising campaign".

By the way, whose doors are those anyway?

Spectrum

Volume II No. 11/March 2, 1983

Unemployed residents get free instruction

More than 60 Scarborough residents have become involved in Canada's first program of free university instruction for local unemployed.

The special series of lectures on "Social Change in Canada" being held by Scarborough College at Cedarbrae Public Library, with the cooperation of the Scarborough Public Library Board, is attracting an average of 25 people each week.

"The age range is from early twenties to the sixties, which makes for a lively class discussion," according to Sociology Professor John Alan Lee.

As well, the College has opened 20 courses ranging from anthropology to fine arts, to any unemployed resident who would like to sit in. About 40 residents have already applied.

Committee calls for funding suggestions

Proposals concerning funding of cultural activities on the Scarborough campus are being solicited by the Special Committee of Scarborough College Student's Council which the General Policy Committee established to investigate funding sources.

Professor Russell Brown, Chairman of the Cultural Affairs Committee, and member of the new task force, has called for submissions from any interested members of the College community.

The committee consists of Professor Brown, Students' Council President David Fulford, and one other member to be appointed by the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Task force to study future options

A task force which Vice President and Provost David Strangway has proposed to consider future directions for Scarborough College will be widely consultative in nature, Principal Joan E. Foley assured the College Council meeting on February 24.

Dr. Strangway announced the formation of a task force following his address to a special council meeting February 9 when he suggested new initiatives would be needed to offset demographic predictions of declining enrolment within the next decade. At that meeting he emphasized the need for continuing dialogue, as well as the necessity for the College to come up with solutions of its own to counteract the enrolment trends he was forecasting.

The provost has indicated to Principal Foley that he will be in consultation with her regarding the nature of the task force, that he will seek input from the College about individuals who might serve as members, and that the group will proceed in a highly consultative manner.

At the February 24 Council Meeting, Associate Dean Michael Krashinsky cited new projections from the office of the Vice President, Planning which indicate virtually all the drop in enrolment will occur after 1990. These revised projections now indicate an enrolment of close to 2900 in 1994, or a drop of approximately 18% compared with 1982. Previous figures had suggested a decline of more than 30%.

College Council briefs

At its meeting on February 24, College Council —

- overwhelmingly endorsed a motion adopted by the General Policy Committee expressing the extreme displeasure and resentment of both the Principal and the committee that the University of Toronto has indicated an intent to establish an animal holding facility on the Scarborough Campus.
- approved a library collection development policy which provides guidelines for the College Librarian on whom the final responsibility for collection development rests.
- approved in principle the role of the School of Continuing Studies in providing non-credit continuing education courses at the College.
- tabled a motion to approve a new course evaluation form which, if accepted, would become obligatory.

Date announced for Spring Convocation

Spring Convocation for Scarborough College will be held this year on Wednesday, June 8 at 10.30 a.m. in Convocation Hall. U of T bachelors' degrees in both arts and science will be conferred by the Chancellor of the University on graduating students from the Scarborough campus.

College Council nominations open

The annual elections for Scarborough College Council and its committees for 1983 have been announced. The following schedule will apply:

Tuesday, March 15 — Call for nominations for elections to Council and its committees.

Wednesday, March 30 — Last day for the filing of nominations

Tuesday and Wednesday, April 5 and 6 — Elections, if necessary, to Council of student representatives.

Thursday, April 7 — Elections, if necessary, to Council of graduate students and administrative and support staff representatives.

Thursday, April 14 — Last day for receipt by the secretary of mail ballots for representatives to committees.

Elections to fill the following vacancies will be held during March and April:

SCARBOROUGH COLLEGE COUNCIL

Full-time students

- Humanities, six vacancies
- Sciences, six vacancies
- Social Sciences, five vacancies

Part-time students

- six vacancies from any division

Graduate students, Teaching Assistants and Part-time demonstrators

- Humanities, three vacancies
- Sciences, three vacancies
- Social Sciences, three vacancies

Administrative and support staff

- three vacancies

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Faculty representatives

- Humanities, two vacancies
- Life Sciences, two vacancies
- Social Sciences, one vacancy

Librarian representative

- one vacancy

Full-time students

- one vacancy in each of Humanities, Life Sciences, and Social Sciences

Part-time students

- one vacancy, from any division

Graduate students, Teaching Assistants and Part-time demonstrators

- one vacancy, from any division

GENERAL POLICY COMMITTEE

Faculty representatives

- Humanities, one vacancy
- Physical Sciences, one vacancy
- Social Sciences, one vacancy

Librarian representative

- one vacancy

Full-time students

- one vacancy in each of Humanities, Life Sciences, Physical Sciences, and Social Sciences.

Part-time students

- one vacancy, from any division

Graduate students, Teaching Assistants and Part-time demonstrators

- one vacancy, from any division

Administrative and support staff

- one vacancy

Nomination forms are available from the Registrar's Office, Student Services and Student Council offices. For further information, please contact Mrs. L. Pearson, Assistant Secretary of Council, Telephone 3300, Room S-415.

Nominations sought for athletic award

The A.F.W. Plumptre Award is the College's top athletic award and is presented to a person, whether student, staff, faculty, or alumni, who has made an outstanding contribution in the realm of leadership.

Nominations should be forwarded to the Physical Education Office, R-2255, by Friday, March 18, 1983.

Genetic engineering subject of workshop

Scarborough College was the scene of an important meeting on genetic engineering when the Canadian Society for Cell Biology held its Eastern Winter Workshop here on February 18 and 19. The gathering was organized by Professor Ian R. Brown of the Division of Life Sciences.

Some 22 speakers from prominent laboratories in Eastern Canada delivered invited addresses on "Current Applications of Recombinant DNA Technology" to a capacity audience of 240 research scientists.

The meeting consisted of five sessions focussing on recent advances in genetic engineering in systems ranging from viral, bacterial and fungal to plant and animal. While the presentations concentrated on current progress in basic laboratory research, industrial applications, such as the feasibility of large scale production of synthetic insulin, were also discussed.

The strength and diversity of the presentations were impressive. The audience reaction was that research in genetic engineering in Central Ontario has progressed greatly in the last few years to the point where a very attractive alternative now exists to the meccas of the Boston and San Francisco areas.

Many of the participants at the meeting commented very favourably on the facilities at the College, suggesting that it is an ideal setting for meetings of this type.

There were also many comments on the excellent organization of the two-day meeting, both in content and in format. "Such warm commendation is good for the College's image, about which we are all so concerned these days," commented Professor G. R. Williams, Chairman of the Life Sciences Division, "and we are therefore all indebted to Ian Brown for a job well conceived and well executed."

FOR SALE

75 Chevy Nova, 6 cyl. Automatic Trans, Power Brakes, 50,000 miles, stereo cassette. Radials. Winter tires, new battery, one owner. $1800. or best offer. Call 284-3186 or 492-7720 between 10 a.m. — 10 p.m.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Propose names for College honour

Nominations are now open for the Honourary Membership of Scarborough College award.

First established in 1973, the award was set up "to honour, within the community of Scarborough College, those persons who have contributed substantially to the life and development of the College."

Thomas P. Abel, Partner with Clarkson Gordon in Scarborough and co-chairman of the library building campaign, received this distinction in 1981. Of the past seven recipients, he is the only one who was not a student or member of the staff at Scarborough College.

The award is conferred by Scarborough College Council and presented during the reception following annual Spring Convocation. Eligibility for the award is as follows:

- a) ex-members of staff, both academic and non-academic.
- b) graduates of at least one year's standing.

Athletics banquet tickets on sale soon

On the evening of Saturday, March 26, many of the college's athletes will be celebrating the year's activities and accomplishments at the Annual Athletic Awards Banquet.

Hosted by the Scarborough College Athletics Association, the evening serves to formally honour Scarborough's many talented athletes and leaders, and to bring attention to Scarborough's strengths on our own campus and in the university-wide Interfaculty programme.

The evening begins with cocktails and dinner, followed by presentations and dancing. Attended by many of the college's and university's dignitaries, our Athletic Awards Banquet is renowned as a "premier" event.

As always, tickets are limited in number. They will go on sale on Monday, March 14 in the Physical Education Office, Room R-2255.

Cost is $12.50 per person. All college members are cordially invited to attend.

c) non-members (and who have never been members).

Members of the College are invited to forward nominations to the Principal's office. Nominations should include a brief statement indicating the contribution made by the nominee to the life and development of the College. The nomination should bear the signatures of at least two members of the College.

NOTE: The closing date of nominations for Honourary membership is March 28.

Connaught Fund grants awarded

Professor R.A. Poirier, Chemistry, has received a Connaught research grant for his research project entitled "Investigation using Quantum Chemical Methods of Selected Chemical Problems."

Professor Nicholas Eyles, Geology, has received a Connaught research grant for his project entitled "The Geology of Glaciated Basins — a Proposal for Basic and Applied Research" for costs associated with the Alaskan portion of the project. He and his wife Carolyn, a doctoral student in Geology, have recently returned from a special trip to Khartoum in connection with their research.

Women's Studies prize submissions sought

Students who write essays on any aspect of Women's Studies may be eligible for the Anita Fitz Gerald Prize. The prize will be awarded at the Principal's Honours Dinner in the Fall for the best essay submitted as part of course work within the Women's Studies field.

Deadline for submission of essays is May 1. Instructors who wish to have essays written by their students considered for the award should contact Professor Suniti Namjoshi, Room H-505, telephone 3178.

College Calendar

For Humanities March Lecture Series events, see page four.

CONTINUING TO MAR. 11, The Gallery. Exhibit by Anne Leon (ceramics) and Marlene Moore (prints).

FRI. MAR. 4, 12 noon., S-357. Poetry Reading: Elizabeth Woods, former President, League of Canadian Poets, will read from her works.

MON. MAR. 7, 3 p.m., Campbell Lounge. Career Talk on M.B.A. programme at York University by Charmaine Courtis, Manager of Student Programmes & Admissions.

FRI. MAR. 11, 3:30 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club Party.

MAR. 14 — APR. 1, The Gallery. Exhibit by Susan Schelle (installation).

Places still open for first aid course

Are your first aid skills in need of refreshing? The Health and Safety Committee is sponsoring a third course scheduled to run later this year for eight consecutive workdays.

If you would like to register first discuss with your supervisor whether arrangements can be made to release you from your normal duties to attend the course. Should this prove possible, please obtain a registration form (available in Room S-303A), complete and have your supervisor sign it and return it not later than March 11, 1983 to Barbara Hill, Health and Safety Committee. Please note that holders of currently valid St. John Ambulance Certificates (obtained within the past 24 months) are not eligible for the present course.

There must be at least 20 registrants for the course to be offered. As soon as the enrolment minimum is reached, you will be notified that the course is to be held.

The Committee is grateful for the interest you have shown in promoting a safe work environment at the College.

*G.F. Israelstam, Chairman,
Health and Safety Committee*

March Lecture Series in Humanities

Monday 28th 11 a.m. Room S-361 Thirty Years of Canadian Theatre 1:30 p.m. T.V. Studio Actor's Workshop DOUG CAMPBELL 3 p.m. Room S-143 Film Triumph of the Will CLARKE MACKEY Film Maker	Tuesday 1st	Wednesday 2nd 12 noon Room 3205A Writing for Magazines JACK BATTEN 3 p.m. Room S-309 Film Les Diaboliques	Thursday 3rd 12 noon Room H-305 Classical and Jazz Concert 2 p.m. The Council Chamber Film Les Diaboliques	Friday 4th 12 noon Room H-215 G. Ryle J. HUNTER
Monday 7th 3 p.m. Room S-143 Film Thirty-nine Steps	Tuesday 8th	Wednesday 9th 12 noon The Council Chamber Writing for the Stage ERIKA RITTER 3 p.m. Room S-309 The Search for Alexander JANOS FEDAK 8 p.m. Drama: T.V. Studio No. 1 — The Time of Your Life 9 — 12th March	Thursday 10th	Friday 11th 12 noon Room H-215 G. Bergmann F. WILSON
Monday 14th 3 p.m. Room S-143 Film Grapes of Wrath	Tuesday 15th	Wednesday 16th 10 a.m. The Council Chamber Comparison of Celtic &amp; Greek Mythology ANN DOOLEY	Thursday 17th 9 a.m. Room H-309 His Own Work STEPHEN CRUISE 4 p.m. T.V. Viewing Room Film Orphee 4:30 p.m. Room S-319 Natural Instincts &amp; Philosophical Reflection BARRY STROUD	Friday 18th 12 noon Room H-215 J.L. Austin L. FORGUSON
Monday 21st 3 p.m. Room S-143 Film Citizen Kane	Tuesday 22nd 1 p.m. Room H-215 Discovery of Insulin — What Really Happened MICHAEL BLISS	Wednesday 23rd	Thursday 24th 4 p.m. T.V. Viewing Room Film Testament of Orpheus 7 p.m. Room H-309 The Influence of St. Francis of Assisi on the Arts GEORGE GALAVARIS 7:30 p.m. The St. Lawrence Centre On the Razzle T. STOPPARD 8 p.m. Drama: T.V. Studio No. 1 — A Greek Tragedy 23 — 26 March	Friday 25th 12 noon Room H-215 H.L.A. Hart P. NOWELL-SMITH
Monday 28th 3 p.m. The Council Chamber Poet DOROTHY LIVESAY 3 p.m. Room S-143 Film The Great Dictator	Tuesday 29th 3 p.m. The Council Chamber Hellenistic: The First Modern Art JOHN ONIANS 7 p.m. Room H-309 Giotto St. Francis and the New Humanism DOROTHY GLASS	Wednesday 30th 3 p.m. The Council Chamber The Encyclopedia of Renaissance Rhetoric JAMES S. MURPHY	Thursday 31st 12 noon Room H-305 Concert NANCY MATHIS 4 p.m. T.V. Viewing Room Film Orfeu Noir	April 1st GOOD FRIDAY

Spectrum

Volume 11 No. 12/March 16, 1983

Eminent art historians to visit College

Two well-known art historians will visit the Scarborough campus within the next two weeks to take part in the March lecture series in Humanities.

George Galavaris, professor of Art History at McGill University who comes to the University thanks to a Snider Bequest, will speak on "Francis, the Herald of God and his Singers: the influence of St. Francis of Assisi on the Arts (painting, sculpture, poetry and music)" at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 24 in Room H-309.

Not only is Professor Galavaris widely recognized as a scholar and teacher in the field of ancient, medieval and renaissance art, but is a professional, practicing painter as well, exhibiting his works regularly in Canada and Europe.

The second art historian taking part in the lecture series is Dorothy Glass, professor of art history at the University of Buffalo. A specialist in Italian medieval art, Professor Glass will speak on "Giotto, St. Francis and the New Humanism" 7 p.m., March 29 in H-309.

Garden club seeks new crop of members

Any member of the College can apply to have a garden plot this summer. The gardens are 15 feet by 30 feet, with good soil and a water supply. The membership fee is $10.

If you are interested, please send your name address and phone number (soon!) to Cathy Pickett, Garden Club, (via College mail).

Group to study research needs

Arising out of discussions in Committees of College Council and among the Chairmen, the Principal has decided to establish a committee to study the needs of the programmes of research and scholarship being conducted by the faculty of Scarborough College.

The committee will be asked to evaluate how well these needs are being met and to make recommendations to the Principal respecting the future.

Events group formed to plan celebrations

In the next two years, the University of Toronto will be celebrating National Universities Week (Oct. 2 to 8, 1983), Ontario's bicentennial (1984), Toronto sesquicentennial (1984) and the centennial of the admission of women to the University (1985).

Charlotte Caton, executive assistant to the Principal, is a member of a special events group formed by Vice-President — Institutional Relations Donald Ivey to plan and coordinate programs for each of these celebrations.

Anyone involved in projects which could be related to these areas, or who may have ideas or suggestions, should consult Charlotte Caton. The first meeting of the group is scheduled for April 5.

Among matters which the committee is asked to consider are:

- mechanisms for publicizing research done at the College including the feasibility of publishing a research digest;
- the potential for attracting new sources of research funds to the College and how to exploit this potential;
- the relation between the resources, expertise and needs of the College and the resources, expertise and needs of the local community, including business;
- services required in support of research and their cost;
- the desirability of establishing an ongoing Principal's Advisory Committee on Research, and, if desired, its terms of reference and composition. (It should be noted that the Research Space Policy recently approved by College Council requires an advisory committee to the Principal to consider space allocation — should this be a function of an Advisory Committee on Research which deals also with other research matters or of an Advisory Committee on Space which deals also with other space matters in the College?)

The Committee has been asked to report by May 15, 1983.

Its membership is Professor Rorke Bryan (Chairman), Professors Ian Brown, Karen Dion, Michael Gervers, Morley Gunderson, Jerry Kresge, Howard Sobel and John Westgate

Faculty activities

In January, Professor Philipp Kronberg, Astronomy, was one of a group of eight lecturers invited from North America and Europe to the "Winter School on Extragalactic Energetic Sources" at Bangalore, India.

The Winter School was attended by approximately 100 scientists, mostly astronomers, but also other physicists in related fields from all over India. It was organized by the Tata Institute of Fundamental Research in association with the Raman Research Institute, the Indian Space Research Organization, the Indian Institute of Astrophysics, and the Indian Institute of Science.

The lectures will be published in the form of a proceedings. These will form a very useful text book on extragalactic topics such as experimental cosmology, optical and infrared observations of extragalactic radio sources, recent VLBI results and theory, extragalactic x-ray astronomy, etc.

Professor Kronberg also took advantage of his stay in India to visit the Proton Decay Experiment 2.3 km below ground in the Kolar Gold Mine not far from Bangalore. Other sight-seeing tours of interest included a visit to the low frequency radio telescope at Ooty and the Tata Institute's research facilities there, and a 2½ hour elephant ride in the Bandipur Wildlife Park in South India.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Services suffer from cutbacks

Two services offered by the College are the latest to be affected by budget cutbacks. These are the Teaching/Learning Unit, which will close on April 30, and the Career Counselling and Placement Centre, which will be closed during the summer months and will only operate four days a week when it reopens in the fall.

The Teaching/Learning Unit, which was begun in 1976, has been directed by Anne Frost since September, 1980. During the past two and one half years, 342 students have been aided in personal sessions, while some 1000 took part in workshops organized by the unit. The director also acted as consultant to faculty on teaching skills.

Helen Pressey, coordinator of career counselling and placement at Scarborough, feels new graduates will be the most seriously affected by the reduction in the centre's services, as well as those still looking for a summer job. The number of students who visited the centre in 1981-82 reached a record of 13,500, and, if current trends continue, there will be even greater demands imposed upon the centre this year.

CHAIRS FOR SALE

Numerous used Chelsea chairs from Student Residence. These chairs have wooden frames and sling-type seats.

Some at $10 each, some at $5 each, depending on their condition. Contact Mr. J. Pickles at 284-3180.

Letter to the Editor

Re: a "member of the Students' Council pointed out that the future of Scarborough College is vital to handicapped students because of the difficulties the downtown U of T campus poses in terms of accessibility".

Spectrum, January 26, 1983.

As Co-ordinator of Services to Disabled Persons at U of T (i.e. all three campuses), I wish to state that this is not the case.

First, disabled students are currently enrolled on all three campuses. In fact, the number of those who use wheelchairs is greater on the St. George campus than on the Erindale and Scarborough campuses combined.

Secondly, ramps and washrooms are not the only indicators of accessibility for disabled students. There are, for example, accommodations for hearing-impaired and visually-impaired persons, modified on-campus housing, accessible routes within the campus and reliable transportation for those who live off-campus. Although it would be ideal, all buildings need not be completely accessible; a critical number, together with judicious time-tabling can allow programme accessibility.

The various arrangements made should not be viewed as special but necessary to enable disabled students to pursue studies on a comparable basis to their peers. In time, the process of integration will become less self-conscious. Thanks to technological advances, more integration at the lower levels of education and an increased awareness of their potential, disabled students will soon be able to choose their programmes of study using the same criteria as non-disabled students. This right should indeed be exercised at U of T and can be now, with sufficient notice.

Eileen M. Barbeau,
Co-ordinator of Services to Disabled Persons.

CANADA'S ENERGY IS
MINDPOWER

Sandbrook launches development studies program

A group of academics at U of T, some 37 to date, have formed an interdisciplinary unit for developmental studies. The unit developed from the realization, according to a recent article in The Toronto Star, that U of T houses one of the greatest collections of Third World experts in any seat of learning in the world, but all are in different disciplines and there was no bringing together of any cohesive research.

Richard Sandbrook, professor of political science at Scarborough College and on the downtown campus, was appointed to launch a Development Studies Program.

Other members of the program from Scarborough's Division of Social Sciences include Professors R.B. Bryan,

A. Rubinoff, William Cowie, J.-L. de Lannoy, R.W. Shirley and Ian Parker, while Professor Albert Berry is a member of the project's steering committee.

In applying for a $300,000 Connaught grant to fund the program, the group stated: "Slowly there is emerging an international ethic that recognizes an obligation to try and ensure to all human beings at least such basic freedoms as freedom from starvation, from uncontrolled epidemics, from torture and from arbitrary and political unrest".

The Development Studies Program, writes Professor Sandbrook in the March 7 U of T Bulletin, "is ambitious in both its objectives and its approach. We aim to shed light on the domestic and trans-national constraints upon basic-needs-oriented development patterns, and to recommend ways to mitigate some of these constraints. Obviously, we conceive of development as more than economic growth. Development must therefore include . . . the satisfaction of a minimum level of basic human needs; a more equitable distribution of economic resources than that which normally obtains; and popular participation in the formulation, implementation and benefits of development projects — and of politics more generally."

Three study groups have already been formed. The first, on human rights and foreign policy, is convened by political science Professor Cranford Pratt, a world-renowned expert on Third World affairs who taught a course in Canadian foreign policy at Scarborough College in the fall 1981 term. A second on middle powers and the north-south dialogue, is convened by Professor Gerald Helleiner, internationally-known development economist. Professor Sandbrook himself is convening the third study group, on the state and development strategies. A series of bi-weekly seminars for graduate students is also being held.

Scarborough College has long been interested in development studies, and this interest is manifest this year in the offering to students of a College program in development studies.

Fulford runs for SAC president

David Fulford, currently president of the Scarborough College Students' Council, may become the next president of the university's Students' Administrative Council (SAC).

Fulford, a fourth-year political science student on the Scarborough campus, is one of four candidates for the position in the U of T's top student body. University-wide elections are being held today and tomorrow, and results will be known by Friday, March 18.

If elected, he would become the third student in the relatively short history of the College to become SAC President. Other SAC presidents from Scarborough were Rod Hurd in 1970-71 and Brian Hill in 1977-78.

Running with Fulford are Elizabeth Hamon, the current vice-president of the St. Michael's College Student Union, and Dave McNeil of the Faculty of Forestry, who hope to be elected SAC vice-presidents.

Workshop on metaphor attracts wide interest

Visitors from as far afield as Kent, England, and Adelphi, N.Y. will be on the Scarborough campus Friday, March 18 to take part in a workshop on Metaphor.

Organized by the psychology events committee at Scarborough and the U of T's phenomenology group, the day long event will also feature two members of the Scarborough faculty: psychology Professor John Kennedy, who will speak on "Metaphor in Pictures and the Blind" and research associate Annabel Cohen, who will discuss "Metaphor in Music". Psychology Professor A. Kukla will chair the sessions.

R. Crowther will be here from England to talk on young children's comprehension of metaphoric and polysemantic language, while P. Bouissac of Victoria, editor of "Semiotic Enquiry", will discuss the hidden face of metaphors. Others also on the program are R. Hoffman of Adelphi, N.Y., and two faculty members from O.I.S.E.: B. Houldin and P. Gamlin. All sessions will be held in the Council Chamber.

Fulford has had considerable experience in student politics, having already served for two years on SAC as well as two years on SCSC. As SCSC president, he brought a new constitution to the Scarborough Students' Council, and established positive ties with the faculty and administration on the Scarborough campus.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO APR. 1, The Gallery. Exhibit by Susan Schelle (installation).

THURS. MAR. 17, 9 a.m., H-309.

Lecture series in Humanities: His Own Work by Stephen Cruise.

THURS. MAR. 17, 4 p.m., T.V. Viewing Room. Film: Orpheus.

THURS. MAR. 17, 4:30 p.m., S-319. Lecture series in Humanities: Natural Instincts & Philosophical Reflection by Barry Stroud.

FRI. MAR. 18, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: J. L. Austin by L. Forgunson.

MON. MAR. 21, 3 p.m., S-143. Film: Citizen Kane.

TUES. MAR. 22, 1 p.m., H-215. Lecture: Discovery of Insulin — What Really Happened by Michael Bliss.

WED. MAR. 23, 11 a.m., S-357. Poetry Reading by Elizabeth Woods.

WED.—SAT. MAR. 23–26, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama Production: A Greek Tragedy.

THURS. MAR. 24, 12 noon, H-305. Concert: Nancy Mathis.

THURS. MAR. 24, 4 p.m., T.V. Viewing Room. Film: Testament of Orpheus.

THURS. MAR. 24, 7 p.m., H-309. Lecture series in Humanities: The Influence of St. Francis of Assisi on the Arts by George Galavaris.

THURS. MAR. 24, 7:30 p.m., The St. Lawrence Centre. On the Razzle by T. Stoppard.

FRI. MAR. 25, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: H.L.A. Hart by P. Nowell-Smith.

MON. MAR. 28, 3 p.m., Campbell Lounge. Poetry Reading by Dorothy Livesay.

MON. MAR. 28, 4 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council meeting.

MON. MAR. 28, 3 p.m., S-143. Film: The Great Dictator.

TUES. MAR. 29, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Lecture: Hellenistic: The first Modern Art by John Onians.

TUES. MAR. 29, 7 p.m., H-309.

Lecture: Giotto St. Francis and the New Humanism by Dorothy Glass.

WED. MAR. 30, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Lecture: The Encyclopedia of Renaissance Rhetoric by James S. Murphy.

THURS. MAR. 31, 4 p.m. T.V. Viewing Room. Film: Orfeu Noir.

Art of Alexandra Hall on exhibit in Whitby

Selected works of Alexandra Hall, Tutor in Fine Art at Scarborough College, are now on view at The Station Gallery of Whitby Arts Inc., Henry and Victoria Street in Whitby. Gallery hours are Tuesday to Thursday, 12 noon to 5 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.; Fridays, noon to 5 p.m.; Saturdays and Sundays 2 to 5 p.m.

The exhibit, which runs to April 3, is part of the "Artists with their Work" program organized by the Art Gallery of Ontario extension services.

Two original sketches by costume designer Desmond Heeley have been presented to the Bladen Library by the staff and students of the 1982 Stratford Summer Seminars. Seminar staff members Leigha Browne and Professor Andrew Patenall admire Heeley's costume design for Louka in the play Arms and the Man. On the wall behind is his sketch of the hairpiece for Madame Petkoff in the same play.

Scarborough graduates among new C.A.s

In a list published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario of students who most recently passed the final examination required to become a Chartered Accountant, a number of familiar names were noticed.

Thirteen of the successful students from Toronto were recognized by Commerce Professor Harvey Babiak as being Scarborough College graduates. They are Christopher R. Cawston, David N. Chong Yen, William F. Deneault, Jack C. Fortnum, Ismail A. Gulamali, Minaz Karmali, Stephen Landau, Erwin A. Psotka, John J.D. Ross, Gery J. Stern, Luana M. Tustian, Guiseppe Vercilla, and Ronald Young. Congratulations to you all and best wishes for a long and successful career.

CAR FOR SALE

Volvo — 1975, 242 GL. Very good condition, 2 door, 5 speed, (i.e. over-drive) fuel injection, AM/FM stereo, cassette, certified. Asking $2800. Phone Gerry at 465-7797 (after 7:00 p.m.); 493-1220 (work).

Spectrum

Volume II No. 13/March 30, 1983

Budget cutbacks force SLI cancellations

Scarborough College's Summer Language Institute, which was to begin July 4, has become the latest victim of budget cutbacks.

The French language immersion program, started by Professor Louis Mignault in 1974, was the only one available in the Metropolitan Toronto area. Its unique teaching approach has been highly successful in producing bilingual students. Many teachers of French have also found the course useful in improving their skills.

Borough expects building boom

While recently published enrolment projections might suggest an uncertain future for university education in Scarborough, the Borough of Scarborough itself anticipates an exciting rate of growth in the next few years.

A recent feature article in the Neighbours East edition of The Toronto Star points to a major commercial building boom around the Civic Centre, with house building in other parts of the borough once again on the rise.

Hugh Heron, president of the Toronto Home Builders Association, is quoted as saying that, compared with the rest of Metro, more houses will be built in Scarborough than in any other municipality this year.

Four major developments are contributing to the growth of the Town Centre. They include a new nine-story office building, to be called the

Campbell Award presented to Lee

The D.R. Campbell Merit Award, first established in 1973 to recognize outstanding contribution by a member of the College community beyond that person's normal role, was presented to Sociology Professor John Alan Lee at Monday's meeting of College Council.

This is the first time in its 10-year history that the award has gone to a faculty member.

In making the presentation, Council Chairman John Bassili spoke of the sensitivity and insight shown by Professor Lee in initiating a program of free lectures for the unemployed. As illustration he referred to Professor Lee's own words: "One of the great burdens of unemployment is the blow to self-esteem and the mental stagnation and depression involved. Opportunities for learning experiences could contribute significantly to the well-being of the unemployed."

A report recently released by Professor Lee showed a total of 77 persons had participated in one or both of the programs offered for the unemployed (lectures on the sociology or philosophy of social change at Cedarbrae Library, and the auditing of some 20 courses here at the College.)

Scarborough students lose one, win one

Much to the disappointment of practically everyone on the Scarborough Campus, David Fulford, this year's president of the Scarborough Students' Council, was defeated in his bid to become next year's president of U of T's Students' Administrative Council. He was edged out by Erindale's Mike Hammond by only 389 votes across the three campuses.

However, on a more positive note, Scarborough student Rick Perkins has been elected a member of the U of T's Governing Council. His one-year term as one of the two representatives of full-time Arts and Science students begins July 1.

Canada Life Centre, which will open this summer; a $38 million federal government building to be completed in the fall of 1984; a start on the first building of a planned 428 million complex of office buildings, condominium towers, a hotel and an industrial park; and the completion of the Borough's elevated rapid transit line by 1984.

The Star article also cites at least a dozen subdivision projects now under way. Housing builders and developers are bubbling with optimism.

All these figures add up to thousands of potential new jobs within the borough, and population increases of even greater proportions.

And with city status for Scarborough only a few months away, Scarborough College is proud to be a part of such a thriving and expanding community.

Tags for tennis on sale next week

No matter what the weather may bring, you know that spring has really arrived when the tennis tags go on sale at the Rec. Centre.

The date this year is Wednesday, April 6. Any faculty or staff member of the Recreation Centre is eligible to buy a tag for $10.50. Tags will be on sale in the Teaching Studio from 9 a.m. until noon and from 4 to 7 p.m.

The number of tags is limited, so members are advised to register early. All registrants should be prepared to show their membership cards as I.D.

Any tags remaining after April 6 may be purchased in the Phys. Ed. office, Room R-2255, during regular office hours.

Tips on communicating in brochure on hearing

The University of Toronto has produced a brochure, Hearing Impairments, which is designed to increase the understanding of hearing persons. Tips on communicating in group and in one-to-one situations are listed.

Resources mentioned include a personal F.M. system, which is available for loan to any member of the University community.

If you would like to have one of these brochures, contact Eileen Barbeau, Co-ordinator of Services to Disabled Persons, at 978-3011 (voice), or 978-3337 (T.D.D.).

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks

Production Assistant:

Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Awards given to top athletes

Another outstanding year for Scarborough campus athletes was celebrated at the athletics association's annual awards banquet March 26.

Seven teams from Scarborough College won interfaculty awards this year, topping even last year's achievement of five winners. The seven championship teams are the men's B hockey, A and B basketball, squash, tennis, A waterpolo and senior A ski team.

Every interfaculty team from Scarborough made the university playoffs. The women's basketball, volleyball and senior A ski teams were all finalists, as were the men's A hockey, B waterpolo, soccer and football teams. The women's ice hockey and men's volleyball teams made it to the semi-finals.

This year's Plumptre Award, presented to the person at Scarborough College, either student, alumni, faculty or staff member, who has made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of sport, recreation and athletics at the College went to Karate coordinator Ken Fisher. Fisher has been giving Karate classes at the College for 15 years, even before the present athletic facilities were built. He has developed other Karate instructors and provided the training necessary for a number of Karate enthusiasts to achieve their black belts.

The Dickinson Awards, presented to the outstanding male and female athlete at Scarborough College for excellent ability and participation went to Gary MacDougall, and Laurie Barber and Susan Pala, who shared the distinction. MacDougall was also top male athlete last year.

Professor Michael Bunce received the Sportsman of the Year Award, presented to a faculty or staff member for outstanding participation in, and enthusiasm for, the Scarborough College sports and physical education program.

Athletic Leadership Awards were presented to Tom Allan (championship men's A basketball), Kelly Breuls (women's dance program), Ian Erwood (championship men's A waterpolo), Robert Leonhardt (championship men's A basketball), Gary MacDougall (championship men's squash team captain), Chris Machin (championship men's B ice hockey team), Art Mannarn (coordinator, College ice hockey program), Steve Novorolsky (championship men's B ice hockey team), Brad Orr (championship men's B ice hockey team), Ken Rose (championship men's B basketball team), Steve Sormaz (championship men's C ice hockey team).

More improvements scheduled for R-wing

More improvements in the R-wing's air flow system as well as changes to the roof of the library will be made after classes are over this term.

During the week of April 11, between the end of classes and the beginning of the examination period, the ventilation system on the fifth floor will be upgraded. The work will involve some intermittent noise and lack of air flow.

During the period between the end of examinations and the beginning of the summer session, May 9 to 13, a portion of the library roof which was not installed correctly will be reinstalled. Work on this project will be heard in the library itself, and some fumes from the roofing process may enter the buildings, depending on the direction of the wind. The scheduling of these repairs is dependent on weather conditions. Work may have to extend past May 13 if it rains.

NEXT SPECTRUM APRIL 27

There will be a four-week gap between this issue of Spectrum and the next one. Publication date for Vol II Number 14 will be Wednesday, April 27. Deadline for submission of material will be the previous Wednesday,

HOUSE FOR RENT, GUILDWOOD

Three bedrooms, with study; 5 appliances; large yard. Available from 1 July 1983 to 30 June 1984; $650 furnished; unfurnished negotiable. Contact: Dr. R. Boonstra, 284-3221.

Faculty activities

An exhibition of works by senior art tutor Janis Hoogstraten is on display until April 17 at the Art Gallery of Northumberland in Cobourg, Ont.

Professor John S. Moir, History, who was recently appointed adjunct professor at the Toronto School of Theology, has had his book, titled "A History of Biblical Studies in Canada: A sense of Proportion" published by Scholars Press of California. The book traces the development of biblical studies as a university discipline against the historic background of Canadian church-state relations and the unique relationship of religion and higher education. It is one of a series published to mark the 100th anniversary of the Society of Biblical Literature and is the only Canadian writing in the series.

Canadian Perspectives: lectures for seniors

Canadian Perspectives, a lecture series for senior University alumni and friends, is coming to the Scarborough campus beginning April 7.

Sponsored by the U of T Senior Alumni, the series started on the downtown campus and proved so popular it quickly became oversubscribed.

The lectures are academically oriented in that at each session a U of T faculty member speaks for an hour on a provocative subject. Following a coffee break, a second hour of questions and discussion is held. Each lecture is Thursday at 10 a.m.

The speakers and topics for the Scarborough Canadian Perspectives series include: April 7, Joan Foley, Principal, Scarborough College, April 14, Prof. Michael Bunce, Geography, Landscape in Distress: The Urban Fringe; April 21, Prof. Andrew Patenall, English, Shakespeare and Stratford; April 28, Dr. E. Llewellyn-Thomas, Medicine, Bioengineering; May 5, Dr. H.A. Regier, Environmental Studies, The Environment.

Group of seven authors: Professors Pedro Leon (Spanish), Timothy McGee (music), Patricia Vicari (English), Eleanor Irwin (classics), John Warden (classics), Guiseppe Scavizzi (fine art), Emmet Robbins of St. Michael's College (classics). The eighth contributor was W.S. Anderson of the University of California.

Orpheus: the Metamorphoses of a Myth

Orpheus is best known as the lover who braved the Underworld to rescue his beloved from death; but, on the point of success, he disobeyed a divine command, and lost her for ever. Yet Orpheus was more than this. He was a prophet, a shaman, and a musician who could charm the trees and the animals, a man whose powers survived a violent death.

The myth of Orpheus is as old as the Classical World, and may be older. Its power is shown in its persistence, and its adaptability to different cultural worlds. This book traces the development of the myth from antiquity to the end of the Renaissance, in literature, music and art, showing in particular how this pagan figure could be accommodated as a "type" for Christ in the thought of Mediaeval Christianity.

The book originated from an undergraduate course held at Scarborough College, in which a number of scholars from the University of Toronto took part, most of them members of the Division of Humanities in this college. Space does not permit me to do justice to individual contributions, nor indeed to the book as a whole, except to say that it is a work of scholarship, vision and imagination.

One could have wished for an anthropologist's view, and for some discussion of the Orpheus-type tales which occur outside Western culture. But the book is a notable contribution to interdisciplinary studies, and a testimony to the vitality of the myth,

"a symbol so perdurable because so eloquent in expressing what is fundamental to human striving and frustration."

Ann Boddington

Goldfish swim in art, a future trend?

Members of the College community who ventured into the Gallery off The Meeting Place one day last week were startled to find goldfish swimming in the water trough part of the current exhibit. Was this a new trend in modern art?

Unfortunately for the goldfish, the water had been laced with ethylene glycol to make it appear the right shade of blue. The goldfish were hastily rescued and, according to latest reports, stand a fair chance of surviving in the care of art professor Lora Carney's son.

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO APR. 1, The Gallery. Exhibit by Susan Schelle (installation).

WED. MAR. 30, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. Lecture: The Encyclopedia of Renaissance Rhetoric by James S. Murphy.

THURS. MAR. 31, 4 p.m., T.V. Viewing Room. Film: Orfeu Noir.

APR. 4 — MAY 5, The Gallery. Annual Juried Student Show.

THURS. APR. 7, 11 a.m., R-3232. Literary Reading by Matt Cohen.

THURS. — SAT. APR. 7—9, 8 p.m., T.V. Studio 1. Drama production: A Moon for the Misbegotten.

FRI. APR. 8, 3:30 p.m., Faculty Lounge. Faculty Club's end-of-term wine and cheese party.

FRI. APR. 8, 12 noon, H-215. Lecture on Contemporary Philosophy: D. Davidson by B. Katz.

CBC invites academics to air their ideas

IDEAS is a CBC weeknight stereo program that covers the sciences, humanities, social sciences and the arts through documentaries of two to five hours' duration.

Academics are invited to submit proposals for coverage, to do the necessary interviews, shape the material and finally to script and narrate their series with the assistance of CBC producers. Series production would be on a contract basis.

Those interested are invited to contact the executive producer of IDEAS, Geraldine Sherman, CBC, P.O. Box 500, Stn. A, Toronto M5W 1E6 (416-925-3311, ext. 2084).

FLORIDA CONDO FOR RENT

SARASOTA — Large two bedroom condo on golf course, plus pools and tennis. Minutes to horse riding and the Gulf. Available June, July, August. $200 per week — $500 per month. Phone 266-7448.

Second year Commerce student Marco Luzuriaga contributed this high contrast photograph to Scarborough Fair X.

Scarborough Fair time is here

The tenth anniversary edition of Scarborough Fair, Scarborough Campus' own Anthology of the Arts, will be launched with appropriate fanfare on April 5, according to co-editors Alexandra Mahabir and Margaret Henderson.

All those who contributed have been invited to a reception in the Faculty Lounge that evening and may give readings from the book if they wish. Copies will be available the rest of the week at strategic locations on the campus, such as the Bladen Library and the Meeting Place. There is no charge.

The book should be easy to spot.

Auxiliary to hold May tea, fashion show

The Women's Auxiliary of the University Settlement is holding its annual spring tea and fashion show on Wednesday afternoon, May 4 at the university president's residence, 93 Highland Ave., Rosedale.

Tea will be served from 1 to 4:15 p.m., while fashions will be presented at 1:30 and 3 p.m. No tickets are necessary but donations, in aid of the children's summer programmes at the settlement, may be made at the door. For further information telephone Mrs. Grace Alexander at 293-9276.

This year's cover features a glossy full colour photograph of — what else! — a fair, complete with clowns and roller coaster, taken by student Irene Paiz. The 80 inside pages include eight other photographs and drawings, as well as short stories and poems chosen from more than 300 submissions.

Co-editors Henderson and Mahabir are both fourth year students in English. Each is hoping for a career in book publishing or work of an editorial nature following graduation this spring. They will now have an impressive book to add to their portfolios.

Deadline approaching for essay submissions

The May second deadline for submission of essays to be considered for the Anita Fitz Gerald Prize is less than five weeks away.

Essays written on any aspect of Women's Studies are eligible for consideration. They should be approximately 10 pages in length, typewritten and double spaced.

The prize will be awarded for the best essay submitted as course work within the field of Women's Studies. Faculty members wishing more information should contact Professor Suniti Namjoshi, Room H-505, telephone 3178.

Spectrum

Volume 11 No. 14/April 27, 1983

Roeder resigns as Division Chairman, U of T Professor

Robert Roeder, Chairman of the Division of Physical Sciences and Professor of Astronomy in the University, has resigned from both these positions as of June 30. In his letter of resignation to Principal Joan Foley, he expressed his concern about the impact of the U of T's retrenchment decisions and the general attitude of the University's administration toward the suburban colleges.

Professor Roeder was one of the original faculty members at Scarborough, having been appointed to the College in 1964, even before the campus opened for students in 1965. He and his wife Dagmar, a part-time fitness instructor in the rec centre, live in Scarborough with their two sons and have been active members of the community. They will be moving to Texas where he has accepted an appointment at Southwestern University, Georgetown, as Robert Sherman Lazenby Professor and Chairman of the Department of Physics.

Call for artists

The Scarborough Campus Gallery is looking for proposals for exhibitions for the 1983/84 season. Artists should send slides, resume and a letter outlining their proposed exhibit to T.R. Nicholson, The Gallery, University of Toronto, Scarborough Campus.

Last day for entry is June 15, 1983.

Teaching Award winner chosen

"To hear her lecturing is to be face to face with a model of a teacher at work at her art."

This comment about Classics Professor Ann Boddington was but one of a host of recommendations put forward by colleagues, students and staff members in support of her as their choice for 1983 winner of the Scarborough College Teaching Award. Others mentioned her high standards, both for herself and her students, her constant concern for the best interests of her students, her scrupulous intellectual honesty and capacity for patience and understanding.

The Teaching Award, which places special emphasis on classroom instruction, consultation and supervision, will be presented to Professor Boddington at Scarborough College's Spring Convocation June 8.

Professor Boddington was one of the original faculty members at Scarborough College, and she maintains an unswerving loyalty to the College. The standard of teaching here is high, she stresses, and she feels she's reasonably competent but not outstanding. But then, as she had earlier remarked, she was "raised to be reticent about talking about oneself".

Her background includes four years at the University of Oxford (U.K.) on a full scholarship, a brief stint as a teacher at a school in England, several years as a lecturer in classics first at the University of London and later at the University of Sheffield, before coming to Canada in 1965.

She is totally committed to her teaching, devoting most of her time to improving her courses, and has personally developed practically every course she has taught at the College. "Her method of evaluating student papers is legendary," write her colleagues. "Each essay comes back with so many comments, questions and suggestions for further reading, suggestions for improvement, for ways of seeing something in other and new ways, that many (students) have said that she spent more time and energy

continued on page 6

Dr. Joan Grusec named to head Division

Joan Grusec, Professor of Psychology at the University, has been named Chairman of the Division of Life Sciences, succeeding Professor G.R. Williams whose term ends in June.

Dr. Grusec is currently out of the country but will be back to begin her five-year term at Scarborough on July 1, 1983. An interview with her will be published in Spectrum in early fall.

Psych students prepare for thesis convention

Fourth year psychology students at Scarborough College will be well represented at a psychology thesis conference for senior undergraduates from Ontario universities being held Friday April 29 at McMaster University.

All of the submissions from Scarborough students taking the undergraduate thesis course in psychology were accepted and six from Scarborough will be able to travel to McMaster to personally present their papers. A pre-conference rehearsal was held at the Scarborough campus last Tuesday for students from the St. George Campus as well as from Scarborough, followed by a reception by the Scarborough Psychology Club for those students taking part. Most of the Scarborough students plan to go on to graduate work in psychology.

Spectrum

Published every two weeks by the Scarborough College Community Relations Office, Room S-407A, 1265 Military Trail, Scarborough, Ont. M1C 1A4.

Editor: Doreen Marks
Production Assistant:
Lynn McGregor

Material for publication must reach Spectrum office seven days before publication date.

Telephone 284-3243 for permission to reprint material.

Universities Week plans under way

The University of Toronto on all three campuses, along with all universities in Canada, will celebrate National Universities Week October 2-8, 1983. Kick-off for the U of T celebration will be the installation of President Forster on September 29.

Currently under discussion is a plan for Scarborough College to use the Scarborough Civic Centre from September 30 - October 7 as the focal point of its activities. Other faculties of the University will be invited to join in a promotion of the College and the University. Students in the Faculty of Music, for example, might give a concert.

Accountants establish scholarship

The Society of Management Accountants of Ontario plans to donate funds to Scarborough College annually to establish a Management Accounting Student of Merit Scholarship.

The award would be made by the College Council on the recommendation of the supervisor of the commerce programme. It would go to the student who has completed the third year of study in the specialist programme in commerce or commerce and economics, and who has the highest average grade in the following courses: Management Accounting (COMB01Y), Finance (JCEC02Y), and Analysis for Decision Making I and II (JCEB72F/B73S).

In the event that two eligible students should have the same average grade, the scholarship would be awarded to the student with the highest cumulative grade point average. Receipt of the scholarship is conditional on the student's registration in the fourth year of the specialist programme.

Value of the scholarship is $300. In addition, fees for one Society course will be waived if the winner subsequently enrolls as a student in the Society of Management Accountants of Ontario within three years.

Taking this opportunity to promote the Scarborough campus was enthusiastically endorsed at a recent meeting of the Scarborough College Associates. The idea of using the week to recruit "Friends of U.T/S.C." has also been discussed.

Many of the display materials created for Open House '82 can be recycled for National Universities Week. Faculty and staff are invited to forward suggestions to Charlotte Caton, Room S-405A.

Faculty members reach wide audience

Thanks to a group of dedicated faculty members, audiences as widely divergent as library supporters in Oshawa, new mothers in Mississauga, single adults in central Toronto, and a broad range of high school students, are now a little more knowledgeable about Scarborough College.

The faculty members, 28 in all, agreed to take part in the College's Speakers Bureau program for a two-year term. The program has more than proven its worth. 38 requests for speakers have directly resulted from the bureau's listing, with 28 being filled. A number of other requests have resulted indirectly from the bureau brochure, which was widely circulated in the fall of 1981. 13 professors have given talks; one, Professor Maureen Baker, to as many as four different groups. Several other faculty members have been asked to speak twice.

High schools have been the most frequent users of the bureau, with 22 requests, nine from Markham High School alone. Bookings have also come from cable TV, university women's club, and other groups.

The speakers bureau is now being revised, with special emphasis being placed on providing topics related to the high school curriculum. Faculty members who would like to be included in the next brochure are asked to contact Doreen Marks, Room S-407A, telephone 3232.

High school students get taste of Classics

No one quite remembers when the first Classics Day took place. It is lost in the murk of the late sixties. Since then each year at this time high school students from Scarborough, Durham, Oshawa and Toronto have trooped in to the College to hear about things like Claudius and his family and the poetry of Vergil.

This year the topic was "Britain and the Romans." The day started with a welcome from Principal Foley in which she warned the students not to believe everything the classicists said. This was followed by a multimedia spectacular entitled "Us and Them", an attempt to show the attitude of Roman to Briton and Briton to Roman.

Then students were offered a choice of the following presentations: Soldier and Civilian in Roman Britain (Boddington), The End of Roman Britain (Corbett) Religion on the Frontier (Irwin), The Baths of Aquae Sulis (McDonald) and Macc Da Thos' Pig (Warden).

The day came to a noisy conclusion as the Prasinae (David and Mary Thomson Collegiate) battled their way to victory in the annual ad astra quiz contest. Congratulations to them and thanks to all.

John Warden

Imasco scholarships offered to disabled

To encourage disabled students to attend university, Imasco Ltd. is offering scholarships valued at $1500 annually for undergraduate study. Candidates must be disabled Canadian citizens who meet university admission requirements or are presently enrolled in full-time university studies and have successfully completed the last academic year.

Additional information and application forms can be obtained from the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada which administers the scholarship fund on behalf of Imasco. Contact the Awards Officer, Canadian Awards Section, AUCC, 151 Slater St., Ottawa K1P 5N1. Deadline for completed applications is June 1.

Free instruction for unemployed considered worthwhile venture

by John A. Lee, Professor of Sociology

The college's experiment in free instruction for unemployed Scarborough residents was a success in three ways:

- it gained the support of numerous members of the college who contributed their time to answering the phone, preparing and mailing out publicity, instructing the special lectures at the Scarborough public library, and opening their regular classes to auditing students;

- it attracted a total of 77 inquiries and the actual participation of more than 40 unemployed men and women;
- it cost less than $70, and college members contributed enough money to leave a surplus, should we decide to follow up with a more extensive program in the autumn.

Thirty-two of the unemployed participants (17 males, 15 females) agreed to complete a brief questionnaire.

Here is a summary of the data: 28 are native English speakers. Occupation before unemployed: profession or executive, 12; clerical, 8; trades, 9; new to labour force, 3. Highest level of education reached: Grade 8, 1; grade 10, 3; grade 11, 3; grade 12, 11; grade 13, 2; Community college, 1 to 3 years, 4; one year of university, 2, several years, 5.

Length of time unemployed: this ranged from less than one month, to more than one year, with the majority unemployed more than six months. For half it was the first experience of unemployment, but among the older half, most had been out of work in previous recessions (1957, 1972, 1977). Eight of the 32 heard about our program from posters (distributed by the volunteers) at the local manpower offices; 7 read about it in the press; 6 heard about it on TV or radio, 3 at the library, and the rest by word of mouth.

The most mentioned reasons for participating were "something to keep my mind alive" and "new information and viewpoints." Some also wanted an idea of what university classes were like, and "a break in the monotony" of being out of work.

Age of participants ranged from 20 to 60, with the majority over 40. Income prior to becoming unemployed ranged from under $15,000 (13) to above $30,000 (3). There were two series of special lectures, in sociology and in philosophy. Attendance at each class ranged from over 20 persons at the start of the series to about 12 persons at the last lecture (March 25). Eighteen of the 32 respondents also reported auditing lectures at the college, and an additional number of inquirers (from the total of 77) asked only for auditing information. Of course their actual participation in college life was unrecorded.

One of the small human touches at the library lecture series, and a somewhat novel experience for the six professors involved, were warm and frequent "thank yous" from class members at the end of each lecture.

Education develops that natural resource.

People using library in record numbers

The number of people entering the library during its first year in the new building doubled over the corresponding period of the last year in the old building. From the day the new library opened, March 15, 1982, to March 14, 1983, 547,585 passed the entry gates.

A summary of library usage also shows a 75% increase in reference queries in the same time period, as well as a 16% increase in total circulation and 20% increase in interlibrary loans. Need we add that overdues are also up? These have increased by 8% over the preceding one-year period.

Workshop helps develop skills

University teachers don't like to be told that effective teaching involves acting skills.

With this bit of caution to her audience of 12 Scarborough College teachers, Mary Dow, who teaches acting at Fanshaw College, began the Teaching/Learning workshop on "voice and delivery skills in teaching" on April 7.

Mary Dow herself is as good an example as one may find in the use of voice, gesture and body movement. By providing us with her own example and by getting us to concentrate on our own delivery skills, she succeeded in transforming all of us from hams into steak supreme — for a few hours at least.

We got to watch ourselves on videotape (therapeutically embarrassing), manipulate the variously interpretable lines of a Dorothy Parker skit, and act out a comic strip with a partner. In each of these exercises we learned to be aware of voice and gesture and movement.

Plato, who thought that actors were normally ignorant of the meaning of what they were saying on stage, is probably responsible for our unease about considering teaching as an acting skill. It certainly does take concentration to be aware of such things as skillful use of voice and body, but for those of us who are not born lecturers, sessions

Pratt poetry competition winner is Scarborough part-time student

An Oshawa mother of two and part-time student at Scarborough College is the 1983 winner of the University of Toronto's E.J. Pratt poetry competition.

Marilyn 'Lyn' King beat out a previous winner and two published poets to win the gold medal and $100 prize. The competition, which is open to both undergraduate and graduate students at the U of T, has been won in the past by such well-known Canadian literary figures as Margaret Atwood and Jay McPherson.

Lyn's winning sequence of poems, entitled "The Terrible Open-endedness" was highly rated by all three of the judges for this year's competition. Last year the top prize was not awarded, although three Scarborough College students received honourable mentions.

A part-time student on the Scarborough Campus since 1980, Lyn took one of the pre-university courses offered by Woodsworth College on the Scarborough Campus to gain admission to the university. She has just had some of her poetry accepted for publication by Descant literary magazine.

When it was before

by Lyn King

One of the poems submitted in the E.J. Pratt poetry competition.

When it was before
now was something
I had no time for it was elbow-room storage space
Like an attic
for cases hat-boxes

Entry deadline nears for Diefenbaker prize

May 13 is the closing day for essays to be submitted in this year's Diefenbaker Essay competition. The Diefenbaker Essay Prize, worth $100, is awarded by the Canadian Studies Committee for the best essay or research paper submitted on any topic within the general field of Canadian studies. Normally, the essays would be part of the term work of a course having Canada as its primary, principal or exclusive focus.

Essays may be nominated either by the instructor in the course for which the student has originally presented the essay, or by the student him/herself. Essays should be delivered to the office of the Associate Dean, Room S-406.

When it was before
there was space to walk around up there still room for light to bounce
the way it does from shadow to shadow distracting
the eye

When it was before
now was anything
I wanted it to be everything except what it has become

This clutter
these odds and ends of procrastination
these cases to sort drawers hat-boxes
these poems to write.

Postgraduates merit recognition

There is a group of students at Scarborough College, hard to spot in the crowds of undergraduates which fill the halls when classes change or the cafeterias at lunchtime, but quite different nevertheless and most worthy of attention.

These are our graduate students.

In the Division of Life Sciences alone, 40 graduates are engaged in full-time research activities at the College: 30 in biology and 10 in psychology. Approximately two-thirds are working on their M.Sc. degrees, while the rest are at the Ph.D. level. Their studies range from basic medical research, such as the study of the biochemistry of the brain, to morphological studies using the electron microscope, to field work in ecology, such as determining population changes in small mammals, or in limnology, where freshwater plant and animal life is investigated.

Most of these students are here on fellowships or scholarships. Often they work as lab demonstrators during the university teaching term.

There are graduate students in other Divisions of the College as well. Two are doing full-time research in geology, three are working in anthropology, two are in astronomy.

The efforts of all of these graduate students contribute substantially to the positive research reputation of the College within the University of Toronto.

Faculty activities

Professor Allan Griffin, Physics, presented a paper and chaired one of the sessions of the Symposium on Quantum Fluids and Solids which was held on Sanibel Island, Florida, in mid-April.

Professor Timothy J. McGee, Music, is the author (with Sheila Eastman) of a book on Canadian composer Barbara Pentland. Just published by the University of Toronto Press, the volume is one in a series on Canadian composers and is the only book ever written about a living female composer.

Joan Sajnovic (right), this year's winner of the annual juried student art show at the College, describes some of the techniques she used, including mirrors, in her prize-winning painting to art committee Chairman Terry Nicholson. Sajnovic, a part-time student with three teenagers at home, began her university studies in 1969 but had to drop out until 1980. The Scarborough resident hopes to get a degree in fine art.

Japanese universities seek visiting professor

The University of Tsukuba in Japan has announced plans to invite a Canadian professor to teach Canadian studies in various Japanese universities in the Tokyo area for one or two years beginning April 1, 1984.

Candidates for the appointment should be Canadian citizens occupying a senior position in a Canadian university with a generalist background in Canadian studies.

The primary responsibility of the person chosen will be teaching, not research. Duties will include lecturing in English at least 10 hours a week.

Further information and curriculum vitae forms may be obtained from the International Relations Division, Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ont. K1P 5N1. Deadline for nominations is September 30, 1983.

Campus Daffodil Day Raises $450 for fund

The Health Services wish to thank all those who supported the 1983 Cancer Drive by purchasing daffodils. This year's sales amounted to $540.

Jean Benson

College Calendar

CONTINUING TO MAY 5, The Gallery. Annual Juried Student Show.

MON. MAY 2, 1 p.m., Council Chamber. Cultural Affairs Committee meeting.

WED. MAY 11, 3 p.m., Council Chamber. College Council meeting.

Note: Included on the agenda for this meeting will be the 1983-84 budget and a discussion of the planning strategy for the College.

WED. JUNE 8, 10.30 a.m., Convocation Hall. Scarborough College Convocation.

WED. JUNE 8, 3.30 — 5.30 p.m., Meeting Place. Reception for the Scarborough College 1983 graduands.

JULY 4 — AUG. 12, The Gallery. Karena Massengill (installation)

SAT. & SUN. AUG. 27 & 28. Scarborough College Residence Reunion.

New ESL courses start at Scarborough

Four courses in English as a Second Language are being offered by the School of Continuing Studies on the Scarborough Campus beginning in May. These are Advanced Oral Practice, Advanced Writing, and Advanced Language Training, to be held in the evenings, and Communicative Performance to be given on Saturdays.

The School will also be expanding the number of courses it offers at Scarborough in the fall to include liberal studies as well as courses in administration. A description of these courses will be included in the School of Continuing Studies calendar available on both campuses by mid-July. For more information telephone the School at 978-2400, or contact the Scarborough student services office, Room S-302, telephone 3292.

College develops new image

For all its diversity, the University of Toronto is moving slowly towards developing a corporate image. In part this is being accomplished through the use of colour, blue, and certain types of graphic design.

Scarborough College has decided to emphasize its place in the U of T by adopting a letterhead format similar to that most widely used in the University. Departments of the College have been asked to advise the Graphics and Photography Department of their needs.

The new letterhead will involve two colour printing which will be done on a regular schedule but not necessarily on demand. The use of the letterhead with the embossed College logo will be phased out as supplies are used up.

A feature of the new letterhead is the use of Scarborough Campus rather than Scarborough College. This decision is in response to considerable correspondence from alumni, students and staff concerning the difficulties encountered in the use of the word "College" with the external community.

Persons wishing to order business cards in the new format should also forward specifications to Graphics. Spring deadline is May 6 for receipt of requisitions, with printing planned for about May 30. A fall date will be announced in September.

Art students' works at Cedar Ridge exhibit

Selected works by fine arts students of Scarborough College will be on view from May 9 to 19 at Cedar Ridge Gallery, 225 Confederation Drive, Scarborough.

The exhibit opening will be 8 p.m., May 10. Gallery hours are: Monday—Thursday, 9 a.m. — 4 p.m., 7 p.m. — 10 p.m. Friday 9 a.m. — noon. Saturday and Sunday 1 p.m. — 4 p.m.

Economics student wins Bladen prize

Third year economics student Stephen Little is this year's winner of the Bladen Prize. His timely essay, "Induced unemployment in Canada: a review and revision" was submitted as part of the course work in Economics B12, Quantitative Methods in Economics, taught by Professor Peter Simmie.

Doris McCarthy film, paintings at Library

An exhibit of paintings by Doris McCarthy, well-known Scarborough artist and part-time student at Scarborough College, is currently being shown at the Cedarbrae District Library on Markham Road. Her paintings on display of the Arctic, Newfoundland and the West are reminders of her stated goal "to paint Canada."

A new documentary film, entitled "Doris McCarthy — Heart of a Painter" will also be shown at the Library 8 p.m. Monday, May 2.

Higher education dept.

From the Minneapolis Star

Blue Bell, Pa. — Montgomery County Community College will disband its library science program next fall and replace it with a weapons training program, which the college says will be the first of its kind in the United States.

Teaching Award . . . from page 1
(and often wrote more) on their papers than they themselves did."

She has long been a proponent of the use of clear and effective English, and first presented a petition to College Council in 1972 which eventually led to the development of the English Proficiency Test.

HOUSE FOR RENT, GUILDWOOD

Three bedrooms, with study; 5 appliances; large yard. Available from 1 July 1983 to 30 June 1984; $650 furnished; unfurnished negotiable. Contact Dr. R. Boonstra, 284-3221.

LE
3
T7917
S65
v.2

Spectrum (Scarborough College)

PLEASE DO NOT REMOVE
CARDS OR SLIPS FROM THIS POCKET

---

SCARBOROUGH COLLEGE LIBRARY
WEST HILL ONTARIO

---

